Thursday evening, of last week, after the 8:42 train had left Bellefonte avenue station, says the Lock Haven Democrat, the conductor's attention was attracted to a woman who was crying loudly. The kind-hearted conductor had the train run back. The baby was taken on board and the woman was happy.

He is a father of seventeen children, eight being born to the one and nine to the other woman. The question is raised as to whether a legal marriage form was observed in either case.

Two Popular Bands.
Snyder County Tribune.
The Middleburg Cornet band which came to this place on Saturday evening to play for the Dauntless Hook & Ladder Company's Festival, Saturday evening last, gave our citizens a rare musical treat and one which they very greatly enjoyed. Snyder county, within the recollection of the writer, has had a large number of band organizations, and not a few of them were distinguished for the excellency of the music rendered by them. Of the number, two of the bands acquired a state wide reputation; we refer to Fechner's Silver Cornet Band of Selin's Grove, organized in the latter part of the 50's, and which was in its highest state of musical perfection during the 60's. This band enjoyed the distinction of being a military organization and of serving in the war of the Rebellion. The members of the band enlisted as musicians in the various companies of the 208th Regiment Pennsylvania Vols, and by this means were enabled to retain their unity of organization. They were principally retained at the headquarters of McDermont's Brigade. After the war when General McCalmont was a candidate for the nomination for Governor, he hired the band to play at his headquarters at Reading. This at the time was considered the highest compliment ever paid the band. The other organization of almost equal celebrity, was Stettler's Silver Cornet Band of Middleburg, organized early in the 70's, and at height of its proficiency two decades ago. Of the first organization, Prof. Jos. H. Fechner, its leader, and one of the best band-masters of his day in the State, Peter S. Albert, Harris A. Rohrbach and John J. Houseworth are about all who remain here, at least of the band as it was organized in the army, the others having either died or removed. Of the other organization, John F. Stettler, its leader, and a number of the other old members remain, with these as a nucleus, with other skilled and practiced musicians the Middleburg Cornet band has been re-organized and from the rapid strides it is making in proficiency it will soon rank with the leading bands in the state. Persevere gentlemen, let your motto be "Excelsior."

Letter to L. E. Wetzel.
MIDDLEBURGH, PENNA.
Dear Sir: Paint is one of the things that Railroad Companies know all about. Do you know what "all about" means? It means, in paint, where to get it.
We sell the paint for two-thirds of the cars and stations and bridges and everything else, that railroad men want to keep good-looking and sound, all over the country.
A man who wants a gallon or two of paint knows nothing about it; buys whatever is handy, or gets some painter to "make" it.
A Railroad Company asks its chemist: "Which is the best?"
The cheapest thing, to preserve or beautify anything with, is paint. So the whole world is painted; except, of course, the part of it owned by poor slow folks.
And the paint they use is people's intelligence-meter: or ignorance-meter: tells how much or how little they know.
Lead and oil has had its day. Devote lead and zinc is the paint, because it wears twice as long.
Yours truly,
F. W. DEVOE & Co.

Systematic Effort vs Good Luck.
From Mahin's Magazine.
Men have been carried to financial success by fortunate circumstances over which they had no control, and as long as the human race exists examples will be found of pure luck acting to shape some men's careers. The rule however, is that each must work out his own destiny, and the men who are entitled to the highest credit for great things accomplished are those who have created conditions by the force of their own brains and hands.

The best ultimate results are reached by those who have formed a definite purpose and who have refused to be influenced by forces tending to turn them into any other road than that in which they had decided to travel. In all professions and in all business this principle has illustrations, and it may be said to be one of the basic laws of successful effort. It is no better exemplified than in advertising.
The advertiser who is spasmodic and unsystematic in his methods is the man who is taking the long chances that good fortune may seek him out. The one who lays a definite plan, who carries on a campaign of publicity founded on logical principles, and who persists in the course he has determined to be right, is the man who creates a prestige for his goods and ultimately wins the reward of his perseverance.
