Cats and Their Toilet.

Cats make the most careful toilet of any animals, excepting some of the opossums. Lions and tigers wash themselves like the cat, wetting the dark, India rubber-like ball of the fore-foot and the inner toe and passing to the face and behind the ears. The foot is thus a face sponge and brush, and the rough tongue combs the rest of the body.

Cut this out and take it to the Middleburg Drug Store and get a box of Chamberlain's Stomach & Liver Tablets. The best physic. They also correct disorders of the stomach. Price 25 cents.

Dress Reform.

Once upon a time a certain woman, who had been much pestered by a dress reformer, was shot at by a frenzied suitor, and was saved from an untimely death by her corset, which deflected the bullet.

"Aha!" she exclaimed, turning triumphantly upon the dress reformer.

"If I had quit wearing corsets, as you advised me, I should be dead now!"

"Oh, no!" replied the dress reformer, with perfect serenity. "Women who don't wear corsets don't have frenzied suitors, you know!"—Town Topics.

POPE LEO'S CHOICE.

His Holiness Favors Cardinal Sarto for the Papacy.

A Man of Great Talent and Extreme Modesty Who Finds Peace Between the Church and the Italian Government.

No prince of the church could be selected to succeed to the pontificate whose accession to the papal throne would be more potent in its significance than that of Cardinal Giuseppe Sarto, at this moment the patriarch of Venice. The venerable Leo, surely nearing the end of his wonderful reign fondly hopes that Cardinal Sarto will step into his shoes, and no prelate, not even the holy father himself, is more beloved in the Catholic faith than Sarto.

The position taken by the pope with reference to a modus vivendi between the church and the temporal throne of Italy and that assumed by Cardinal Sarto, makes the choice of Sarto, voiced by Pope Leo, seem an apparent anomaly says the New York World.

Cardinal Sarto publicly announced his joy when there were strong probabilities of a union between church and state, and his accession to the pontificate is regarded in some quarters as the solution of the Roman problem so long unshakled and so long a cause of dissension over all Italy, to say nothing of its bearing upon the attitude of other Catholic countries. Cardinal Sarto is noted for his prudence, having never meddled with politics, and for extreme independ- ence. He is also a patron of the arts, and lauded Father Lorenzo Perosi, the celebrated priest-composer.

The cardinal is recognized as one of the most learned men of the church. He is a stickler for the exact truth as between the church and the people, and won much renown some years ago by destroying cer- tain relics of doubtful authenticity. He would, it is pointed out, bring to his high office a character of most attractive modesty, unusual energy in the direction of matters large and small, the talents of a fine administrative officer and the first qualities of an organizer. In addition to his abilities and his undoubted Christian character the cardinal is, from the sweetness of his nature, beloved by many millions of people. It is cer- tain that no prelate would have a more enthusiastic sanction from the laity.

In speaking to Father Perosi re- cently, the pope said: "Hold him very dear Perosi, as in the future he will be able to do much for you. We firmly believe he will be our succes- sor."

Cardinal Sarto is 67 years old. He was born at Riese, in the province of Venice and was educated in the Salesian institute at Cottolengo, founded by the famous Dom Bosco. He was always of a serious turn of mind and when a young man his rector said to him that he had "never been a child."

Cardinal Sarto was not "discovered" until he had reached middle age. He was a parish priest in the province of Venice for the most of his years and finally became a bishop. His high executive qualities and unexcelled learning became known soon after his elevation and were recognized by the authorities of the church. It was not until 1893 that he was created a cardinal, at which time he was also named as patriarch of Venice. Thus the modest but able parish priest became the head of the province in which he had served so many years in a lowly position. His selection was made by the consistory of 1893 which was compelled to see the throne for the privilege of in- stalling him as patriarch of Venice. In return for the concession, which was made through Premier Crispi, the church appointed an ecclesiastical vicar apostolic in northeastern Africa to assist the premier in his pet scheme of extending the African colonies.

Cardinal Sarto had not been in office more than a year before he publicly declared for a union between church and state speaking in no un- certain way. His utterances created a great sensation, and it was felt that he might have offended the holy see by the fervor of his words. Ap- parently he received the silent ap- probation of the pope, in whose es- timate he has ever held a firm place.

