TUNKHANNOCK, PA

Wednesday, Nov. 1, 1865.

The recent announcement that no further action will be taken by the government authorities in the cases of persons, who evaded the several drafts and who assisted others in doing so, must afford very sensible relief to the beet nosed nigger equality editor up town. He must all a long have felt a "leetle shaky in his boots" least inquiry should be made into the manner in which he sneaked the draft of 1862. On this question and that of the fraudulent enrollment lists, when he got up and printed to save his fellow sneaks in Nicholson, he is very decidedly in favor of letting by-gones be by-gones.

THE LUXURY OF AN ABOLITION MILITARY OFFICER .- These shoulder-strap gentry, who feel so deeply about poor Sambo, have a wonderful facility in putting him to practical use, in point. Without giving a name, a corrispondent of the New York World thus sketches the luxury of a "prominent officer" in Charleston, "who uses a darkey in the double capacity of a fan and fly brush :"

"On entering the captain's headquarters, you find him seated in a comfortable chair, while a negro stands beside him, fan in hand, keeping from his face obtrusive flies. With all their luxurious laziness, no Southern man has gone so far as this; we cannot, however, refrain from an expression of admiration of the inventive genius of this officer. Why should he, poor fellow, come down here, among a conquered an uncivilized people, to be worried to death by a pestering bluetailed fly? Why shall the perspiration pour from his precious face in this horrible hot cradle (and grave) of secession? Why should he first be stewed by the sun, and then devoured and digested by the tantalizing flies, in this land of the palmetto and nigger, when by the use of the former, in the shape of a fan, and the latter, in the shape of a nigger, he can be rendered cool and flyless ?'

CHANGES IN THE CABINET .- The Washington correspondent of the Sunday Mercu

Rumors are rife, and we believe them to be true, of changes soon to occur in the cabmet of President Johnson. The names of distinguished Statesmen are mentioned, as probable, to occupy these high positions; but with what cer: ainty time alone will develope. Prominent amongst those whom report fixes firmly upon is the Hon. Thomas B. Florence of Pennsylvania, who so long, so acceptably and so faithfully represented the vital and material interests of the city of Philadelphia in the Congress of the United States. It is said and believed that Mr. Florence has been invited to accept the position of Secretary of the Navy in the Cabinet of President Johnson. The names of the Hon. James Hughes, of Indiana; of the Charles Mason, of Iowa of the Hon. W. Groesback, of Ohio; of Gov. B. F. Percy of South Carolina, as probable to occupy seats in the reconstruction of Presdent Johnson's Cabinet is freely discussed.

Alexander H. Stephens.

The release of this distinguished Southerner, by President Johnson, appears to be received in all parts of the country with acclamation. Even the radicals seem ashamed to assail it. But the great joy manifested at this act of Executive clemency, is in the South, and especially in Georgia, the home of Mr. Stephens. The Augusta Constitutionalists alluding to it, remarks :

"It gives us a most sincere pleasure to thus announce the release from captivity of the Honorable Alexander Hamilton Stephens Georgia's favorite champion and son. For very near five weary months, the frail body that enshrines so great a soul has languished in prison walls, but, upborne by a noble spirit, Mr. Stephens has survived his every discomfort, and is now free to return to the bosom of that State whose hearts beat responsive to his own. In what measure incarceration may have effected his health, only too feeble at best, we have, as yet, no means of knowing; but if the warmest sympathy and affection of all Georgia can atone for all his yet remaining years, the orator of the pendence." South may rest assured that and affection are all his own. We bid him, and we know that in doing so we but speak the sentiments of our people, a cordial welcome home,"

Mr. Stephens has been making a tour through the North. He was recently closeted, and had an interview with President Johnson, and says it is his purpose to support the policy of President Johnson for the reconstruction of the Union, to the full ex tent of his ability and influence.

Frightful Steamboat Explosion on the Hudson River--Seven Passengers Killed and Seventeen Wounded.

New York, Oct. 29 .- This morning, at s quarter before six o'clock, while abreast of Twentieth street, North river, the port boiler of the steamboat St. John, of the People's Albany line, exploded. Seven persons were killed, seventeen scalded and one is missing. There were only about 100 persons aboard, so that the casualties are not so great as they would have been at the height of the summer

At the time of the explosion the engine was making about 13 revolutions per minute and she was carrying steam pressure faom 26 to 28 lbs per square inch. The St. John usually carries 30 lbs. and is licensed for 35 lbs, but the safety valves are weighed at 33 lbs. None of the engineers present could give us the cause of the explosion, and all regard it as a profound mystery which can only be solved by a thorough investigation. At the time of the explosion there were two firemen in the boiler room, one of whom, Frenchman, name unknown, jumped overboard and swam for the shore, but is believed to have been drowned. The other ran out on the main deck and escaped all

The steam, owing to the position of the boiler, did not affect the main deck as much as it did the main saloon, but John Anderson, a deck hann, was severely burned.

