Serious Business.

If anybody in the coal region gets hurt by the troops it will be his own fault, and there will be no call for indignation afterward because he is an innocent citizen who meant no harm. The situation at the mines is serious, and everybody understands it. Nobody, man or woman, boy or girl, striker or worker, has any excuse for thinking the soldiers are out for a picnic. They are out to preserve order, and if there are manifestations of disorder they are likely to fire, and not fire blank cartridges. Therefore all persons who do not care to be hit, and have no intention themselves to break the law, should have the good sense to avoid the neighborhood of any threatened outbreak. Otherwise, if while merely trying to see what is going on, they and not the active rioters get in the line of bullets, they will have only themselves to blame. It is proverbial that the innocent on-looker generally falls in a riot, but the innocent on-looker is at perfect liberty to keep out of the way of danger; and so are the angry women who often in time of labor troubles presume on their sex in expecting immunity while indulging in unlawful demonstrations. The attacks already made on the soldiers guarding the mines, especially the night attempts to steal upon the sentries, have produced an uncomfortable tension. The troops will be perfectly justified in protecting themselves against threatened attacks. They have given warnings enough, they have drawn their lines with definiteness, and those who encroach must know that they do so at their peril.

Orders to use ball cartridges and shoot to kill seem harsh, but it is probable that they are the greatest kindness to the whole people, after all. Disorder feeds on itself, and serious riots almost always take their beginning from lawlessness tolerated so long in its pettier stages that people come to think there is no line which they may not cross with impunity. If the first outbreak invariably drew upon itself sharp punishment it would be necessary to call out troops far less frequently. Soldiers who let themselves be played with simply provoke a condition which in the end is likely to call for more severe measures than would have been necessary to put down the first manifestation of disorder. It is evident that a few miscreants are anxious to make trouble at the collieries. They are the men who try to steal on the camps at night, whether to assassinate soldiers or to disable horses. The strike leaders declare that these skulkers have no fellowship with them. They discountenance all lawlessness, and wish as much as anybody to see rioters punished. They therefore should support the troops in the most strict discharge of their duty, so that the disorder of the few may not by toleration be allowed to spread and include any large number of strikers, whose lawlessness would be a severe blow to the union, according to Mr. Mitchel, and its suppression perhaps the cause of suffering to many. "A stitch in time saves nine." The suppression of a small riot at the beginning often saves the suppression of a large riot in the end.

Hotels of Huge Cost.

The yearly rental of a hotel soon to be built in Manhattan will exceed $300,000 for each of a long series of years—nearly $1,000 a day. There are others like unto it. What would the most ambitious and imaginative innkeeper in Dr. Samuel Johnson's time, in the eighteenth century, have thought of such figures? And what would Boswell have said about them?

How cheap and mean and poor were the best of the taverns of old in comparison with the humblest of those of to-day! Mine host is often a millionaire himself in this generation, and welcomes no guest who is not rich.

Various rumors have begun to circulate in democratic and quasi independent newspapers concerning the intention of republican leaders toward each other. No republican should permit himself to be deceived. Sensible republicans get their information concerning present prospective political movements within the party from their own newspapers, not from the organs of the enemy.

There is more Catarrh in this section the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

From Hot to Cold.

Dysentery is prevalent everywhere in summer and is due to miasmatic poisons, and begins abruptly with inflammation of the mucous lining of the large bowel. In America disease is common, but properly treated does not result as seriously as in the tropics. Perry Davis' Painkiller is the best known remedy and the most efficacious in the treatment of dysentery.

The Use of the Telephone.

Have you ever thought of the many uses to which the 'phone can be utilized? It will sell hogs, cattle, stock, or other products. Knowledge of latest quotations may save the price of the telephone in one transaction. It will hire help, it will bring the latest news from the neighborhood, from the nearest town, the state, the country and the world. If a machine breaks down it will order repairs, if berries are ripe it will tell them before they are picked; it will make neighborhood concerts possible every evening; it will enable ladies to visit each other without the troublesome necessity of dressing and driving long distances over bad roads with a team needed in the field; it encourages and makes easy an interchange of thought that is not possible even in the largest city without its aid. The telephone has come into the lives of our people to stay and must be considered as a necessity for all and not as a luxury for the very rich alone.

A YOUNG LADY'S LIFE SAVED.

At Panama, Colombia, by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Dr. Chas. H. Utter, a prominent physician, of Panama, Colombia, in a recent letter states: "Last March I had as a patient a young lady sixteen years of age, who had a very bad attack of dysentery. Everything I prescribed for her proved ineffectual and she was growing worse every hour. Her parents were sure she would die. She had become so weak that she could not turn over in bed. What to do at this critical moment was a study for me, but I thought of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and as a last resort prescribed it. The most wonderful result was effected. Within eight hours she was feeling much better; inside of three days she was upon her feet and at the end of one week was entirely well." For sale by Middleburg Drug Store.

Look Pleasant, Please.

Photographer C. C. Harlan, of Eaton, O., can do so now, though for year she couldn't, because he suffered untold agony from the worst form of indigestion. All physicians and medicines failed to help him till he tried Electric Bitters, which worked such wonders for him that he declares they are a godsend to sufferers from dyspepsia and stomach troubles. Unrivalled for diseases of the stomach, liver and kidneys, they build up and give new life to the whole system. Try them.
