

FOUND HUMAN BONES

Discovery Under Floor of Philadelphia Store May Be Murder Clew.

THE POLICE WILL INVESTIGATE

Frank Hewes, of Bridgeport, N. J., Who Made His Headquarters at the Place, Disappeared Eight Years Ago, and His Brothers Suspect Foul Play.

Philadelphia, June 22.—The discovery of portions of a human skeleton under the flooring of the building 324 North Water street has raised hopes of possibly solving the mystery of the disappearance of Frank Hewes, of Bridgeport, N. J., eight years ago.

It was the custom of the missing man to spend much time at the Water street building, which was then occupied by a produce firm.

It appears that Frank Hewes left Bridgeport on Monday night, July 22, 1894, on the truck boat run by Captain John P. Trullitt.

Hewes was a well-to-do farmer, 52 years old at the time of his disappearance. It was subsequently reported that he had been seen in Washington, at investigation proved the rumor false.

The Hewes family spared no trouble or money to solve the mystery. Weeks search in all the large cities of the country brought no results.

The first floor of the Water street building has been occupied for three years by Frank Carmady, a fruit importer.

Company Compelled to Furnish Property Owner a Supply.

Atlantic City, N. J., June 22.—What attorneys claim is a victory of far-reaching consequences in New Jersey, acting every household who uses gas, is the surrender of the Atlantic Gas Company to a writ of mandamus from the supreme court which ordered them to turn on the gas in a building which had been cut off for unpaid bill of $4 for gas used by a tenant who moved out.

The plaintiff was Ralph Johnson, who owns a small property in Trenton Terrace. He spent several hundred dollars in fighting the suit through two courts, and the climax came when the gas was turned on in his house, although the writ was not returnable until June 30.

Burglar's Carelessness Fatal.

Blacksville, Ind., June 22.—George Wain, said to be from Chicago, is the county jail here in a dog cage as a result of an alleged attempt to blow the safe in a general store at Jolietville. Citizens of the town, who were awakened by a terrific explosion, found Marvin lying motionless near the store, with one blow away and his body other-where so terribly mangled that he can live. When the citizens approached the second man ran away, making his escape. The accidental discharge of a .45 caliber revolver was the cause of the explosion.

Man Mangled Beside Tracks.

Washington, N. J., June 22.—The body of E. B. Murphy, a young man living in Riverside, and who evidently had been instantly killed by a freight train, was found at Edgewater Park. The mutilated body was brought to the city, turned over to coroner Wells, identified by the telegraph operator Beverly, who saw Murphy and other men board a midnight train. Efforts are being made to locate the man.

BOODLERS UNDER FIRE

Scranton Councilman Committee Probing Bribery Charges.

SEVERAL ARRESTS WILL FOLLOW

Railway Promoters Told of Bold Hold-Up by Eleven Councilmen, Who Demanded $400 Each to Pass Franchise Ordinance.

Scranton, Pa., June 23.—Flat-footed contradictions of accuser and accused marked every step of the opening day's sessions of the councilman committee engaged in investigating the alleged hoodling in connection with the Lehigh Street Railway franchise. George E. Stevenson and W. P. Boland, the two local promoters of the road, who claim they were solicited for bribes, swore positively that Select Councilman David R. Evans came to Boland's office on June 3 and made demand for $400 apiece for himself and the other councilmen. Mr. Evans stoutly maintained that Boland sent for him, asked him to work for the ordinance and promised to give him $100 or $200 for his trouble. He agreed to help Boland for "friendship's sake," he said, but spurned the money, and an another councilman, David Boland, told him to send some good men to get the ordinance. Evans' words were not taken seriously by Boland, who was told by Boland to get some more money. Evans' words were not taken seriously by Boland, who was told by Boland to get some more money.

Mr. Boland also testified that Selectmen O'Boyle and Regan individually made demands on him, the one asking for the "regular market price" and the other for "whatever was going."

The announcement of Boland that Evans included Selectman Coyne in the hoodling list created a sensation. Mr. Coyne is one of the investigating committee. When he was mentioned in this connection he jumped to his feet and declared: "I don't believe Mr. Evans ever made such a statement to you, Mr. Boland." The witness reiterated that Evans told him Coyne was one of the 11.

At the conclusion of the hearing in the council chamber Selectman Evans was arraigned before Magistrate Miller on the charge of soliciting bribes preferred by the Municipal League. The witnesses in both cases were the same.

Merry-go-round Man Away.

Greenville, Ind., June 2.—A merry-go-round in a park near the city ran away with itself. There were 13 children on the swing at the time. The conductor grabbed up the children one by one and threw them from the swing. One child, an 8-year-old daughter of John Carney, was thrown against a post and her skull was fractured. She is not expected to survive. One child had its jaw broken, another had an arm broken and several were badly bruised. Just as the conductor jumped from the swing it broke in pieces and the wooden horses were thrown in all directions.
