WILLS.

The will of ex-County Commissioner Rush S. McMillen, late of Upper Turkeyfoot twp., was probated. He left his estate to his widow, Rachel Melissa McMillen, who is appointed executrix. The will was dated May 15th, 1889, and witnessed by M. R. McMillen, D. J. Horner and Jacob D. Swank.

Albert G. Black, late of Confluence, directed that his estate shall be equally divided among his children as follows. Virgil M. Black, Fannie B. Shaffer, Thomas William, John F., Harry J., Charles E., Etta B. Kurtz, and Edgar B. Black. Virgil, Thomas and Edgar Black are named as executors. The will was dated September 25th, 1912, and witnessed by Patrick Hogan and L. H. Ferrell.

Katharine Gress, late of Meyersdale, left her property to her son, John Henry Gress. The will was dated November 1, 1905, and witnessed by W. R. Hay, and Benjamin T. Poorbaugh.

Katharine H. Bauman, late of New Centreville, left a life interest in her entire estate to her sister, Nanella Bauman, at whose death it is to be divided equally among her nephews, W. B. Putman, the Board of Home Missions of the Lutheran church of the United States and the board of directors of the Loysville Orphans' Home, at Loysville, Pa. W. B. Putman is appointed executor. The will was dated October 1st, 1913, and witnessed by J. W. Hanna and A. B. Miller.

LETTERS OF ADMINISTRATION.

Letters of administration have recently been issued as follows:—

Edith Knopper Linton, estate of James L. Pugh, late of Somerset; bond, $216. Joseph Mosholder, estate of Hanna Mosholder, late of Meyersdale; bond, $10,000. Emma W. Carpenter, estate of Rebecca E. Bridgegum, late of Fair Hope twp., bond, $100.

We Are a Nation of Frog-Eaters.
Frogs' legs, at which people turned up their noses in disgust only a few years ago, have now become so popular an article of diet that no fewer than 6,000,000 frogs a year are killed in Minnesota alone to supply the demand. The northwestern frogs are the most delicate, but the biggest are the southern bullfrogs. The latter are not so sweet or tender as the former.

Household Notes.

A piece of blotting paper under the bureau cover will keep the bureau top in good condition.

A little olive oil put around a glass stopper which sticks will sometimes loosen it.

A sweet green pepper, boiled and chopped fine, is a delicate addition to a dish of scalloped tomatoes.

Dip your fruit jars in paraffine wax. It makes them perfectly airtight, and the contents will not spoil.

Brown bread and butter, spread with honey and then with chopped walnuts, makes a delicious sandwich.

To glaze linen, add a teaspoonful of salt and one of finely scraped soap to each pint of starch in which it is dipped.

Ice cream is not so apt to go butyry if allowed to chill before the freezer is turned.

To keep the teeth in good order, always brush them front and back, and up and down, then use dental floss faithfully.

If mixed with milk instead of water, mustard will not get dry, but will keep nice and fresh until it is all used up.

Safety matches can be struck just as easily on a piece of smooth coal as they can on the safety match box case.

A spoonful of sugar added to the water for basting meat will give it a rich brown color, and the flavor will be improved.

New shoes are sometimes difficult to make shine. Try brushing off the dust and dirt thoroughly, then rub them with lemon juice; after this has dried in, black and polish them in the usual manner.

Insane Asylums.

The great Greek physicians had devoted much attention to insanity, and some of their precepts anticipated modern discoveries, but no lunatic asylum appears to have existed in antiquity. In the first period of the monastic life a refuge is said to have been opened for the insane at Jerusalem, but this appears to have been a solitary instance, arising from exigencies of a single class, and it may be said that no lunatic asylum existed in Christian Europe until about the time of the fifteenth century.

"HOLY OF HOLIES" OUT OF FASHION

THE "Holy of Holies" has gone out of fashion. There are no longer any sanctities which the world is bound to respect. From the bed of birth to the bed of earth, man's life—and even woman's—is fit subject for "copy" for the newspaper, the novelist and the college professor. It took all the power of the New York city police department to keep the photographers away from the reunion of the Titanic survivors with their loved ones. More than one bridegroom has proved his prowess by smashing a newspaper camera. In the bright lexicon of today there is no such word as reserve. That some of the great sentiments of life may be held in reverent silence is contrary to the present mode. It may become the fashion for men to advertise in the "personal" column of the newspapers that they really love their wives. Nothing nowadays "goes without saying." So we have Mothers' days, and everybody who loves mother must wear a white carnation in his buttonhole, to the shame of the rest of us who do not.

