Republican Ticket.

- Prothonotary—Geo. M. Shindel, Register and Recorder—J. B. Avbogast, Associate Judge—J. Frank Keller, District Attorney—M. I. Potter, Jury Commissioner—Irwin Graybill.

Now that the primary election is past, all good citizens including the unsuccessful candidates can settle down to their usual vocations. The defeated candidates can count up the liars only by using the census report.

It was quite a victory for "Friday" Keller. A man seldom gets on the bench at the age of thirty years. He is a young man of good character and after Senator Hummel turned him down, Editor Lombard took up his cause and carried him through.

The Union township correspondent to the Post suggests that bars be closed on primary election days, the same as on general election days. He is certainly right. There is really more necessity for this in a primary in Snyder county than in a general election.

No member of the standing committee has yet tried to explain why registration closed on a week's notice for five full weeks before the primary. Neither has any one explained why the people were not given an opportunity to vote for or against a permanent date for the primary election. The committee is elected to govern the affairs of the party, but it is always proper to allow the people a chance to express their wishes. In this case public sentiment was muzzled.

Every rural community needs at least three institutions—the Christian church, the public school and the Grange hall—the church to foster the spiritual interests of the people, the school to give the children the foundation of an education and the grange as a social, educational business centre. Few would care to live where the first two are not within easy reach, but the community that has only these suffers a great loss. Broad intellectual and even moral development come only from contact of mind with mind. In the country this contact does not come from the nature of the surroundings as it does in the centre of population. It must be provided for or the people will lead isolated lives. Isolation means narrowness and dullness. When the people meet to give the hand clasp of fraternity, to deliberate on questions of common interest, and to co-operate in matters that concern them, dullness and narrowness have no place.

Conditions for Democrats to Vote.

There should be a section in the rules specifying precisely upon what conditions a democrat can vote at our primary elections. As it now stands the matter of requirements rests with the local board and the conditions in different districts are as varied as the weather was during the last campaign. Two different requirements have been discussed: First, that the democrat swears he will support at the coming general election the entire Republican ticket. Second, that he be required to swear that he voted for the entire republican ticket at the last general election. Some have suggested that in order to show the proper sincerity, both conditions be required.

As long as the republican majorities in Snyder county are as large as they are now, there is no necessity for making the requirements too easy. It is always best to be sure of a democrats sincerity in the matter.

It is immaterial to the POST what these requirements are, but they should be embodied in the rules so that they are uniform for the county.

Uniform Primary Elections.

(Philadelphia Press.)

While there are now indications that some desirable changes may be made in the present ballot law before the session of the Legislature is ended, no bill to provide for uniform primary elections has been introduced in either House. There is no public knowledge respecting what has been done by the subcommittee of the Republican State Committee appointed to prepare such a measure.

There has been enough expression of opinion on this subject through the Republican press of the State to indicate a pretty general popular demand for some action. It is not a new question that needs to be held over for further consideration. It has become pretty familiar to all who take an interest in such matters. Two years ago a very excellent measure was passed by the lower house, but failed in the Senate. It provided for primaries by all parties at the same time in all the counties of the Commonwealth, and if it could have been made a law would have brought about some desirable and advantageous reforms.

The chief objection to any legislation on this subject apparently arises from the fact that if a new and uniform system were provided applicable to all the State it would make radical changes in the existing methods in many counties. Different counties have different systems of making nominations, and each apparently likes its own method well enough not to want to make a change. In those counties where the popular vote system is in use there would be no very radical change. The primaries would be held by the general election officers in the several districts, and all parties would go to the polls at the same time, but the popular vote method would still prevail.

It is in other counties where they still have delegate conventions that the chief opposition exists. There is a convenience about the delegate system that makes it most acceptable to those who want to manipulate conventions, and there is a reluctance to give it up. We do not believe there is any probability that a primary election law similar to that passed by one house two years ago will be considered at this session. It ought to be possible, however, to take at least one step in the right direction, and that step could be taken by a brief enactment requiring primary elections to be held on the same day in all the counties, and not otherwise disturbing existing systems in the different counties.

Such an act would not, of course, meet the requirements, but as a step toward what is sought it would be so much better than nothing at all. It would enable the people to familiarize themselves with at least one feature of the reform and open the way for more.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. If taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful it acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circular testimonials.