PIG FEEDING TESTS.

Character and Causes of Soft Pork Discussed by Prof. Frank T. Shutt, of Canada.

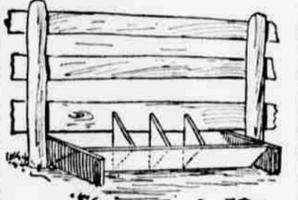

The Canadian experimental farm authorities have issued a report by Prof. Frank T. Shutt, chemist, at the farm, upon the character and causes of soft pork. Softness in pork is a serious defect, and so the question is of great importance to the Canadian bacon industry. Prof. Shutt summarizes the results of his experiments as follows:

1. That of all the grain rations employed that consisting of equal parts of oats, peas and barley gave the firmest pork. It may further be added that the fat was deposited evenly and not too thickly, and that this ration gave a very thrifty growth.
2. That no difference could be observed in the firmness of the pork from the preceding ration, whether fed soaked or dry.
3. That when half the grain ration consists of corn meal the resulting pork shows an increased percentage of olein—in other words, a tendency to softness.
4. That in this ration (half corn meal, half oats, peas and barley in equal parts) the feeding of it boiled gave a slightly higher olein content, but this is only apparent when the average from the four pens is taken into consideration.
5. That, considering the effect of feeding the ration of oats, peas and barley during the first period to a live weight of a hundred pounds and corn meal during the finishing period, compared with the reverse of this plan—that is, corn first, fol- lowed with oats, peas and barley—we may conclude that the former gives a firmer pork.
6. That in both methods mentioned in the preceding paragraph no marked difference was to be observed from the ration fed dry or previously soaked, though taking an average of the two groups on each ration the "dry" feed gave a somewhat higher olein content.
7. As when corn meal formed half the first period ration and the whole of the second period ration, the resulting pork was somewhat softer than from that of any of the rations already discussed. We conclude that the longer the period during which the corn is fed as a large proportion of the ration the softer will be the pork.
8. That beans produce a soft and inferior pork. The growth of the pig so fed was poor and miserable and the deposition of the fat meager.
9. That corn meal fed exclusively as the grain ration, either dry or previously soaked, results in an extremely soft fat, the percentage of olein being considerably higher than from any other ration tested. The pork was of an inferior quality. Here also we noted the miserable growth of the animals, the ration in no sense being an economical one.

EXCELLENT PIG TROUGH.

Besides Assuring Convenience and Cleanliness It Enables Each Pig to Get Its Share.

To stop pigs properly make a trough of oak boards one and one-half inch thick, and of any length or width desired; one board eight inches and one ten inches wide will make a trough suitable for all but very small pigs. Nail them together V shape, letting the ten-inch board go over the eight-inch to make the sides even. Nail on ends; divide the trough into nine to eleven equal spaces. From an oak board one inch thick and six or eight inches wide, saw V-shaped partitions, with one corner a right angle, and two corners half right angles. Fit the pieces and nail with six-penny finishing nails. Fig. 1 shows the pig side of the trough when set in the fence of the pig pen. The upper part of the partitions that stand above the trough are nailed to the fence board, and the ends of the trough to the posts. The trough must be level and project three or four inches on the outside, thus allowing a clear space the whole length to pour in swill. Besides the convenience and cleanliness each pig gets his proper share. This individual trough is also fine for feeding dry feed.—P. C. Laclede, in Epito- mist.

Canadians Enter a Protest.

Horse breeders of Canada are alarmed at the large exportations of broodmares from the United States into that country. The Clydesdale directors met lately and discussed the question how to prevent the great injury that will be done to the breed of Canada's horses, if this condition of affairs is permitted to continue. Horse breeders complain that the duty on horses imported into Canada from the United States is only two dollars, while an exporter of horses into the United States must pay $30 on each animal. The broncho growers of the west have taken advantage of the low tariff, and have been selling great numbers of horses in Canada, and already the result is seen in the deterioration and smallness of many of the horses on Canadian farms.