If we are to have a celebration and a society for every virtue, we shall have no time for the exercise of these virtues, but must give ourselves to the important business of keeping this admirable machinery going. Obviously, and indisputably, if we have a Mothers' day we must also have a Fathers' day, for dad pays the freight, and makes possible the buying of flowers that adorn the holiday. Also he fulfills various other useful functions, although it is not greatly the vogue to talk about father. He is merely background.

Of course, and beyond question, if we give mother and father their due, we cannot go back on grandmother. Bless her heart! Perhaps if we hire enough bands and adopt the right floral emblem—the Wayfarer nominates the chrysanthemum, as symbolizing at once the autumn of life and the unostentatious character of these special days—a Grandmothers day will help restore to us the race of dear old women who we knew when we were young, and who are ever so much more desirable than the numerous massaged, pompadoured, tailor-made, sophisticated, never-grow-old ladies who awe us now at swagger restaurants and social functions.

And shall we not have a Big Sisters day? Her day seems long in coming, and she toils and sacrifices for the whole household. Especially would the Wayfarer insist upon honoring her, a little later on in her career, by an Old Maids' day. This is really essential to an equitable adjustment of the scheme of things. Some day an orator or essayist will win immortal fame by setting forth in terms the office and works of the Maiden Aunt, the prop of dependent or selfish parents, and the slave and guide and friend of the children of those parents. There is a high seat in heaven for the unhonored and uncommemorated Old Maid Aunt. In passing, let it be emphasized that there is to be no honor shown the Old Bachelor; he is deserving of no consideration whatsoever. He is the saddest word of tongue or pen.

Resisting the temptation to extol the glories of a Faithful Lovers' day and a Husbands' day, and more particularly of a Wives' day (for to merge these into Mothers' day and Fathers' day is to assume, modern fashion, that the standpoint of the children is the supreme concern of matrimony), the Wayfarer moves on to indicate the high importance of founding certain societies to commemorate the cardinal virtues; since nowadays virtue seems not to be virtue unless it wears a badge, possesses a diploma and employs a press agent. The Wayfarer is well aware that he is not a pioneer in this project. It was but a few days ago that the pastor of a large church proposed in all seriousness that he would like to give up his charge and devote himself to establishing a Society for the Promotion of Democracy. The dearth of associations for the furtherance of the obvious probably had appealed to his progressive mind. So the Wayfarer has contemplated the glorious future of a Society of Men Who Do Not Beat Their Wives; and of allied organizations of Men Who Do Not Smoke, of Devotees of Non-dancing, of the Virtuous Company of Gentlemen Who Never Stay Out Late.

The crude, unsocial, old-fashioned scheme of private virtue, more carefully veiled than a Moslem lady, has persisted long enough, say we up-to-date folk. The world has struggled along for several millenniums, cumbering men and women with the burden of responsibility for the cardinal moralities. Let us improve upon this by giving every virtue its corresponding publicity. It pays to advertise. Away with those hidden recesses in human hearts! Out into the lime-light with the secret of holy places! —Exchange.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When the tube is inflamed you have a rumbling or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and the tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

You Want the Best Clothes
your money can get? They're here when you come in to see the new things we have brought together for you to wear this fall. You'll be very much delighted with the new models in suits and overcoats for men, the smart, fresh, lively ideas for young men.
Never before have we had a better opportunity to demonstrate the service idea of this store than this season. Our idea has been to serve this community in all matters of things to wear; to see that those who come to us shall get possible value for what they pay. We have done this by having each season a good liberal showing of Hart, Schaffner & Marx clothes.
Our Furnishing Department also has a wonderful lot of things that you'll be glad to see.

DON'T HOPE FOR THE BEST—GET IT
We have that Best—The TROY
You can't afford to take chances on a farm wagon—and you don't have to. Let us talk TROY to you. We can show you that it is different—where and why a TROY is the cheapest wagon on the market for you.
Get the most you can for your money—long, certain service; no break-downs; no repairs. The TROY is always ready to hitch to—always dependable. And when it is hitched to, it runs lighter and carries more than any other make of the same size.

Investigate these statements. Don't buy till you have gone over the TROY piece by piece, part by part. Materials, design, construction—examine them all. You can trust your own facts. Drop in any time—if we can't show you, buy some other wagon.
