Penmanship .-- J. S. Multer, teacher of Penmanship, proposes to visit this place for the purpose of getting upa class in plain and ornamental penmanship. He will probably be here the fore part of next week. We have one or two very fine specimens of his work and have no hesitation in saying that he is an "A. No. 1," quill-driver.

Wild Cherry Balsam, -- The memory of Dr. Wistar is embalmed in the hearts of thousands, whom his Balsam of Wild Cherry has cured of coughs. colds, consumption, or some other form of Pulmonary disease. It is now over forty years since this pre paration was brought before the public, and yet the demand for it is constantly increasing.

Serious Accident, -- Mr. D. T. Sterling of Meshoppen, who, with his wife and daughter, had started on a journey to Philadelphia, on Friday last, in coming down the hill near Morgan Maxwell's in Washingtom Tp , had the tongue of his carriage broken; when his horses ran away, upset the carriage, broke Mrs. Sterling's leg and somewhat injured her daughter. Dr. Wells of this place, who, fortunately for them, was with them and escaped unhurt set the bones, bound up the bruises, enabling them to return home on the same day.

The Change in the advertisement of Ross, Mills | payment. & Co, --- which will be found in our paper to-day, discloses the present character of their business, They propose to keep up a first class Hardware Store in all its branches. In order to confine themselves exclusively to this line of trade they are now effering the remainder of their stock of Dry Goods, Clothing Boots & Shoes, Hats & Caps, at prices below the present wholesale city prices --- Call and secure bar-

Fire at Meshoppen .-- The new Carriage Shop of R. J. Hallock, at Meshoppen, with a large amount of made up work, stock and tools and materials stored therein was entirely destroyed by fire on Monday morning, last, The fire originated from the bursting of a Kerosene oil lamp which one of the hands was lighting, about 4 o'clock in the morning. The lamp-lighter was seriously burned, but with great presence of min l, saved himself from death by recklessly rolling in a pool of muddy water near by. The loss to Mr. Halleck amounts to about $5000, about half of which is covered by insurance.

Juan Ponce De Leon -- a visionary of the olden time, is said to have spent his life, in a vain search after that fabulous spring, whose waters were reported to restore health, youth and beauty to all who drank of them. In his old age, he found, not the spring --- but that he has wasted the Spring and Summer of his life, in pursuit of a mere phantom of the imagination. The De Leons are not all dead. But they can avoid the deep sorrow and disappointment of the old Mr. Leon, by repairing to the Soda-founnow in full operation at Dr. Rhoad's new-drug-sto re, where such a pleasant and health-giving beverage is dispensed, as does not make make you "Think of your head in the morning."

The Horse, and other live stock; By Robert Jennings, Veterinary Surgeon, author of "Horse Training Made Easy," a work of upwards of 1200 pages, bound in leather, is now being sold to sub- the land. scribers by Mr. S. L. Howell, agent To every practical sensible man it is worth a cart-load of the trashy books purchased by some. Every farmer at least should have a copy---to whom it would prove an invaluable hand-book.

The work treats of the history and varieties of Horses, Cattle, Sheep, &c., and their diseases, their crossings and breeding and the best method for their feeding and general management, and is intended as a complete guide to tarmers and others.

Rain in this place, up to Sunday last, is said by those who have kept a record of it, to have occurred within every twenty-four hours for fortythree days consecutively. This period will be long remembered and spoken of by all as the "rainy s eason." In duration it exceeded, by three days, the tamous flood of Noah's time. We are not aware however that anybody had laid the foundations of an ark. It was thought no doubt, as by the sinners in the olden time, that it wouldn't be much of a shower after all, or that the new canal boat now about finished by Mr. Flickner, would carry all those who would have through tickets for the excursion. The difference in the amount of rain between this and Noah's flood, has probably saved some folks in these parts, from some pretty tall wading---if not from a baptism by total immersion.

