

HAY MOW SPREADER.

A Clever Contrivance, Designed by a Wisconsin Man, That Does Away with Hand Labor.

A horse fork makes quick work of unlonding hay, but unless proper care is taken to tear the forkfuls in pieces and keep the mow nearly level, a great amount of hard work is required | companies. to get the hay out. The cut, reproduced from the Northwestern Agriendturist, illustrates a device used by J. B. Cleves, of Wisconsin, which is said to spread the hay about the mow with very little hand labor. It consists of a platform 6x8 feet, made of inch boards well cleated at the ends. A piece of 4x6-inch pine 6 feet 8 inches long is nalled across the middle of the platform on the under side. This cross piece is first rounded at both ends, and the remainder half rounded. On a 2-foot scaffolding placed on the girders directly under the fork track the full length of the mow, slotted blocks made of 2x6-inch stuff are nailed at intervals of 6 feet. In these the cross piece under the platform rests and moves freely. It is tilted and held in place by guy ropes, as shown in the cut, and may be moved along the mow as desired. It is necessary to have at least 10 feet between the fork track and center of platform. When a forkful of hay strikes this slanting platform it shoots off to one side and is well scattered instead of falling in a heap under the track .-Rural New Yorker.

THE LESSON TEXT.

One of the Most Noted Meteorie Financiers of This Rushing Age-How He Ruined the Late Lord Dafferia,

Whitaker Wright, the London promoter of visionary financial schemes, and who used the late Lord Dufferin as a figurehead for the enterprises, has been called into courf to pay $750,000 to a creditor of one of the defunct

Whitaker Wright put 41 companies on the London market. The aggregate capital stock was $111,775,000. The public, gulled by the promises of large dividends, invested something like $100,000,000 in these schemes. They all failed, the creditors receiving five cents on the dollar, the shareholders nothing. Lord Dufferin, former governor general of Canada, and who had been ambassador to Russia and Turkey and several times a member of the cabinet. was induced by Whitaker Wright to lend his name as president of the London and Globe Finance corporation, the company which was supposed to finance the enterprises in which the public was invited to invest. It was Lord Dufferin's name and his wellknown personal integrity that induced the public to invest millions.

When the crash came Lord Dufferin was ruined and although no blame could be attached to him, except that he had been the blind tool of Whitaker Wright, he sank under what to him, was a disgrace, and his death, which followed a few months ago, was attributed directly to his connection with the bankruptcy of the company of which he had been the president. The compulsory liquidation of the London and Globe Finance corporation was ordered on October 30, 1901. Since then there have been insistent demands for action by the public prosecutor. A special petition has (Joshua 1:1-11.) 1. Now after the death of Mores the servant of the Lord it came to pass that the Lord spake unto Joshua, the son of Nun, Moses' minister, saying:

2. Moses, my servant, is dead; now there-fore arise, go over this Jordan, thou, and all this people, unto the land which I do give to them, even to the children of Israel. 3. Every place that the sole of your foot shall tread upon that have I given unto you, as I said unto Moses. 4. From the wilderness and this Lebanon even unto the great river, the river Eu-phrates, all the land of the Hittites and unto the great sea toward the going down of the sun shall be your coast.

5. There shall not any man be able to stand before thee all the days of thy life; as I was with Moses, so I will be with thee; I will not fail thee, nor forsake thee.

6. Be strong and of a good courage; for unto this people shalt thou divide for an inheritance the land, which I sware unto their fathers to give them.

7. Only be thou strong and very couragcous, that thou mayest observe to do ac-cording to all the law, which Moses my servant commanded thee; turn not from it to the right hand or to the left, that thou mayest prosper whithersoever thou goest. 8. This book of the law shall not depart out of thy mouth; but thou shall meditate therein day and night, that thou mayest observe to do according to all that is writ-ten therein; for then thou shalt make thy way prosperous, and then thou shalt have good success. 9. ### NOTES AND COMMENTS.

God's Pledge.-Just as He does now to those who are about entering upon the warfare of life, God assured Joshua that He would not fail him nor forsake him. All that he required of Joshua was that he should be strong and of good courage and faithfully keep God's law. The history upon which we enter shows how perfectly God redeemed His promise. The lessons for the quarter emphasize the truth that "In God is our help." That is a fact that we need to realize in our own life's conflict.

God's Word to Joshua .-- There was no question as to who Moses' successor should be. Joshua had been preeminent as a brave and upright soldier from the time, 38 years beture, when he led the Hebrews to victory at Rephidim. Moses chose him, and God called him, because of his fitness. God has many kinds of work to be done in the world, and needs different kinds of men to do it. Joshua was a far better man to direct the conquest of Canaan than the greater Moses could have been. "Jehovah spake unto Joshua:" He was conscious that he was called of God to do God's work. In that very fact was his supreme encouragement.