The rent in the boiler, which was fortunately located between the guards, is about 6 feet long and 3 deep, leaving an opening into which four men could easily enter the when they get down South. Witness a case boiler. The whole upper edge of the sheet is torn off, revealing the entire inner part of the boiler. The steam was followed by tons of scalding water, which passed through the state rooms 119, 121 and 122, and rolling in a torrent across the deck entered the opposite staterooms, and in a few seconds the boiling sea was at least five inches deep on the floor and adjacent rooms.

The explosion completely demolished state-rooms Nos. 121 and 128 and wrecked No. 119 in a terrible manner, and tore up the hurricane deck, making splinters for a long

As soon as the accident happened the ferryboat, Norristown went to the assistance of the St. John, and after some delay she was brought to her berth, pier 41, North

Medical assistance was immediately se cured in the persons of Drs. Ball and White. and up to the time of their arrival Captain Peck and Mr. Colgrove, the clerk aud all the attaches of the boat did every thing in their power to alleviate the sufferings of the unfortunates.

As soon as she came to the dock, the police took possession of the entrance and kept off the throng which had heard of the disas. ter, and eagerly sought information. The scene on board was sad. Forward, near the engine room bulkhead, lay the dead, first a mother and her children, next a mother and child, whose husband and father lay at the other end of the saloon, suffering tortures inexpressible; next a mother and wife, and by her head sat the husband. He was alive, so was their child. He had gone out of their room just before the accident occurre A man lay in this group.

The Democracy have been obliged. to bear much ill-will under the charge of being "Southern Sympathizers." But presto, change,-Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, has become the greatest "Southern Sympathizer" in the country, and the crime has lost all its criminality in the estimation of the Republican party.

Over 3,500 pardons have been grant ed by the President, to the great and unutterable disgust of our Northern shoddies who longed to "cotton" plantations in Dixie.

A Son of Old John Brown Advises the Negroes to Arm and Demand their Bights.

On the 23d quite a sumber of negroes, rom different parts of the States, met at Put-in-Bay for the purpose of celebrating the anniversary of the issuing of the emancipation proclamation by President Lincoln. The crowd present celled upon John Brown. son of old Ossawattomie Brow, who resides upon Put in Bay island, and invited him to address them. Mr. Brown accepted the invitation and addressed the negroes. A Republican friend of ours who was present, and in whose veracity we have the greatest confidence, has furnished us with the following synopsis of the main points of the speech :

Mr. Brown opened his remarks by referring to the occasion which had called them together, and after some complimentary remarks in regard to President Lincoln, and a lengthy dissertation upon the noble qualities of the black race, he said :

"My colored friends, you have now right to one box, and that is the cartridge box; but there are two other boxes which you ought to claim. One of which is the ballot-box, and the other is the jury box. If the white people fail to give you these, and if you cannot get them in a peaceable way, I advise you to arm yourselves and demand your full rights from the government."

In order to impress this idea; more firmly on the minds of his hearers, Mr B. gave the statistics of the number of negroes in the United States, Canada, and Hayti, and said : "They can be depended upon, and will aid you in your struggle for your rights."

Mr. Brown, in alluding to the colonization scheme, said:

"There is some talk of colonizing you, my colored brethren, in some far off State or clime. I advise you not to listen to any such a monstrous proposition Do not go but, on the contrary, remain here fight for your rights if necessary. You will be aided in the contests by many of your white brethren. The son of old John Brown will never deceive you," &c.

In concluding his speech, Mr. Brown gave the negroes the following advice:

"Remember your arms, keep your bayonets bright, and be ready for the coming is-

It is hardly necessary for us to comment on the speech of Mr. Brown. Our readers will fully understands what he means. -They will see that he is but following in the footsteps of his father, who was hung for getting up an insurrection in Virginia, capturing the government armory at Harpers Ferry, and for the murder of innocent persons. The younger Brown seems to have inherited the insane ideas of his father, and, if possible, is more bold in his enunciation of his opinions than was his ancestor .- Ottawa (Ohio) News.

An Old Mexica n City' Discovered.

Advices from Mexico give an account of the discovery of an ancient city immersed in an almost impenetrable forest in the vicinity of Ilco. The position for ages, has guarded its vast solitudes against invasion. With great difficulty a party has finally penetrated its depths, and discovered vestiges of streets. which were followed until the discovery of two houses of rather singular construction, covered with triangular vaulted or arched roots, one of which was entered, when they discovered an extensive court, and in it many stone idols, which were carried to Nuanchiin ango. They found passages crossing in every direction, but many of the doors and entrances were stopped up with stones, tapis, and mud mortar, so that when they had separated in the course of the investigation, it was necessary to fire pistols and shout in a loud voice in order to get together again .-Some of the parties report having found the ruins of stone columns and stone stairs leading to high places, which, when struck, gave evidence of vaults below. A more extensive exploration is to be made.

