

PLUTOCRACY OF PITTSBURG.

Pure-Proud Younger Generation Forget What Their Fathers Might Have Been.

Pride is a feature of the younger generation of Pittsburghers of wealth. Things of which some of them think they cannot be proud—such as the way in which their hard-working fathers got their start in life—they try to forget.

"Do you know, young man, that I once was very envious of your father?" said one of the steel kings to the son of a man whose wealth, while great, could be written with one less figure, says a writer in the New York Tribune.

"And when was that?" asked the young man, pleased to think that there had ever been a time when the "king" envied his father.

"It was this way," returned the old man. "I was working in a ditch for $1.50 a day—"

"I didn't know you started that way," interrupted the youth.

"That's the way. I was working in this ditch for $1.50 a day, and your father was working in the same ditch. He got $1.75 because he was stronger, and I envied him the extra quarter."

TRUE LOVE.

I think true love is never blind, But rather brings an added light, An inner vision quick to find The beauties hid from common sight.

No soul can ever clearly see Another's highest nobler part; Save through the sweet philosophy And loving wisdom of the heart.

Your unanointed eyes shall fail On him who fills my world with light; You do not see my friend at all, You see what hides him from your sight.

See the feet that fain would climb; You but the steps that turn astray; I see the soul, unharmed, sublime; You but the garment and the clay.

You see a mortal, weak, misled, Dwarfed ever by the earthly clod; I see how manhood, perfected, May reach the nature of a god.

—Boston Watchman.

Plenty on Hand.

The thriftiness of a London shopkeeper is illustrated in a story told of a dry goods dealer. The merchant was of an excitable temperament, and on hearing his assistant say to a customer, "No, we have not had any for a long time," was unable to countenance such an admission.

He fixed his eyes on the assistant, and said to the customer: "We have plenty in reserve, ma'am, plenty up-stair."

The customer looked dazed for a moment, and the shopkeeper did not seem happy when his assistant informed him that the customer was speaking about the weather, and had remarked, "We haven't had any rain lately."

MOB ATTACKS LAKE SUPERIOR WORKS

Discharged Employes Start Rioting at Canadian Soo

THE TROOPS RESTORE ORDER

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Sept. 23.—The situation in the Canadian Soo, which has been the scene of serious rioting by the discharged employes of the Consolidated Lake Superior Company, who were put off with promises after they demanded their wages, is very grave. No reinforcements of militia have arrived from outside, and the only defense against the mob, which grows hourly, is a more or less demoralized police department and a small company of militiamen. An assault upon the office of the building by the mob before the arrival on the ground of the troops was successful, and a mass of frenzied rioters secured possession of the ground floor of the building, destroying everything movable that came in their path. A crowd of the office staff with drawn revolvers prevented their access to the upper floors of the building. Every window and door in the building is smashed in. The arrival of the troops on the grounds armed with ball cartridges served to restore some semblance of order. The rioters then contented themselves with throwing stones at the soldiers, who established a "dead line" and prevented any approach toward the building by any of the rioters. The greatest number of the mob are of ignorant Italians, Finns, Norwegians and Frenchmen, the latter perhaps the hardest of all to handle. All had been drinking more or less, although the bars finally obeyed the order to close up. The mob is one that cannot be reasoned with, and the men they seem most anxious to get at is Mr. Coyne, the assistant manager, who in the absence of Mr. Shields is in charge of the works. Mr. Coyne has discreetly kept out of sight.

The leaders of the mob held a conference and demanded that the company feed the men until the money for their wages is forthcoming. In order to appease the crowd, this demand was granted, and the men have taken possession of the White House, a large boarding house operated by the company. Provisions are being sent there to feed them. As their leaders are making the most inflammatory sort of speeches, grave fears are entertained for the outcome.

It is estimated that there are 2000 men in the Soo, and these are reinforced by all the idle rabble in town. A train carrying 400 more workmen is expected to arrive on the Algona Central.

The local police force is being strengthened by the addition of all the deputies who can be found, each man being given a badge and a revolver and ordered to use the latter whenever necessary. Considerable feeling has been aroused over the shooting of two Frenchmen by the police during the trouble. The mob threatens an attack upon police headquarters with a view of effecting the release of all the men who have been arrested. Both this building and that occupied by the fire department is guarded against attack.

