Planning Mill Fire.

Monday afternoon Stetler's planing was discovered to be on fire. The whistles blew and about 300 people appeared on the scene. For a while the wind was fierce and the fire spread to the destruction of the mill and all the handsome residence on the flats. By fierce fighting and work the fire was stopped at the proper.

The finished product of the plant and machinery had been removed. About 80,000 feet of lumber, a large number of coffins and lumber sheds were totally destroyed. Stetler Brothers' loss will amount to $100,000. No insurance. C. Stetlerburg lost the alley building and G. H. Steinger lost a small loss.

Water had not yet been turned on and if it had been, there would have been connections that could be used.

Sunbury fire department was called in 15 minutes. The outfit, and all, was at the Sunbury depot to start. At that time, the fire was favorable turn and the order countermanded.

The furniture had been removed from the houses in the neighborhood, and some of it had been damaged.

Bro. extend their heartfelt sympathy to all who so earnestly assisted in the mill part of the plant.

SWINEFORD.

GERMAN EMPEROR OPERATED ON

Polypus Removed From His Larynx By Professor Schmidt.

BULLETINS CAUSED SURPRISE

Berlin, Nov. 9.—Emperor William underwent an operation for the removal of a polypus from his larynx. The operation was performed by Professor Moritz Schmidt and was entirely successful. The only inconvenience suffered by his majesty is that he has been enjoined not to speak until the wound caused by the operation has been healed. The bulletins announcing the result of the operation caused much astonishment, even among court officials, who had no suspicion that his majesty was suffering from any affection of the throat. The emperor himself appears not to have known of the growth in his larynx until a few days ago, and to have sought no discomfort from it.

The North German Gazette publishes the report of Professor Johannes Orth, the famous ear, nose and throat specialist, who succeeded the late Prof. Virchow in the chair of pathological anatomy in the University of Berlin. Professor Orth made a microscopic examination, which shows that the polypus consisted of a very soft connective tissue containing very few cells. This tissue was covered all over with a scale epithelium, sharply defined from the tissue. A portion of the connective tissue is contained in the brown pigmented granules, which evidently were the result of former slight hemorrhages. The polypus also contained a large number of small-walled corpuscles.

"It is, therefore," says Professor Orth, "only a question of a benign connective tissue polypus."

The Court Circular made the following announcement: "The emperor went for a walk. No guests were invited to luncheon or dinner, but Count von Buelow, the imperial chancellor, was the emperor's guest at luncheon today."

The emperor received Count von Buelow and afterwards lunched with the empress and the count in his bedroom. Count von Buelow found the emperor as chatty and animated as usual. The emperor wore a dressing gown instead of a coat. He took liquid foods and did not indulge in the courses served. His general health has never been so good. He has not felt the ear affection which troubled him for years, and has quite outgrown the nervous trouble that formerly impelled him to incessant physical activity. It is stated that the emperor will continue to receive visitors on official business.

The growth in the larynx at once suggested that the emperor might be suffering from something worse than a simple polypus, but Professors von Landolt, Theodor Schmidt and Orth, who performed the operation, in replying to inquiries, declared that the growth was merely a "benign polypus," which is not likely to return or to be followed by any evil effects.

The following bulletin was issued: "The emperor spent the day quietly in his room. He slept throughout the night without interruption. The appearance of the small wound in the throat, and there is no pain or other discomfort in the throat. His majesty's temperature was 36.5, pulse 66. The surgeons expect that the emperor will be out of doors in a week. He has arranged a hunting trip for Friday, November 27."

NO NEW AMERICAN CARDINAL

Merry del Val and Mgr. Callagari receive the Red Hat.

Rome, Nov. 10.—The first secret consistory of the new pontificate has been held. No American cardinal was appointed. Several appointments of archbishops and bishops were made, including that of the Rev. J. J. Hartz as archbishop of Manila, Philippine Islands, who received the pallium at an extra consistory when he came to Rome for consecration. The Rev. Pedro Gonzalez y Estrada was appointed bishop of Havana, and the Right Rev. Maximilian Reynoso y Delcor, formerly bishop of Tlaxiengo, Mexico, was appointed titular bishop of Nocera.

The appointment of the two cardinals, Mgr. Merry del Val, the papal secretary of state, and Mgr. Callagari, archbishop of Padua, was announced by the pope, who said in Latin: "What have you to say?" In response the cardinals raised their caps as a sign of affirmation on their part.

This was all, so every doubt was laid at rest for the present regarding the appointment of another American cardinal.

Three Middies Dismissed For Hazing.

Washington, Nov. 7.—The secretary of the navy has signed the orders dismissing Midshipmen Joseph Drummond Little, John Henry Lofland and Earl Worden Chaffee from the service of the United States. All three midshipmen were members of the first class at the Naval Academy. They were convicted by court-martial on the charge of hazing. Little was appointed from Ohio, Lofland from Iowa and Chaffee from Wisconsin, all in 1893.

Cuts in All Rolling Mills.

Lancaster, Pa., Nov. 9.—Notices were posted at the Columbia rolling mill of a reduction of wages of puddlers from $4.50 to $4 per ton. The new scale goes into effect on November 23. Similar notices will be posted in all the mills of Eastern Pennsylvania.
