IRISH LAND BILL SAFE

Amendments Adopted By National Convention Will Be Accepted.

TO THE APRIL 18.—The Irish National convention has adjourned. In two days it got through a large amount of controversial work and emerged, to quote T. P. O'Connor, "scathless and honored from a test which the whole world was watching." It was not only shaping the destinies of Ireland but it held in its hand the fate of the powerful British ministry.

John Redmond, replying to an enthusiastic vote of thanks for his chairmanship declared that the convention was a credit in every particular to Ireland. In a statement Mr. Redmond makes the important announcement that the amendments adopted by the convention will be accepted at the joint conference at which Lord Dunraven, Lord Mayo, Captain Shawe-Taylor, John Redmond, William O'Brien and T. W. Russell will meet. This practically ensures the passage of the Irish land bill.

One of the most important amendments was that proposed by Michael Davitt that the principle of the American homestead law be introduced into the land bill to "safeguard the peasants from the results of improvident borrowing and the operation of land grabbers and land jobbers."

The delegates returned to their homes in a happy frame of mind, echoing John Redmond's parting words: "May the God of our fathers once again visit this land with the peace and plenty that are her due."

Relics of Wreck Washed Ashore.

Cape May, N. J., April 21.—A grim reminder of the disastrous storm that swept the coast the past week is an organ washed ashore. It was discovered by Captain Bennett near Cold Spring Inlet. William Scheibenberger, a patrolman of the Cape May life saving station, found a chest of carpenter's tools, partly buried in the sand. Both of these finds are supposed to have come from the H. E. Margraves, which met her doom on the bar at Atlantic City, as the tool chest bore the initials of the boat.

THE PUREST WHISKEY

It has been frequently asserted by eminent authorities that nearly two-thirds of the crime and poverty of the world was directly traceable to intemperance.

The wise acres should have stated that these evils are due to the immoderate use of Whiskey and Liquors of questionable quality, for it is a well-known fact that Intemperance is practically unknown where pure unadulterated whiskey is used.

FOUND DEAD ON RAILROAD

Norristown, Pa., Police Believe John Hood Was Murdered and Robbed.

Norristown, Pa., April 20.—John Hood, a farm hand, aged 52 years, was found dead along the tracks of the Pennsylvania Railroad at Port Providence, near here, and the police authorities believe the man was murdered.

Three men, who were seen in the vicinity of the place, have been arrested on suspicion of knowing something of the manner of the man's death.

In the little station at Port Providence, 50 feet from where the body was found, the police discovered two pools of blood and a trail of blood leading to where the body was found.

In a tool chest nearby a spike hammer was found, on which there is some blood.

Hood was paid Saturday, and it is the theory of the police that he was killed with the spike hammer, robbed and his body thrown on
