Harry Alington of Philadelphia visited his parents over Sunday.

The band played in a festival Saturday evening at Sunbury. They were charged with a fine waltz which was purchased recently.

The Misses Bates went to New Hampshire to visit their parents.

It is said life is one grand sweet song. Perhaps it is, if songs have many discords. Life would have less of turmoil and disappointment, if every person had sufficient stamina to stand upon honest principles or had the frankness to disclose unreliability.

Political harmony at the expense of honest government is prejudicial to the welfare of all. Harmony is desirable and every thing should be done to promote harmony when the public good is not menaced. When dishonesty reigns in public life, fighting factions are a blessing.

Bad Oversight.

The voters of Pennsylvania will not have an opportunity to vote again this year on the two amendments to the constitution for which a majority cast the ballots in 1902. This is owing to an oversight or rather carelessness on the part of the recent legislature. The sessions of 1901 passed both amendments almost unanimously, and the people at the general election last fall voted in the affirmative by a large majority. Then the amendments laid over for the sessions of 1903. The legislature this year passed them on first and second reading and placed them on the calendar for third reading and final passage, but they were never called up and were permitted to die with the close of the session. Now they will have to go over on account of this negligence.

The two amendments were exceedingly important, and the people showed very conclusively by their ballots that they wanted them. One proposed amendment provided that a discharge of a jury of failure to agree or other necessary cause should not work acquittal. Such a change in our Constitution would mean that a defendant could not be acquitted merely by a disagreement of a jury, but that he could be held in custody for a future trial. The constitution on this subject now reads: "No person shall for the same offense be twice put in jeopardy of life, or limb." The amendment read: "No person shall for the same offense be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb, but a discharge of the jury for failure to agree, or other necessary cause, shall not work an acquittal."

The other proposed amendment provided that all local laws before being introduced in the legislature must first be submitted to a vote of the people in localities effected.

Both of these were very important amendments and the State paid a large amount of money to have them advertised in at least two newspapers in each county of the State. By the oversight on the part of the last legislature the work of the two years has been for naught and will have to be done over again. Had the legislature acted upon them, as it should have done, they would have gone before the people this fall for their final action and would have, no doubt, been adopted. They would then have become part of the Constitution.

The last legislature was made up, principally of new men, which accounts to a large extent for this oversight. The next body will likely know better.

Ross Dunkleberger, who had been visiting in the West the past few months, returned to her home Friday.

A progressive euchre party was given at the home of Thomas Arbogast and wife Monday evening. About 25 guests were present.

Suicide Prevented.

The startling announcement that a preventive of suicide had been discovered will interest many. A run down system, or despondency in variably precede suicide and something has been found that will prevent that condition which makes suicide likely. At the first thought of self destruction take Electric Bitters. It being a great tonic and nerve will strengthen the nerves and builds up the system. It's also a great Stomach, Liver and Kidney regulator. Only 50c. Satisfaction guaranteed by Middleburg Drug Co. Graybill & Garman, Richfield, Dr. J. W. Samsell, Penns Creek.

WEST BEAVER.

There was almost a frost at this end Friday morning.

W. A. McGlaughlin of Burnham spent a few days here last week with his parent and friends.

Jos. D. Ush says it had not been for the bone and sinew (meaning the ladies of McClure) Lewis Manbeck's house would have burnt to the ground last week.

James Steely entertained some of his friends at his home last week with all the ice cream, cakes, bananas and cigars they wished. They all tender many thanks and hope it may occur often.

Isaac Henry's boy had one of his legs mashed at Burnham last week and had to be taken off. Burnham will soon have the name of causing as many cripples as the Spanish-American war.

After two years suffering with that dreaded disease consumption Mrs. Henry Kline (nee Wagner) departed this life Saturday night and buried Tuesday at St. John's church.

A. A. Romig is doing the carpenter work at the Lowell roller mill. Landlord Roush at McClure would appreciate a visit from Carrie and her little hatchet. He would treat her to the best he had in the shop as he is a very obliging man and weighs almost 200 lbs.

The festival at Crossgrove Saturday evening was almost a failure on account of poor attendance. They failed to have it announced in the Post's future events column.

David Knepp, son of H. W. Knepp was home from Juniata County Sunday.