The Public Schools at this place we learn, will be opened on Monday next. The directors have secured the services as principal teacher of Mr, Thompson Bodle, who is recommended by our County Superintendant and others acquainted with him, as a very competent and efficient teacher. As assistants, and for the primary departments, Miss Sarah White and Miss E. Overfield, are engaged --With these teachers, unless their capacities for the positions have been grossly over estimated, all that will be required to afford us good schools for the season, is a hearty support and co-operation in the work on the part of parents' pupils. Without this, the best of teachers and schools will fail to do all that could and should be done. The Teachers should, at least, find no unnescesary obstacles in their way; for to those who go about their work with an honest, earnest will to do their whole duty there is always enough to keep their heads, hands, and hearts fully employed.

A Few More Left .-- A few-say ten or a dozen, of those persons of whom some one, long ago asserted : they were "not all dead," were found to be alive, and around on circus day. A smooth-faced, curly-haired, Peter-Funk and sharper, on that eventful day, with a horse and open buggy drove at headleng speed into the very center of town, stopped, and rising up, in a loud voice, like one crying in the wilderness, announced to the asmore of the filthy stuff than he knew what to do with-was going to give some to the people of this poverty-stricken town-so help him Johny Bull !" He then proceeded to sell to the first comer a genuine $10, Greenback for $9,-Then $5, for $4-then one dollar bills for seventy-five cents; and when he got down to the ragged stamps he scattered them to the winds and they fell like a shower of blessings on the heads of his gaping auditors; assuring them at the same time in his most emphatic tones, that he wasn't drunk nor crazy, but that he understood his "biz." All right so tar. Then came massive gold lockets worth as he said $10, which he sold for $5 right yet. Then came solid gold rings for $2. each will find a cure for Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis and the money returned to the taker --- All right, again. Sharper at this point in the game-started up his horse a few feet and threatened to leave the town, but repenting of this harsh resolution stopped The flats followed and were again around him as thick as--boys and girls a round a school house. He again proceeded to sell lockets---at $5. each, which were greedily taken --- the takers supposing that they would get back their money, as before. After making a dozen or more persons supremely happy with this delusion --- and their glittering prizes, Mr. Funk started up again, just a little, to get his borse out of the rush, and having done so turned around with hat in hand, a bland smile upon his face, and with sundry graceful bows, bade his generous patrons an patrons and sundry graceful bows, bade his generous patrons and see from ell injurieds properties.

affectionate good-byc! Putting whip to his horse, he dissappeared from the straining eyes of the "spoonies" like the baseless fabric of a dream ; who to console themselves had, each, a brass trinket, worth at least, fifteen cents, and a vacant place in in their pockets for a $5. bill, Their countenances indicated that the ideas that; "All is not gold that glitters, " and that "The fools were not all dead," had just found a foothold in their unsophistica ted noddles. They retired from the scene, wiser, if not

WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHER-RY.

This remedy has long been cherished by the comnunity for its remarkable efficacy in relieving, healing and curing the most obstinate, painful and longtanding cases of Cough, Cold, Influenza, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Whooping Congh, Croup, Asthma, Inflammation of the Lungs; while even Consumption itself has yielded to its magic influence when all other means have failed. Its whole h istory proves that the past has preduced no remedy of equal value, as a cure for the numerous and dangerous pulmonary affections which prevail all over

UNSOLICITED TESTIMONY.

From Andrew Archer, Esq., of Fairfield, Me, "About eight years since my son, Henry A. Ar-her, now Postmaster at Fairfield, Somerset Co., Me., was attacked with spitting of blood, cough, weakness of Lungs, and general debility, so much so that our family physician declared him to have a "SEATED CONSUMPTION." He was under medical treatment or a number of months but received no benefit from t. At length, from the solicitation of himself and others I was induced to purchase one bottle of WIS-TAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERKY, which beneffitted him so much I obtained annother bottle, which in a short time restored him to his usual state of health. I think I can safely recommend this remedy to others in like condition, for it is, I think, all it purports to be—The Great Lung Remedy for The Times! The above statement, gentlemen, is my voluntary offering to you in favor of your Balsam and is at your disposal."
