OIL! OIL!

The Oklahoma City Oil Company has paid the first quarter of an eight per cent dividend. It is only a half a year old. Three oil and two gas wells flowing. Two wells going down. Wouldn't you like to take some stock? Call, on or write, H. C. MCKINLEY, Meyersdale, Pa. ad

SECRET OF CAPITAL BOOZE JOINT

This is not a story of "the black hand" nor has it anything to do with palmistry. Neither is it a tale of digital surgery workings. It is simply the story of the "open sesame" to the first class beer and wiskey joint that is maintained in the State Capitol.

If you are one of the "elite"—and to become one you need only, in case you drink, to have "gone along" on some of the important pieces of liquor interest legislation that got through both House and Senate this session—you can get all the booze you want.

Room 249, located on the Senate side of the central corridor of the Capitol, on the same floor as are both Senate and House, is fitted out with a complete line of booze as one could well desire. Wiskey, beer, and "soft" drinks are to be had without stint, the only requisite being capacity and an ability to keep quiet about the "joint."

Entrance is gained in the usual manner of opening a door. But to do this a key must be had. Now to use a key to 249 requires some finesse.

Place your right hand—the left will do, of course,—on the frosted glass panel in the door of 249, then knock gently with your free hand.

You needn't even call, "Open, Sesame!" for a kindly hand will perform that function.

Almost silently the latch will click and you can step inside and drink your fill.—Harrisburg Patriot

AMISH ATTENDED CONFERENCE.

On June 5th a party of eighteen left on train 15, for Pigeon, Huron county, Mich., to attend the Bible and Sunday school conference of the conservative branch of the Amish church. The conference was in session for three days, June 9th, 10th and 11th, where many questions of vital importance to the denomination were considered. These highly respected and well-known people were in attendance, Joel Hershberger, and wife, Jonas Yoder and wife, Milton Bender, Simon Yoder and wife, Amelia Bender, Val Bender, Laura Lee, of Elk Lick, R. D., Rev. Jonas Miller and wife and Lizzie Miller, of Grantsville, Md., Noah Breneman and wife of Bitinger, Md., L. J. Swartzentruber, and wife of Oakland, Md., Mrs. Henry Opel, Meyersdale, No. 2.

There were present at this conference about four hundred representatives from different sections of the county.

After this conference adjourned the party from this locality also scattered, some visiting relatives and friends in the west, others went sight seeing. Val Bender, Joel Hershberger, and wife, crossed the Canada border and visited a number of places of interest. At Baden, Canada, Rev. Mr. Miller preached a number of times very acceptably to interested audiences. In the locality in which these people visited in Canada, oats is the principal grain that is raised, and ensilage corn is also a very important farm product. On their return trip from Canada they visited Niagara Falls, coming through Buffalo, and Pittsburgh and arrived home on Saturday evening tired, but well pleased with their trip. Others of the original party of eighteen returned earlier in the week, while some are still on their western visit. Part of the time they encountered cold and rough weather, but also the hot wave later on.

A ride on Lake Michigan was much enjoyed by all who tried the boat.

MINERS PASS EXAMINATIONS.

THE RAIN-DROPS.

How beautiful the sound of the rain-drops. As to the earth they fall. The thirsty flowers look up and nod. Their thanks to the giver of all.

How lovely the sound of the rain-drop. After the drought we've had. The good God in his kindness. Maketh all things glad. O. M.
