DESTROYING CRICKETS.

We will tell you how we got rid of hundreds of crickets by means of a common white glazed jar...

THE PEACH.

LIVERPOOL, May 4, 1863. The question is often asked, how can we have the peach tree from the North?

It is generally conceded that peach will not do well by grafting in our climate. I can assure you that on peach stock it is just as safe as the apple.

BREAD-MAKING.—In order to have good bread, there are three things very essential—good flour, good rising, and a careful hand.

WHEAT BREAD.—Milk is the best wetting for bread-water will answer. Stir the wetting into the flour quite warm, then add the rising; stir it altogether to make a sponge.

AN EXCELLENT Pudding.—Take one pint and a half of milk, two eggs, and a small tablespoonful of flour...

REMEDY AGAINST MOTHS.—An ounce of gum camphor and one of the powdered shell of red pepper are measured in eight ounces of strong alcohol...

RAISED DISC.—Take some of the bread dough when light, knead a piece of butter as large as a hen's egg into dough enough to fill a long tin...

JOHNNY CAKE.—A Johnny cake, to be eaten with meat, should be made as follows:—One teaspoonful of sweet milk, one of buttermilk, a little salt and a little soda, stir in meal enough to make a soft batter...

IRISH BREAD.—Take two quarts of Indian meal pour on boiling water enough to make the meal quite wet; when cool, add a quart of flour, half a pint of rising, a little salt, and half a cupful of molasses...

Nature teaches a rotation in crops. A crop of pine is followed by one of oak, or some other deciduous tree. After wheat comes a crop of rag weed, and after potatoes the grass.

Wise and Otherwise.

A KENTUCKY ANECDOTE.—A Southern gentleman owned a slave, and a very intelligent fellow, who was a Universalist. On occasion he illustrated the intellectual character of his religion in the following manner: A certain slave had obtained a license of the baptists to preach. He was holding forth in the presence of many of his colored brethren at one time, when he undertook to describe the process of Adam's creation. Said he: "When God made Adam, He stooped down, scraped up a little dirt, wet it a little, warm it in do hands and squeeze it in the do right shape, and den lean it up against do fence to dry."

"When God made Adam, He stooped down, scraped up a little dirt, wet it a little, warm it in do hands and squeeze it in the do right shape, and den lean it up against do fence to dry."

COUNTRY STOCKS.—A travelling gen in passing a farm, saw a boy at work in the cornfield by the roadside, and being of an inquisitive turn of mind, stopped his horse, and thus addressed the youth: "My s-n, whose farm is this?" "Daddy's," was the laconic reply.

BEFORE AND AFTER.—Uncle Sam had a neighbor who was in the habit of working on Sunday, but after a while he joined the church. One day he met the minister to whose church he belonged.

EXPLICIT.—"Where is the rake, Samto?" "Will do hoe, massa?" "Well, where is the hoe?" "Will do rake."

"My s-n," said a quack of this city to a nervous old lady, "your case is a stratumary complaint." "Pray, doctor, what is that?" "It is the drooping of the nerves, ma'am; the nerves having fallen in the pizar, turns the chest becomes moribund, and the head goes tizzarize, tizzarize."

A CONTRA was lately sworn in as cook by corporal of the Iowa First Cavalry. Among other things he swore to do was the following: "You do solemnly swear that when this war is over you will make tracks for Africa straight fast."

"No, sir, I do not." "Now, sir, I put it to you—I put it to you on your oath—do you not drive the Rockingham coach?" "No, sir—I drive the horses."

"I've three cents left," said a loafer, so I'll buy a paper with it." "What paper will you buy?" said a friend, curious to learn the literary taste of his acquaintance.

In a little private conversation after the morning meal, between Cesar and Brutus, the latter asked the former how many dajaks he had eaten for breakfast. The imperial Cesar drew his robe around him and replied with dignity: "Et tu Brute!"

"I am astonished, my dear young lady, at your sentiments; you make me start." "Well, sir, I have been wanting you to start for the last hour."
