Wanted—On subscription, at this office, Wheat, Rye, Oats, Corn, and Buckwheat, for which the highest market prices will be paid—With the above offer a bounty before him no man can say that he is too poor to take the Democrat and pay for it.

Lieut. R. Nicholson of the 143rd regiment, who was wounded in the first battle of Gettysburg, died on Monday afternoon, the 13th, inst., and his body (in charge of his brother who left here after the battle, and remained with him till he died) was brought home on Friday. He was taken to the residence of his mother, in Salem, Wayne county, and buried in the family burial ground on Saturday last. Lieut. Nicholson was a prominent young member of the Luzerne bar, who has left troops of friends to mourn his early death. His age was 31 years.—Lucerne Union

A suspension of the Draft.—We learn that on Saturday night last, a bold and daring robbery was perpetrated in Troy, this county. It seems that some person or persons unknown, by means of a ladder, entered the Marshal's office, through a back window and stole therefrom all the books, papers, vouchers, blanks, &c., appertaining and belonging to the draft in this Congressional District. We have not learned definitely in what shape this robbery leaves the business of the Board, but we apprehend it must cause a suspension of the Draft in this District for some weeks at least, as a vast amount of labor must be performed before the papers can again be made ready for drafting. We hear that in some districts at least, the enrolling officers failed to prepare a copy. This is certainly a bold deed, and the Marshal should use every effort to detect the perpetrator.—Bradford Argus.

Died.

DETRICK.—In South Euton the 26 Mrs. Amy Detrick, wife of Mr. John Detrick, in the Sixty first year of her age.

Lives.

On the death of Samuel Bishop, who was killed in battle at Fredericksburg—and his four children, who were burned to death shortly after.

BY HIS BROTHER. Good people all I pray attend To these few lines that I have penned, As you love your homes, I pray bestow— Leave them not with children there.

My brother had four children, dear, Whom he did love with heart sincere. But he was called off to the war, And they were burnt—God knows what for.

In Nicholson he did reside, With four small children and a bride, He left to fight his country's war— He now is buried, we know not where.

He was a fair and comely man, As any that gazed our troubled land. His age, it was just twenty-eight, When he was hurried from his state.

At Fredericksburg on that dead day, Where guns did roar and dead men lay, My brother was among the slain— Of all his folks but one remains.

One night he dreamed that he came home, And found his children a nation— They cried and said that he must stay, Their Mother, she had gone away.

Little Joseph was the eldest boy, He was his fathers pride and joy. But he was burnt among the rest, And now's in heaven among the best.

The eldest was but five years old, The youngest, one, as we are told. These four babes, so young and fair, Were called to leave this world of care.

Their mother she had gone away, Intending but a little time to stay— Soon the house was all in flames, Her children suffered by the same.

Friends and neighbors hurried there To save them from the scorching fire. But, Alas! it was too late, To save them from a dreadful fate.

No mother there, in time to save, Their father, sleeping in his grave, With bitter cries, and tears, and groans, They speak their breath and in side their moans.

Close in the corner of one room, They all met their fearful doom, And ascended through the flames, To dwell in realms where Jesus reigns.

When the flames had ceased to roll, They were found burnt to a cinder, And gently laid beneath the ground, While many wept that stood around.

Now their sufferings all are o'er, They dwell upon that happier shore— In heaven there they sweetly rest, Close nestled in a Saviors breast.
