

Physicians are calling attention to the fact that influenza or grip has come to stay. In the larger cities there has been marked increase in diseases affecting the organs of respiration, which increase is attributed to the prevalence of influenza. Persons who are recovering from grip or influenza are in a weak condition and peculiarly liable to pulmonary disease.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures coughs, bronchitis, lung "trouble" and other diseases of the organs of respiration. It is the best tonic medicine for those whose strength and vitality have been exhausted by an attack of grip. It purifies the blood, cleanses it of the poisonous accumulations which breed and feed disease. It gives increased activity to the blood-making glands, and it increases the supply of pure blood, rich with the red corpuscles of health.

"A word for your Golden Medical Discovery," writes Mrs. E. A. Bender, of Keene, New Hampshire. "We have been using it as a family medicine for more than four years. As a cough remedy and blood-purifier there is nothing better, and it never gives the grip. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is just the right medicine for a complete bracing up."

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is nothing "just as good" for diseases of the stomach, blood, and lungs. The sluggish liver is made active by the use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

SOFT WORDS OF BEGGARS.

By Which They Seek to Turn Away the Wrath of Those Who Rescue Them Alms.

In the severity of a Chicago winter the able-bodied Chicago beggar has a certain temerity that deserts him as the mercury column rises to the dignity of a July day, says the Tribune. With the mercury ten degrees below zero it is not an uncommon thing for a street beggar to curse an unwilling citizen to such an extent that a policeman takes him to the station in a patrol wagon. In these warm days, however, the able-bodied man who wants a "little assistance" has taken a new tack.
A prosperous-looking citizen stood in La Salle street the other day at noon when a husky fellow lounged up to him and asked in the well-known whine:
"Mister, could you give me a little assistance, I—"
"No, sir," was the emphatic response, "I wouldn't give my great-grandmother a bite of bread if she was twice as thirsty as you are at this minute."
"Thank you, sir; thank you, sir. I'm much obliged to you," was the humble reply to the tirade. "I—"
"O, don't mention it," returned the citizen; "you can't pawn it. I've got it covered by copyright."
But as the fellow slouched away it was evident that most of it all was lost on him.

DEADLY VOLCANO GAS.

Said to Have Caused the Speedy Solution of Everyone of Soufriere's Victims.

Gen. Forwood who received a report from Lieut. Jere B. Clayton, assistant surgeon, concerning the distribution of medical supplies to the people of the West Indies suffering from the effects of the recent volcanic eruptions, says that, as near as could be ascertained, the cause of death was the explosion of an inflammable gas, which was emitted by the mountain, reported as a Washington exchange. The most plausible explanation of the conditions found, he says, was given by Lieut. John J. Reilly, a member of the expedition, who suggested that the gas as sent forth by the mountain was not inflammable until mixed with a certain quantity of oxygen, and that mixture was reached at the time the gas arrived at St. Pierre. It was firmly asserted by all the survivors that everyone in St. Pierre was dead three minutes after the explosion took place.
The medical men say that the cause of death at St. Vincent seems to have been sulphur dioxide, or a similar gas, emitted by Soufriere. A few persons were injured or killed by falling rocks. Burns were found on the posterior surface of the exposed parts of the body, indicating that everyone was running away from the mountain.

THE BREEZE CURE.

Beneficial Effect of Riding at Full Speed in a Vehicle of High Motor Power.
The medical journals declare that to ride in an automobile at full speed is an excellent tonic. It "sends rushes of pure air through the nostrils into the lungs, while the beating of the same pure air against the face has the effect of hardening the muscles and of quickening the circulation." This is what any brisk movement in the open air will do, especially if the wind is blowing, says the Hartford Times. Could not the effect be produced by a reservoir of compressed air connected with a six-inch pipe?
The passenger could sit in a chair on the porch and let the breeze be turned on him at the same velocity that he would be carried against the air in an automobile. He could wear his leather coat and goggles and have all the benefits of a rapid ride without the danger of running over pedestrians. A steering wheel could be furnished to complete the resemblance. From time to time water could be allowed to trickle into the pipe and a driving rain be produced. Or salt water could be used and the effect of sailing in a stiff breeze be given. The plan is worth considering. It is not patented.

Poor Jews in Palestine.

One of the highest Jewish authorities in Palestine tells me, says William E. Curtis in the Chicago Record-Herald, that at least 35 per cent. of his religionists in this country to-day are subsisting directly or indirectly on charity, and at least 20 per cent. are absolutely dependent upon foreign benevolence. About one-half of them have sought here an asylum from persecution. They have fled from Poland, Russia and Roumania. The remainder are aged or infirm persons who seek a grave in the sacred soil. They come here to die. The Mount of Olives is covered with cemeteries, and the slopes of the hill upon which Jerusalem is built are occupied by neglected graves. Quite a number of Jewish scholars come here to study. Others are attracted by sentiment and some come because they know they will be supported by charity.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Lesson in the International Series for August 24, 1902—Report of the Spies.

