It is a matter of pride that we are able to present such an aray of the leading schools in 15 states and England, now using an advertising text book that has had its origin in Middleburg. The book is but little over one unty Seat Saturday and made a year old and the first edition was exhausted last March already, only eight month from the time it was printed, evening in town. The second edition has already been half exhausted. "Theory and Practice of advertising" is the first and only advertising text book in the world. When an advertising school and text book from Mibdleburg was first aunounced, it was sneered at by those in health for several years. Some 18 espent Sunday in town. They Middleburg who should have done every thing in their power to encourage it and make it a success. By this a, formerly of Adamsburg, visi- book alone. Middleburg has become more widely known not only in every father is A. L. Spangler, a storekeeper state of the Umon, but also in Canada and every Engitsh-speaking country on the globe, than by any one means.

This book has not yet fairly begun. We have not had either the time or mday in town. Mrs. Specht's the money to push this book as it rat Kissimmee is very poorly. | should have been pushed, $100,000 to Kern has installed a complete $200,000 per year could be profitably ne gas plant in his residence used to advertise this book. This amount may stagger some of our readers, but their is no occassion for that as about 21 million dollars have aiready been spent to advertise Royal Baking Powder.

1. Are you teaching your pupils, or are you examining them? Which should you When? Why?

If you are a noisy teacher, how about your school? Do all your pupils answer at once, or only one at a time?

How would you like to go to achool to a teacher such as you are?

Are you in the habit of calling your pupils "kids" "Dunnies" "Elack-heads,"

6. Do you use your coal ashes to erect a monument to your memory, in front of your school door ? 7. Do you prepare for your daily work, or do you "know it all" without any preparation?

Do you talk "down" to your pupils or do you appear to be a student among them? Which seems to attract the attention of your visitors the more, the noise in the school room, or the recitation?

10. Do you have any 'beer signs' among your decorations?

11. Is your blackboard full of scrawls and poorly arranged work?

12. Do you teach "books" or "subjects,"? Which? Why?

13. Do you teach "reading," or only the "pronunciation" of words?

14. Do you repeat the pupils' answer? Why?

Do you give "busy work" simply to keep pupils out of mischief? Do you allow waste paper on the floor for a whole week and then dump it on the school ground?

Are you a growing teacher, or have you reached the "dead-line"? 18. Do you permit pupils to destroy school property? 19. Are you alming to get through the book, or to have your pupils understand the subjects named in the text?

20. Do you allow pupils to walk up to you and ask questions while you are trying to duct a recitation ? Are you reading any educational journals?

22. Do you have any races between yourself and your pupils to find answers to questions asked in the book, and then call their performance a recitation?

23. Do you ask questions on the reading lesson "before" or "after" the lesson is read by the class? Do you ever encourage pupils to form mental pictures of what they read?
