The Pennsylvania railroad has inaugurated a fight against scalpers and others who by the means of forgeries and erasures, have altered tickets issued over the company's lines. The company claims it has suffered greatly during the present excursion season.

General Passenger Agent Boyd has issued a circular so ticket receivers calling their attention to the forgeries and instructing them to take up all altered tickets when presented.

The Walter L. Main big three ring circus, excellent menagerie and exciting roman hippodrome is coming. It will be at Middleburg this Saturday Sept. 26, 1903, in all its magnitude and glory. The Main shows are well and most favorably known, but when the Main shows we knew but a few years ago are compared to the present aggregation, it becomes evident that we know the show only in its infancy. Year by year the show has been added to and strengthened in every department until now it is the largest and best that visits this section of the country.

This year Mr. Main has under contract a company of performers that it is utterly impossible to duplicate for meritorious acting. In fact any act given under the spacious tent with any other show would be a feature. All acts with the Main show are features, for were they not they would not be with it. The riders, jockeys, acrobats, tumblers, gymnasts, jugglers, wire walkers, clowns and specialty people are all head liners in the ranks from which they were chosen. So numerous are they that three rings, elevated stage, spectacular amphitheatre, aerial enclave, sporting plaza, athletic field, race track, hippodrome and college of faecit are required to display their many accomplishments. Mr. Main has always enjoyed the reputation of exhibiting only the very best, but this season he has far outdone any of his previous efforts. The menagerie is the largest and most complete ever assembled and students of natural history have pronounced it the finest. Not only are the fully matured representatives of the forests, mountains and plains in evidence; but the infantile specimens of ferocity, some of them with their eyes not yet opened, are at their mother's side. No better opportunity to study natural history was ever afforded than at this menagerie. The cute little nursing baby camel and ponderous infant water buffalo are among the births in the menagerie this season. Attendants are always in attendance and willing to answer politely any question asked them. Tickets on sale at Middleburg Drug Co.'s store Middleburg, Pa. Admission 50 cents. Children 25 cents.

Fears Hydrophobia. Dr. Steans, of Northumberland, left on Wednesday, accompanied by Andrew Marks, who resides above Northumberland and his son Selin, for the Pasteur Institute at New York City, who fear having contracted hydrophobia from another son of Mr. Marks, who died several weeks ago near Seven Points. The doctors who attended the deceased son claimed he did not suffer from hydrophobia, but in order to allay all their fears the hospital officials admitted them for treatment.

A post mortem examination is being held on the body of Mr. Shafer this afternoon.

Mrs. John Haas.

Anna Maria Winey was born Dec. 17, 1821, married John Haas and died in West Perry township, Sept. 15, 1903, of paralysis aged 81 years, 8 months and 28 days. Her husband died 22 years ago. They were the parents of five children: Daniel W., of Mt. Pleasant Mills; John W., of Harrisburg; Elizabeth, wife of Geo. S. Shafer, of Mt. Pleasant Mills; a son and a daughter died in infancy.

Decedent's grand children.

Decedent was born, raised, lived all her life in West Perry township and died there. She never rode on a train of cars and never saw any.

She was a member of the Mennonite Church and was buried in St. John's Cemetery, Rev. S. S. Graybill officiating.

Potatoes are Rotting.

The wet weather of the past few weeks has played havoc with potatoes in many localities and there is danger that the tubers will be exceedingly high during the winter. Farmers who took up potatoes during the past weeks found them exceedingly rotten and then every rain will make conditions worse.

Regardless of the prospective high prices, people generally refuse to lay in their winter stores, fearing that the potato will rot later. Some farmers are covering their potatoes in the bins with a sprinkling of lime to prevent them from rotting before the winter. Along the country roads large numbers of half-rotten potatoes are to be seen thrown out by the farmers as he finds them.

A Bellevue Policeman.

We were shown a letter from Chas. I. Bilger, a native of Middleburg, son of Wm. I. Bieger. Charles is now a policeman in Bellevue drawing a salary of $80 a month and he is displaying laudable courage in doing his duty.

He had quite an experience with a man who served 3 years in the penitentiary. The victim threatened to kill Mr. Bilger, but the wary policeman grabbed his victim by the throat, threw him to the ground and hit him three times. Since then the penitentiary bird respects the Snyder county policeman.
