VIRTUES OF BARLEY.

land That Will Grow Good Corn One Year Will Yield a Fair Barley Crop the Next.

One advantage which barley may be credited with over the other cereals is that it is much less liable to be injured by the rust fungus. Nearly all the varieties that are now on the market mature some time during the first ten days in July. so that the crop escapes to some extent the severely hot weather. Ripening as it does at this early date is of considerable advantage to the grower during the harvesting period. Where winter wheat is grown barley is generally ready to harvest soon after this crop, while spring wheat and oats come in a little later. But the fact that it matures at a convenient time would not alone recommend it for general culture. It must give a good yield of grain, otherwise farmers in general will have little use for it. In this respect we think that barley fully fills the requirements. Where ordinary care is taken in preparing the seed bed and the soil is at all in good heart there is little difficulty in getting a yield of 40 bushels per acre. In fact we have seen a 50 and 55 bushel yield time and again. As the grain usually weighs from 45 to 50 pounds per bushel it will be seen that the yield in pounds per acre is very large. It certainly would require a heavy crop of oats to produce the same amount of food. It is true that the grain is scarcely so palatable as oats and that it is not relished so much by farm animals; at the same time if properly combined with other foods it will give good results.-Live Stock Indicator.

NEEDS EXTERMINATION.

Jimson Weed is a Plant That Is Dangerous to Children as Well as Live Stock.

The plant that we illustrate is a good one to exterminate, especially if there are young children to play in its vicinity. It is poisonous, and the life of more than one child has been sacrificed to it. Children are poisoned by play-

BIG PROFIT IN WATER.

Fruit Growers and Dairymen Can Sell It at a High Price and Yet Please the Buyer.

To sell water at a high price and yet please the buyer is one of the farmer's privileges. The gardener whose strawberries are juciest, whose melons, give the greatest refreshment during the hot August days and whose peaches are the most melting owes much of the superior quality at his fruit to the abundance of water they contain. To secure this added juiciness, unless nature be liberal with rains during the growing season, he must spend money, time and labor in irrigating his plantations or in making special efforts to conserve the moisture in the soil. The cheese-maker also sells considerable water in his product. but he might usually sell more with satisfaction both to himself and to the consumer. He would have an advan-RESTORES VITALITY tage over the gardener in so doing, for spies,-men who had been enemies he need not go to great expense to provide the moisture. Prof. Beecher. I pour this in the churn and start it going, but I am always sure to leave the venting plug out. I run the churn for about two minutes, draw the water off into a washtub and use it to wash my strainer, butter ladle, paddle, bricker, etc. After I have washed my churn outside and inside with this solution, I pour cold water into it and rinse it by running for about two mnutes. NOTES AND COMMENTS.

The Conquest .- It took about seven years to subdue Canaan with anything like completeness, though the victory was practically assured in much less time. Joshua's plan of campaign was masterly. By taking Jericho and Ai, and by securing the cities of Gibeon, Beerooth and Chephirah and Kiriathjearim through the Gibeonites (9:1-18), Canaan was divided into two parts by a line running from Jericho to the Mediterranean, so that the kings of the north and of the south were cut off from cooperating with each other. Then Joshua first conquered the south and then the north by the swiftness of his movements and the impetuosity of his attacks. All this was done before the redemption of the promise made to

The Two Campaigns .- Chapter vil. relates the defeat of a small detachment of men at Ai, as the result of the disobedience of Achan, who had taken some of the plunder of Jericho for his own use; the detection and punishment of the offender and, with him, the stoning to death of his innocent children. Joshua was a noble servant of God, but we who have known Christ's revelation of the heart of God cannot believe that he was right in supposing all the cruelty and barbarism of those days to two chapters relate the taking of Ai. and the stratagem of the Gibeonites The accounts of the conquest found in Joshua indicate two distinct campaigns carried on by the nation as a whole, with marvelous success. The first was in the southern part of the country, and began with the defeat of the five Amorite kings. It brought about the complete subjugation of that part of the country and the extermination of most of the original inhabiants. The northern campaign began with the defeat of the coalition under Jabin, king of Hazor, and was, throughout, a sweeping victory. The accounts in Joshua and Judges have never been satisfactorily harmonized. Joshua perhaps gives a sort of condensed account of what really took a much longer time than would appear on the surface.

Caleb's Claim .- "The children of Judah drew nigh unto Joshua:" Caleb belonged to the tribe of Judah by adoption, for he was not one of the Hebrews by birth. He was "Calebthe Kenezite." "The thing that Jehovah spake-concerning me:" He based his claim on Jehovah's promise, spoken more than 40 years before. "Forty years old was I:" .Caleb was 85 years, old at the time of this lesson. "My brethren:" Caleb is referring to the ten cowardly to the whole nation, but he speaks kindly and nurses no resentment in easy, but it had been pure and good and strong, and he assured Joshua that he was just as well able to conquer the Anakim as ever, though he was 85 years old. "This old veteran, whose services would have entitled

I have experienced a wonderful result in using Ripans Tabules I was seriously affected with indigestion and heartburn. A friend suggested trying Ripans, and I was surprised at the improvement. On making application a few years ago for policy of insurance I was refused on account of a weak heart, but the same company passed me recently, and I gave Ripans Tabules credit for the health I am enjoying: I can certainly recommend them to any one suffering with palpitation of the heart or indigestion:

The five-cent packet is enough for an ordinary occasion. The family bottle, Sixty cents, contains a supply for a year.
