The End of the World. Little Dot—I know something my teacher doesn't know. Mamma—Indeed! What is that? "I know when the world is coming to an end, and she doesn't. I asked her, and she said she didn't know."

The Hog. Mrs. Gushington, who called upon me recently, began the conversation and boorish author, "was pleased to say she thought there was no pen more artistically delightful in all the world than mine."

The Facetious One. "I noticed," remarked the facetious one to the man whose face bore evidences of a poor barber's work, "that you have a close shave recently."

A Good Suggestion. The preacher had apparently almost reached his peroration, but he had apparently almost reached it before, and the congregation was suspicious.

Useless Sifters. "Sifters are awful forgetful, ain't they?" asked little Elsie. "Why, what makes you think that?" inquired her papa.

Quite Important. Laura—Auntie, should I be justified in writing to a young man who had never written to me? Auntie—Only on very important business, my dear.

As to His Vocation. "You think him an untruthful man?" "Oh, dear sir, he lies like a tailor." "Like a tailor?"

Quite Another Question. "Don't strive for riches my son. Wealth doesn't bring happiness." "No." "Certainly not?"

Accustomed to It. "What's a man of the hour?" "Generally some chap who is being conspired by one-half of the population for not doing something that he knows the other half will condemn him for if he does it."

Levishness. He is a most generous God never damn his soul; He is a most generous God never damn his soul; And he took a burning coal.

Opposite. "What's the matter with that young fellow?" "He's a bit of a fellow."

Breaking It to Him. "Well," asked the anxious young husband, "is it a boy?" "Yes, Henry," replied the new grandmother. "One of them is."—Chicago Tribune.

HUMAN AND ANIMAL MIND.

There is Less Difference Between Them Than Most People Imagine.

The fact may not be flattering to the human race, but it is nevertheless true, as recent scientific investigation proves, that there is very little difference between the minds of animals and those of men.

In the same way vibrations of the ether impinging on the human retina produce the sense of color. These, measured on the angle scale of millions of millions per second, vary in number from 400 to 700.

IMPORT WORMS FOR BIRDS.

A Chicago Dealer Receives Large Quantities from an Old German in New Jersey.

Chicago is obliged to import its meal worms from New Jersey. The worm most valued from a commercial standpoint is the small, inch and a half long specimen known as the meal worm.

But now the dealer receives all his supply from an old German down in New Jersey, who runs a sort of meal worm ranch. This man breeds the worms and ships them when they are fully grown and of proper weight and color.

AN ELECTRIC EYE-OPENER.

Novel Alarm Apparatus That Has Been Invented by a South-western Man.

There is in Mobile a gentleman who in the past has been in the habit of oversleeping in the morning hours, and as his business requires that he come down street early, it is essential that he should awaken at a certain hour.

"I determined that this business of sleeping when I should be awake had to stop. I installed in an electric alarm clock, and the result was that I have it so arranged that at the hour set a light flashes in my eyes. If this is not successful, and I do not get up and throw the switch, a mosquito bar and the frame falls on me.