These developments have created a problem which appears to be beyond the solution of any of the company officials on the ground. Apparently their only hope is that the anger of the mob will spend itself and that the men will get out of town by degrees.

RECEIVER FOR SUPERIOR

Judge Platt in Connecticut Appoints J. C. Carruth, of Philadelphia. New Haven, Conn., Sept. 23.—John G. Carruth, of Philadelphia, president of the Industrial Title and Trust Company, was appointed receiver for the Consolidated Lake Superior Company by Judge Platt in the United States district court. His bond was placed at $10,000.

The application for the receivership was presented by Judge Walter C. Noyes, of the firm of Noyes & Brandegee, of New London, in behalf of H. F. Rothermel, Jr., Samuel M. Clemens, Jr., and Joseph DeF. Junkin, of Philadelphia, attorneys for certain stockholders of the company. It was set forth in the application that the directors of the company had failed to take up the loan of $5,050,000 of Speyer & Co., of New York; that the actual value of the plant, as expressed in the amount expended in buildings, machinery and other properties, is far in excess of the amount of the loan; that the stockholders fear that if a forced sale were allowed they would lose the entire amount of their investment. A receiver was, therefore, asked for, and also a temporary injunction to prevent the sale of the property under foreclosure proceedings.

Fatally Shot His Playmate.

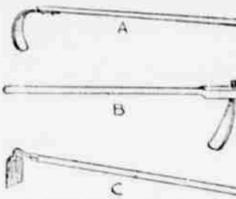

Brooklyn, N. Y., Sept. 26.—Russell Smith, aged 13, of Keyport, N. J., who has been on a visit to his cousin, James Rogers, aged 15, at the home of the latter's parents, is dying in the Norwegian Hospital as the result of a pistol shot wound inflicted by Rogers. Neither boy will tell the cause of the shooting and the revolver cannot be found. The boys have been thought to be the best of friends and when they were heard scuffling about in their room it was thought that they were romping. Suddenly there was a sound of a pistol shot and when Rogers' parents ran to the room they found Smith lying on the floor with a great wound in his abdomen. Rogers was placed under arrest.

HOW TO WEED ONIONS.

Unless One Has the Right Sort of Tools It is a Task That Tries One's Patience.

"Working onions" is a little harder than talking about it. I found it difficult to find the tools needed, or rather I needed in this section. All hoes had too wide handles, too short and not of proper shape, onions being two to six inches apart. I made what I needed from an old hinge, cut and bent round, as at (a), sharpened from inside and nailed on suitable handle. Another was made from a narrow plow fitted on an old handle, curved and sharpened from inside also; it is shown at (b). A third was made from an old hoe (c), cut two inches wide.

All these were kept sharpened by filing. They are not for deep or rough hoeing. They are used more as scrapes, to be drawn gently across rows. They cut grass and weeds and break the crust. Without these simple tools I do not see how I could have cleaned my crop out, as our little winter weeds set close to the ground were the greatest trouble. Have plowed and hoed three times and feel with one more thorough working my crop will be made.—J. J. Carmichael, in Farm and Home.

THE LADY-BUG FAMILY.

Its Members Are the Fruit Growers' Best Friends and Should Never Be Destroyed.

With their little red wrappers decorated with black polka-dots, the various members of the lady-bug family are gay and attractive members of the insect world. They are always man's friend, and get most of their living by preying on the destructive soft-bodied plant lice, the most common of which is the green aphid, which can commonly be found on house plants and rose bushes. The most striking example of the usefulness of the lady-bug to the horticulturists is seen in the case of Vedalia cardinalis, the bug which was imported from Australia and which saved the citrus trees of California by destroying the cottony-cushioned scale which was devastating the orange and lemon groves. In the study of the grain aphid it was found that a species of lady-bug preyed upon this pest. The former were observed to go down among the roots of the grain in the field in search of the aphides, and to pass the winter along with them in that situation. The larvae of the lady-bug also live principally upon insects which are destructive to garden and field crops.

First Ox-Tail Soup.

Ox-tail soup, now regarded as a national English dish, was first made by the very poor of Huguenot refugees from France, after the revocation of the edict of Nantes, because ox tails then had no market value.
