Money to Move the Crops.

The time is fast approaching for the moving of crops in the west and these seasons invariably occasion a great stringency in money in the west. The Secretary of the Treasury is making great efforts to reduce this stringency to a minimum and has taken steps to place large sums of money at the disposal of the banks in the western states such as Chicago, Indianapolis and other cities, and these cities are to be distributing centres for large scopes of country where the banks of the larger towns will be centres for smaller sections of country. The plan of the secretary seems feasible. While this will help very much to relieve the situation, at the same time the precaution is taken to amply secure the government in this big transaction.

Tariff Debate Goes On.

The tariff measure is still absorbing the attention of the Senate. The Senate is almost equally divided on the bill that is before that body. Recently one of Alabama's senators, a supporter of the measure, died, so that with the loss of this supporter and the defection on the Democratic side on some of the schedules, makes the fight more keen and divides the upper branch of Congress that those who honestly believe in the reduction of the tariff realize that the margin is uncomfortably narrow and not any too certain for real tariff reform.

But regardless of what Congress may finally do, the nation is ready and anxious to have a new tariff law enacted. "A full dinner pail" and "a high tariff" slogan no longer appeal to the masses for they have all lived under the high protective system and they are still in the ditches.

Tammany vs. Sulzer.

Tammany is a great, a powerful and an ancient political organization with a history. To belong to Tammany is to hold membership in an organization that has power behind it. The history of Tammany has not been a history of unselfishness. Tammany first and the state second seems to be the guiding principle. Her members must take orders and execute the same, Wm. Sulzer was a Tammany man. He was elected governor and on his election he attempted to free himself from Tammany domination.

This has resulted in a contest between Tammany with Murphy at the head, and Sulzer, governor of New York. The public admired the stand Sulzer had taken, his fight for independence and his spirit of defiance toward Tammany, but when a man fights an organization that is tainted, he ought to be free from the organization's taint, and it looks as if Sulzer was not quite as he claims to be, and that is the unfortunate part. He is against Tammany because Tammany is so wicked and it looks as if Sulzer was wicked himself.

A large portion of the people who looked to New York during the campaign for the nomination, and prior to the election for governor of that state, were somewhat amazed when William Sulzer should be regarded as the foremost democrat in the Empire state. Will he come through the test clean, or will he be discredited by everybody.

Mars on a Rampage.

The Mexican situation has been critical for some time. The government of Mexico has been unstable, consequently unsatisfactory to foreign nations and unsafe to the people at home.

A ruler whose pathway to his position is clouded, and whose acts towards his predecessor are not above suspicion. It is because of these things that the government declined to recognize the Huerta government, and at the same time has been dissatisfied with ambassador Wilson, as a consequence his resignation was demanded and ex-Governor John Lind, of Minnesota has gone to Mexico as the personal representative of the President. Much depends upon the report of Mr. Lind in shaping the future course of our government. Huerta is reported to have spoken strongly and bitterly against the United States, and the attitude of Mexico and the people toward representative Lind was regarded as bitter.

Thus far representative Lind has not been molested and perhaps Huerta has cooled off somewhat. There is an element in this country that would like nothing better than war, but there is a sane element here that believes war can be averted. It must not be forgotten, however, that millions of American dollars have been invested in Mexico, and those who invested their money are entitled to the protection of their lives as well as their possessions in all parts of the civilized world. The nation must make good in protecting her citizens and their rights wherever they may be.

With all the disturbances and unstable government in Mexico, with all the hatred toward the United States, it is believed that the cooler heads of both countries will be able to bring order out of chaos and security out of danger.

MR. FARMER, you are expected to be in the parade on Farmers' Day.

THE new fountain would show up better at night if the lights were turned on.

GOV. SULZER slept while the New York assembly impeached him. Don't worry.

IN time of peace prepare for war. In time of slack business prepare for big business—advertise in The Commercial—the paper with the growing circulation.

THE time is here to hustle out the candidates. Stand Pat, Bull Moose, Washington Party, Democrat, Socialist, Prohibitionist, etc., etc., get to work and throw your hat in the ring.

FIRM DISSOLVES PARTNERSHIP.

In this issue appears the dissolution notice of the firm of Appel & Glessner. Both are splendid young men in the prime of life. The former retires from the firm, the latter assumes charge. May the future of both be rich in prosperity.

BRIDGE INSPECTORS.