THE LAST ROMANTIC AFFAIR .- In a recent elepement from New York, an editor describe the lady as fair, fat and forcy-one, who led the fashions, the tea drinkings, the prayer meetings, and charitable lists, in her own little clique-had a fortune in her own right, and was thus an independent woman, also possessing several olive branches and a husband. She met and loved a maker of pills. upon whose young brow (according to the novelists) scarce nineteen summers had shone. She therefore presented him with herself, her forty winters, and some thousands of dollars in very hard cash, thus gilding the pills for him to swallow. They have gone over the seas; there was no pursuit, for the grief stricken family have wisely resolved to let them go"their way, eventually by far the greatest sufferers of all.

There is more truth in the following admission from the N. Y. Times, a republican journal, than we are accustomed to find in the comments of papers of that party on the same subject.

"There can be no doubt that the country is tired and disgusted with the extreme and extravagant style in which the claims of the negro have been pressed. By a very active and reremtory school of political and social reformers, the claims, interests, courage and character of the whites have been made wholly sabordinate to those of the blacks. There must in the nature of things, be a reaction to all this and the Connecticut election indicates that it has begun."

The report that President Johnson advised the repudiation of the rebel debt by North Carolina is correct. He telegraphed to Gov. Holden: "Every dollar of the State debt created to aid the rebellion against the United States, should be repudiated finally and forever."

Appointment of a Day of National Thanksgiving.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28, 1863. By the President of the United States of America :

Whereas, It has pleased Almighty God, during the year which is now coming to an end, to relieve our beloved country from the fearful scourge of civil war, and permit us to secure the blessing of peace, unity and harmony, with a great enlargement of civil liberty; and

Whereas, Our Heavenly Father has, also during the year, graciously averted from us the calamities of foreign war, pestilence and famine, while our granaries are full of the fruits of an abundant season; and

Whereas, Righteousress exalteth a nation. while sin is a reproach to any people:

Now, therefore, I, Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, do hereby reccommend to the people thereof, that they do set apart and observe the first Thursday of December as a day of National Thanksgiving to the creator of the Universe for these deliverances and blessings.

And I do f urther recommend that on that occasion the whole people make confession of our national sins against His infinite goodness, and with one heart aud one mind implore the Divine guidance in the ways of national virtue and holiness.

In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand, and caused the seal of my hand to be affixed. Done at the City of Washington, this twenty-eighth day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-five, and of the indepen dence of the United States the ninetieth. TOWN TALK.

I rede ye tent it : And, faith, he'll prent it."

There hasn't much of anything that de mands particular attention occurred within the week just past. There was one or two sprees in one of which a gentleman whose shape somewhat re sembles the name of the author of Hiawatha, (being a Long fellow) took a leading part, highly edifying gaping crowd of loafers and boys, by his ridiculous antics. Saturday night a young man went rather leeper into the pictures than was called for. But whiskey does not have such a loud effect upon him as upon the generality of spreeites around here. He stands at the bar, fills his skin full, and weaves back and torth; his tongue thickens up, articulation becomes indistinct, and he stands, or rather leans, a ludicrous and helpless object, with all traces of what might be a gentleman completely obliterated. What an intense disgust he must have of himself the next morning.

There has been considerable of a stirring among the would be "bloods," since last publication day. Dire have been the anathemas showered upon Town Talk's meddlesome and impudent head .-Noses, which nothing but the smell of whiskey has affected for years, received the most hostile and blood-thirsty sniffs. Town Talk must be squelched. They would wait upon the edit or and see if his paper was to be made the vehicle for conveying all the vile scurrility of the bar-room into the family circle. Keep your tempers gentlemen. The best way to "squelch" own Talk is to give us no occasion to use our pen as a sort of rod of correction over the transgression of your passions. Stop making the nights hideous with your drunken carousals .-Stop degrading and destroying yourselves by asso ciating with those vile reptiles in human form, who crawl around the low dens of the town, and Town Talk will cease to trouble you. Your threats will not do a particle of good.

Wom en are considerable of an institution after all the crabbed old bachelors may say to the contrary. They have a humanizing and refining tendency. They will take a man that is careless and slovenly, and before a month of married life has solled by, have him look as sleek and clean as new button : with his neck-tie in place and neatly tied, buttons all sewed on, and a general air of tidiness about him to which he was formerly a stranger; and the self-satisfied and conscious air he has about him, and the manner of speaking of "My wite," is particularly stunning. We have been no-ticing this change come over one of our friends, who not long ago took unto himself a rib; and have also observed the great improvement in his habits. All honor, say we, to the cause. There is a number of young men laying around town sort of loosely, that we would advise to "go and do likewise."

Hasty & Twombly spread what they called Polyorama of the War, before a crowd of the curious, on Wednesday and Thursday evening last. It was evidently meant to represent a fight of some kind, but whether some of the great battles of our civil war, of the Crimean war, or a Tunkhannock plug muss, we could not determine. Their closing scene, "Unnamed Heroes," was good, and worth the price of admission; the rest was a bore.