THE LESSON TEXT.

(Numbers 13:26-14:4)

26. And they went and came to Moses, and to Aaron, and to all the congregation of the children of Israel, unto the wilderness of Paran, to Kadesh; and brought back word unto them, and unto all the congregation, and showed them the fruit of the land.
27. And they told him, and said: We came unto the land whither thou sentest us, and surely it floweth with milk and honey; and this is the fruit of it.
28. Nevertheless the people be strong that dwell in the land, and the cities are walled, and very great; and moreover we saw the children of Anak there.
29. The Amalekites dwell in the land of the south; and the Hittites, and the Jebusites, and the Amorites, dwell in the mountains; and the Canaanites dwell by the sea, and by the coast of Jordan.
30. And Caleb stilled the people before Moses, and said: Let us go up at once, and possess it; for we are well able to overcome it.
31. But the men that went up with him said: We be not able to go up against the people; for they are stronger than we.
32. And they brought up an evil report of the land which they had searched out: The children of Israel, saying: The land, through which we have gone to search it, is a land that eateth up the inhabitants thereof; and all the people that we saw in it are men of a great stature.
33. And there we saw the giants, the sons of Anak, which come of the giants; and we were in our own sight as grasshoppers, and so we were in their sight.
34. And all the congregation lifted up their voice, and cried; and the people wept that night.
35. And all the children of Israel murmured against Moses and against Aaron; and the whole congregation said unto them: Would God that we had died in the land of Egypt! or would God we had died in this wilderness!
36. And wherefore hath the Lord brought us into this land, to fall by the sword, that our wives and our children should be a prey? were it not better for us to return into Egypt?
37. And they said one to another: Let us make a captain, and let us return into Egypt.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

The Murmuring.—The particular trouble now was the lack of variety in food. The manna did not satisfy the people. The plague (11:33) was probably a natural consequence of overeating unaccustomed food. God is generally able to let the law of cause and effect administer the punishment his children need.
The Spies Sent Out.—In Deut. 1:22, the sending of the spies is said to be in answer to a petition of the people. The men chosen, according to Jehovah's direction, were the best and most representative that could be selected. Each tribe had one of its leaders among the spies. The commission given the men was clear. The observations they were to make included the "lay of the land," the offensive and defensive abilities of the people, and the desirability of the country for a home. Verse 21 shows that they did their work very thoroughly, for they journeyed to the northernmost limit of the land instead of stopping at Hebron or Bethel. The Anak tribes appear to have been redoubtable warriors of great stature, but they really made very little trouble when Israel actually entered the land.

The Spies' Report.

There have been many tragedies in the national life of the Hebrews. The failure at Kadesh-barnea is one of the first and one of the greatest. Through all these long and weary months since leaving Egypt the Israelites had but one thought—rest and home in the promised land. Now they had come to the threshold. Their hope was high. At last the land of their national dream, and of Jehovah's promise, was almost in sight. They delayed only for the report of the spies. The men returned, and hope turned to despair, simply because there were obstacles to be overcome. The spies reported that (1) the land "flowed with milk and honey," but (2) there were giants there. The ten spies proved that they were still cowardly slaves at heart by emphasizing only the latter.

In studying the lesson, note (1) the different ways of meeting obstacles;

(2) that God helps those who help themselves. Israel wanted the promised land but was not willing to win it. (3) The ten spies had no faith in God, and they were "as grasshoppers" in their own sight. The people who have faith in God and faith in themselves are the ones who overcome "giants." (4) From Kadesh-barnea there were just two ways open—forward into the promised land and backward into the wilderness. Every life has its Kadesh-barnea. A great cause may come to Kadesh, fall, turn back into the wilderness for 40 years, and come again; but a soul seldom sees Kadesh-barnea but once. The Hebrews who failed died before the second chance came.

The Rebellion.—Read 14:39-45. It is the old, old story of helplessly trying to get back a lost opportunity.

RIPANS

For twenty years I had been a sufferer from bronchial troubles accompanied with a hacking cough. I at times suffered from extreme nervous prostration. About four years ago I began taking Ripans Tabules, and since then I have used them pretty constantly. I rarely retire at night without taking my Tabule, and I find they keep my digestive organs (which naturally are weak) in good order, and they also allay my tendency to nervousness and make me sleep.

The five-cent packet is enough for an ordinary occasion. The family bottle, Sixty cents, contains a supply for a year.
