It is said that a man who won't take a paper because he can borrow one has invented a machine with which he can sook his dinner by the smoke from his neighbor's chimney. This same fellow sits in the back pew in church to save intrest on his contributions. And is always borrowing a ride to town to save the wear and tear of his own horseflesh. Yes, we all know him. He is a first cousin to the man who never winds up his clock for fear of breaking the spring.

A state law, approved March 23, 1900, says that the owner or occupant of land abutting on any highway in the township shall during September of each year cut and remove all briers, brush and weeds, and in case of failure to do so, the township committee shall cause shall pay such expense incurred with costs, if suit be necessary before a justice of the peace.

Look at Your Mail.

The postal authorities have fixed a penalty of $200 on persons taking mail out of the post office other than their own and not returning it. The law is such work to be done and any owner to have people look at their mail before taking it out of the office, and should they have mail other than their own they must return it at once. It also includes newspapers. The excuse that it is the postmaster's fault cuts no figure. If you have been getting other people's mail take warning or you may get into very serious trouble.

The Swindler.

The country papers are full of ac counts of swindlers practicing their wiles on country folks, who persist in dealing with strangers in a manner that would cause immediate suspicion if his nearest neighbors or dealer, whom he knows all about, would suggest it. To avoid being swindlen, deal with men you know deal with firms who you know; deal with firms who advertise their business and methods in news papers, because they are not ashamed of them. The swindler who travels through the country aims to keep his business out of the public press; avoids the country newspaper the same as he I. G. Seiler, the crack fisherman and does a police. Beware of strangers: all-around sport, called on a number of patronize the man you know.

How to Escape From Lightning. Many people, and especially women, have a great dread of lightning. For that reason they will not carry bits of metal in their pockets during a storm, and John C. there are still others who will not set

There is a constant tendency on the part of electricity in the sky to reach the ground, he said. To do this it must have a conductor. Atmospheric electricity always follows the out-side of the conductor or agency that leads it to the ground. That,s why the middle of the room is the safest during an electrical storm.

More people are struck by lightning for $25,000. in the country than in the cities. The reason for this is because the builders have unwittingly safeguarded the cities. Buildings have tin and copper eaves and troughs. Many of the roofs are of metal. Wires everywhere. All these things are conductors.

Lightning must concentrate itself. It must find the weakest spot. But the city is so generally covered with conductors that there is practically no weakest spot. In the country it is different. One tree is higher than the rest. Perhaps there is a stream of water beneath it. That tree is the weakest spot in the wood and the lightning destroys it. A farmhouse stands in the vacant lot. There are no other houses near. That house is the weakest spot, and there the lightning

Brick from Sand and Cement.

A new process for making bricks out of sand and cement has been put in operation in Missouri. No ovens or burning processes are necessary, the hardning of the bricks beginning as soon as it is taken from the mould, and in fifteen days it is ready for delivery. During the process of moulding, a single brick undegoes a pressure of 65, 000 pounds. In thirty days from the time the hardening process begins the brick will stand a pressure of ten tons; in sixty days, a pressure of sixty-five tons. The ordinary pressure required An experienced tourist for building purposes is about eight tons. In addition any desired color may be introduced into the sand and ement mixture. When taken from the mould the soft mixture must be handled with extreme care. The brick are then placed upon large racks built Passenger Agent, Broad street Station, for that purpose, where they are spray- Philadeiphia. ed with water from an automatic sprinkler every four hours.
