THE LESSON TEXT. (Joshua 20:1-9.)

1. The Lord also spake unto Joshua, saying:

2. Speak to the children of Israel, saying: Appoint out for you cities of refuge, where-of I spake unto you by the hand of Mores. 3. That the slayer that killeth any person unawares and unwittingly may flee thither;

and they shall be your retuge from the avenger of blood.

4. And when he that doth flee unto one of those cities shall stand at the entering of the gates of the city, and shall declare his cause in the ears of the elders of that city, they shall take him into the city unto them, and give him a place, that he may dwell among them.

5. And if the avenger of blood pursue after him, then they shall not deliver the slayer up into his hand, because he smote his neighbor unwittingly, and hated him bot beforetime.

6. And he shall dwell in that city, until he stand before the congregation for judg-ment, and until the death of the high priest that shall be in those days: then shall the slayer return, and come unto his own city, and unto his own house, unto the city from whence he fled.

7. And they appointed Krdesh in Galilee in Mount Naphtall, and Shechem, in Mount Ephraim, and Kirjatharba, which is Hebron, in the mountain of Judah.

8. And on the other side Jordan by Jeri-cho eastward, they assigned Bezer in the wilderness upon the plain out of the tribe of Reuben, and Ramoth in Gilead out of the tribe of Gad, and Golan in Bashan out of the tribe of Manasseh.

9. These were the cities appointed for all the children of Israel, and for the stranger that sojourneth among them, that whoso-ever killeth any person at unawares might flee thither, and not die by the hand of the averger of blood, until he stood before he congregation.

and strength, a very present help in trouble.—Ps. 46:1. OUTLINE OF SCRIPTURAL SECTION.

The tribal allotments..... Josh. xv-xix.
The cities of refuge..... Josh. xx.
TIME.-B. C. 1444. PLACE.-Gilgal and Shiloh. NOTES AND COMMENTS.

The Need of Refuge.-In all barbarons and semicivilized peoples it has been regarded as the highest duty of the next of kin to avenge the blood of one who has been slain. The duty was not merely vengeance in its lowest form, but justice or equalization. No discrimination was made, however, between the murderer by intent and the slayer by accident. So deep-seat- her up. ed was the sense of obligation in this matter that a law prohibiting all private taking of life in return for one give her an automobile as a wedding slain would have been imperative, present, and poor George, with his Without expressly prohibiting it, the income of $20,000 a year, knew he ed to do away with it. The Tribal Allotments .- For the territory assigned to each tribe, see map. The distribution was made by lot, and the high priest officiated. Reuben, Gad and the half tribe of Manasseh had already received their inheritance on the east side of the Jordan, and, as no land was given to the Levites, there were only 91/2 tribes to be ming birds.-N. Y. Weekly. provided for.

The Cities of Refuge.-The establishing of certain cities of refuge is interesting in connection with the sixth commandment, showing that not simply was the act to be considered, but the spirit prompting it. The custom of frivolous questions. "blood-revenge," which has been almost world wide at certain stages of civilization, rests on the principle of the sacredness of human life (Gen. 9:5, 6), and, in the absence of an efficient government, the duty of individuals to protect it. It resembles an authorized Lynch law. When a man had been killed among the Hebrews, it was the duty of his next of kin. called his "goel," to avenge his blood by slaying the one who had killed him. This was his duty even when the killing was accidental; but cities parts of the country, to which any manslayer might flee and be safe from the vengeance of the goel till he had had a fair trial before the elders of the city and congregation. There had to be at least two witnesses to prove intentional murder (Num. 35:30; Deut. 19:15). If the fugitive was convicted of wilful murder, he was handed over to the goel, whose right and duty it was to kill him. If the elders decided that the relative's death was the result of an accident, the goel was not allowed to touch him. The manslayer was, however, to remain in the city of refuge till the death of the high priest, when he might go free in safety. But if the goel found him outside of the city of refuge before the death of the high priest, he might legally take his revenge. It was the office of the goel, in general, to stand up for the rights of the family. In addition to his duty as avenger of blood, he was (1) to buy back and bold in the family the patrimony of his kinsman, when poverty had compelled him to sell it. (2) It was his place to redeem or buy back the person of a kinsman who had sold himself into slavery. For another use of the word, see Job 19:25: "I know that my Redeemer (goel) liveth."

PRACTICAL SUGGESTIONS. Christ has provided a refuge for the sinner-not for the innocent. The refuge provided by Christ is easily accessible. He is nigh to all who call upon Him.

Jesus is the sinner's only refuge. There is no other name under Heaven given whereby we must be saved. The gates of the cities of refuge were always open. The door of mercy is never shut to the sinner. Grapes from Canann. Humility is one of the gates of

The price of sin is always greater than its profit. You cannot cover up a wrong at home by a gift abroad.

I have experienced a wonderful result in using Ripans Tabules I was seriously affected with indigestion and heartburn. A friend suggested trying Ripans, and I was surprised at the improvement. On making application a few years ago for policy of insurance I was refused on account of a weak heart. but the same company passed me recently, and I gave Ripans Tabules credit for the health I am enjoying. I can certainly recommend them to any one suffering with palpitation of the heart or indigestion.
