The grand jury on Friday morning returned a true bill in the murder case in which Josiah Long, of Quenahoning twp., is charged with killing Carl Phillips, an Italian, for being too intimate with Long's wife. On account of the critical illness of James Sampwell, the only eye witness to the murder, the case was continued till December court. After rendering its finding in the Long case the grand jury was discarded with the thanks of the court.

John Dorich was acquitted on a charge of larceny, preferred against him by Valentine Kashuta, of Ralph-ton. The prosecutor's father, John Kashuta, was killed while on his way to a Ralph-ton church last spring. The defendant conducts a boarding house at Ralph-ton, and John Kashuta was one of his boarders. The son claimed that before he died the elder Kashuta gave Dorich a purse containing $56, a trunk containing clothing, and several watches and chains. The son alleged that he received only $4 of the money in the purse and none of the other personal property, charging the defendant with stealing everything else. The prosecutor claimed that he had seen Dorich wear shoes that belonged to his father.

Charles Long was acquitted of a charge of larceny on information of Ellen Spencer, of Paint borough, but assessed with three-fourths of the costs while the other fourth was imposed on the prosecutrix. The prosecutrix owns a dwelling house in Paint borough which she rented to Long. The tenant was delinquent in paying several months' rent and the prosecutrix issued a landlord's warrant. Long invoked the $300 exemption law and recovered the goods from the house. Mrs. Spencer brought suit against him charging larceny. The verdict not guilty was directed by the court, while the jury disposed of the question of who should pay the costs.

Joseph Dembo, of Paint borough, was found guilty of aggravated assault and battery for breaking two beer bottles over Michael Rozma's head. By agreement of counsel on both sides he was sentenced to pay the costs and a prison sentence was suspended.

Joseph Andrea was acquitted of a charge of assault and battery preferred against him by John Hotsko, the jury placing one half the costs on each of the parties.

The defendants in the following cases pleaded guilty and were released on a year's parole: Patrick Calahan, assaulting an officer, John C. Bentley, prosecutor; Patrick Calahan, violating mining laws, John C. Bentley, prosecutor; Benjamin R. Hersh, false pretense, Conrad Keidle, prosecutor.

In the Harry Goldberg case in which Goldberg was acquitted of a charge of arson for the alleged burning down of his clothing store in Berlin, but assessed with the costs there is a question as to whether Goldberg or the county will have to pay the costs in the criminal case on the same basis as he pays the other creditors.

The grand jury ignored the case in which William Davis was charged with assault and battery by James A. Wilkins.

The following cases were settled: James Wilkins, assault and battery. William Davis, prosecutor; Albert Metts, offense against morality, Blanche Lininger, prosecutor; Wm. Trimpey, assault and battery, H. C. Cramer, prosecutor; Robert Hawkins, Jr., assault and battery, Joseph Pronoy, prosecutor.

The case in which Robert Hawkins, Jr. was charged with assault and battery by Tony Bartola, was continued until December court.

The grand jury on Friday morning returned the bills in the following cases: Stanley Kosik, assault and battery, Gustavo Beigy, prosecutor; William Yanosky, aggravated assault and battery, J. W. Arnold, prosecutor; Tony Nele, selling liquor without license, Frank Popek, prosecutor.

JOHN MAUS IS READY FOR DEATH.

John Maus, convicted of the murder and robbery of mail carrier, Harrison Brown, of Addison was notified Thursday evening of the action of the Board of Pardons, in refusing him a rehearing.

On Friday morning the condemned man stated to Deputy Sheriff Coleman that he was ready to die and was anxious for Gov. Tener to fix the date on which he shall be executed. He has given up all hope of escaping the penalty for murder.

It is believed that steps will now be taken to prove Maus insane. Since his incarceration his actions have indicated that he is of low mental caliber and probably insane.

Eczema spreads rapidly; itching almost drives you mad. For quick relief, Doan's Ointment is well recommended. 50c cents at all stores.

Fleas on Dogs.

A dog fancier of Easton writes the Division of Zoology requesting a reliable remedy for ridding his dogs of fleas stating that he had tried several means, including carbolic acid, without success. Prof. Surface outlined in detail the following treatment:

"Replying to your recent letter asking what to do for fleas on a dog, I beg to say that I have known of their being destroyed by washing the animal in a 3 per cent. solution of creolin. This is practically crude carbolic acid, which I note, however, you have used without success. I should not use the creolin stronger than 4 per cent. or one part in 25 of water. I think the main reason that you have not been successful in cleaning up the pest on your animal is that there have been so many of them around his sleeping place. Even if in washing him with the solution the fleas which are on him are all killed, others from the same kennel would get upon him after his hair has dried and he will immediately be infested again. Therefore, I would recommend washing or spraying the kennel and the ground, and the walk around it with a 5 per cent. solution of creolin, or one part in 20 of water.

The animal should have a rug or mat upon which to sleep, and this should be taken immediately out and beaten on the grass in the morning so as to get rid of the eggs which the fleas have dropped on it during the night. If you will see that the breeding places of the fleas are well cleaned up this will be a great help toward getting rid of them. Spraying and washing the woodwork and pavement around with pure kerosene will, of course destroy the pests at once. Insect powder rubbed into the hair of the dog will drive the fleas from him. Sulfur and powdered tobacco put in his sleeping place will also be beneficial."

Fashions and Fads.

French lingerie is lessening in fullness, but it is finer than ever.

Canary-colored vests of linen or silk are worn with suits of blue cloth.

The new silhouette has the effect of easy suppleness, but not ill-fitting.

Attractive for the fall costume are the foulards and dark plaid silks.

Skirts are narrow at the bottom, not more than 1-4 or 1-3 yards in width.

The high color will be the exception, and then only of sheer material.

An arrangement of the hair which is much in vogue is the side pleating.

The new afternoon and evening wraps follow closely the lines of the Japanese.

Ruchings of black net form an attractive trimming for lingerie frocks and also to outline the edges of flounces.

This is an excellent season to unearth heirlooms in the way of fine needlework fichus and deep-pointed collarettes.

Shades of vivid pink, varying from rose, du Barry and Nell rose to old Rose are to be favorites for evening dress.

The richness of the fabric is very important, for never have more expensive silks and satins and brocades been seen.

For croup or sore throat, use Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. Two sizes, 25c and 50c. At all drug stores.
