

"My son," said a fond parent to his offspring, after having surveyed the wonders of the London Crystal Palace. "My son, if you can tell me which of all these works of men pleased you the most. I will give you half a crown." "The yeal and ham pies," responded young hopeful, "give me the money."

Men, in respect to ceremonies, modes and laws, like a flock of sheep, will, in a body, if the bell wether can only be got to leap over a pole, continue to leap carefully over the same place when the pole has been taken away.

The Emperor of China, instead of paying the doctor as we do when we are unwell, the instant he is taken ill stop the pay of his physicians, and does not renew it until he is quite well again.

A man on being told that a certain kind of stove would save half the coal, said "I'll take two of them and save it all."

The East Indies boast of a nutmeg weighing four bunces, and not satisfied is now asking for "a grater."

Too THICK .- A good anecdote is told of a house-painter's son, who used to brush dexterously, but had acquired the habit of "putting it on too thick." One day his father, after having frequently sculded him for his lavish daubing, and all to no purpose gave him a severe flagellation.

"There you young rascal," said he, after performing the painful duty, "how do you like that ?"

"Weil, I don't know, dad," whined th boy in reply. "but it seems to me that you put it on a thunderin, sight thicker'n I did."

A clergyman of Des Moines upon hearing of Vice President Johnson's "incoherence" gave utterence to the following petition on the succeeding Sabbath :

"O Lord' may intemperance cease in our land ! Especially may it cease among our officers and rulers ; but O Lord, if they are . determined to get drunk in spite of all the warnings to the contrary, we beseech Thee not to permit them all to get drunk at one time !"

"Doctor, I want you to prescribe for me." The doctor feels her pulse. "There is nothing the matter, madam : you only need rest " Now, doctor, just look at my tongue-just look at it ! look at it ! Now I say wha does that need ?" "I think, that need rest toe." Exit madam, in a grect excitement.

WHAT IS A WOMAN ?- Victor Hugo, who has been at immense expense to pupularise himself as a poet with the female .sex, ges much farther, because he goes much deeper than the most malignant saint in the calender in his physiology of women. "A woman," observes this amuable herr of the Provencia bards, "a woman is simply a highly-improved style of demon." Alexander Dumas, the younger, with whom pulmonary consumption: is the only female relion, has uttered a great many outrageous impertinences concerning women. "Heaven," he exclaims, "in its merciful providence, gave no beard to women. because it knew that they could not hold their tongues long enough to be shaved."-"For the sake of women," observed the same individual, men dishonor themselves-kilthemselves ; and, in the midst of this univer sal carnage the creature who brings it to pass has only one thought in her mind, which is to decide whether she shall dress herself se as to look like an umbrella or like a dinnerbell.