Curtis K. Bruner, Edward B. Sechler and Edward Jones, who had been appointed by the court to inspect the bridge recently erected over North Fork Creek, in Lincoln township, near the residence of John Queer, yesterday filed a report in which they find that the span has been constructed according to the plans and specifications on which the contract was awarded. County Bridge Superintendent Albert E. Reiman has filed a report in which he concurs with the finding of the inspectors.

A SLIP OF THE TONGUE

Aunt Mandy had obviously no intention of perverting the truth, but testimony had been so evidently colored by the excitement of the occasion that at its conclusion the judge requested the court stenographer to read the transcript, so that the witness might correct her statements.

The stenographer began:
"What is your name?"
"Amanda Johnson."
"What is your age?"
"Fifty-eight."
"For de land's sakes, jedge!" broke in the excited Amanda. "Did Ah say Ah was fifty-eight yeahs old? Ah mus' have been plumb frustrated—Ah shorely mus'. Why, dat aint my aige, jedge—dat's mah bus' measure!"

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that W. C. Appel and A. S. Glessner trading as Appel & Glessner have, this day by mutual agreement, dissolved partnership—W. C. Appel retiring from the firm.

From this time forth the business will be conducted by Albert S. Glessner, sole proprietor, who has assumed all known obligations of the firm.

All accounts due the old firm are payable at once at the office of the store.

There First.

The lovely girl having lingered a minute in her room to adjust her transformation, change the angle of her Grecian band and make sure that her skirt fitted like the peeling of a plum, descended to the parlor to find the family pet ensconced upon the knee of the young man caller, her curly head nestled comfortably against his shoulder.

"Why, Mabel," the young lady exclaimed, "argnt you ashamed of yourself! Get right down."
"Shan't do it," retorted the child.
"I got here first."—Exchange.

Six and Half a Dozen.

Doctor Forlyce sometimes drinks a good deal at dinner. He was summoned one evening to see a lady patient, when he was more than half-seas over and conscious that it was so. Feeling her pulse, and finding himself unable to count its beats, he muttered, "Drunk certainly!" Next morning, recollecting the circumstance, he was greatly vexed; and just when he was thinking what explanation of his behavior he should offer to the lady, a letter from her was put into his hand. She too well knew, said the letter, that he had discovered the unfortunate condition in which she was when he last visited her; and she entreated him to keep the matter secret, in consideration of the hundred pound bank-note which she enclosed.—Modern Eloquence.

Misfit Labels.

"Economizing sometimes produces ludicrous results," a woman said. "When we moved last October we used travelers' tags to label the kitchen supplies, and when we went traveling in May we tried to save money by using those same tags which, as luck would have it, happened to get fastened on wrong side up, and when we got down to the pier all our luggage was labeled 'Sugar,' 'Flour,' 'Prunes,' 'Bread,' and 'Roast Pork,' instead of Laura, Margaret, and Pauline Smith, and although we finally got straightened out, you really cannot blame the crew for slyly poking fun at us all the way over."

Change in Wireless Operations.

On vessels having but one wireless operator, it will be hereafter necessary to train a member of the crew to act as a relief to attend the instrument for ten minutes during each hour to detect any distress signals.

Owing to the fact that my large business at Doe Gully prevented me from going to the city earlier, the slashing of prices must be delayed. I have purchased heavily in Philadelphia and Baltimore and as a consequence the store will be filled with the choicest and best goods of the eastern market. I have bought right and will sell right. Your advantage is as usual to purchase your needs at my store.

The Doctor Quit Talking.

A doctor who had a custom of cultivating the lawn and walk in the front of his home every spring engaged O'Brien to do the job. He went away for three days and when he returned found O'Brien waiting for his money. The doctor was not satisfied with the work and said:
"O'Brien, the work is covered with gravel and dirt and in my estimation it's a bad job."
O'Brien looked at him in surprise for a moment and replied:
"Shure, Doc, there's many a bad job of yours covered with gravel and dirt."

Notice to Contractors.

Notice is hereby given that bids will be received by the undersigned until 7 o'clock p. m., Saturday, August 30th, 1913, for the following described work:
1. The paving with brick of Main street from Centre street to the west boundary line of the alley at the parsonage of the Brethren church.
2. The construction of a concrete culvert across Keystone street, near the property of Buhl & Gatesman.
3. The construction of concrete steps on Centre and Broadway streets at the properties owned by the Maul and Deal estates.
Plans and specifications for each of the above jobs, and all particulars may be secured upon application to C. E. Deal, chairman of the street committee of the borough. Work to be started not later than Sept. 15th. The council reserves the right to reject any or all bids. By order of the borough council.
E. J. DICKHEY,
Secretary.
