SHOOT 14 BEFORE BEING LYNCHED.

Four white men and ten negroes were shot to death, two negroes were lynched and fifteen men were wounded, several fatally, in a race riot at Harrison, Miss., Sept. 28.

The battle begun when two negroes, William and Walter Jones, brothers, crazed with cocaine and gin, shot and killed a negro and her ten-year-old son and then fled through the streets shooting at every white man they saw. After a three hours' fight the Jones brothers were captured by a posse of deputy sheriffs and lynched.

Governor Earl Brewer ordered from the militia and three troops arrived from Natchez and Jackson to prevent another uprising. Six negroes were arrested in connection with the riot and were rushed to Natchez, where they were placed in jail under heavy guard. A late dispatch from Natchez states that a mob of armed men has gathered outside the jail and are clamoring for the negroes. Governor Brewer has ordered the militia to deport all negroes who can be found.

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(By E. O. SELLERS, Director of Evening Department, The Moody Bible Institute, Chicago.)

LESSON FOR OCTOBER 5

MOSES' CRY FOR HELP.

LESSON TEXT—Numbers 11:10-13, 24, 25. GOLDEN TEXT—"The supplication of a righteous man availeth much in its working."—James 5:16.

This lesson is taken from the book of Numbers, "the book of journeyings," or aptly called the "book of murmurings." The events of Exodus and Leviticus cover perhaps one or two years, whereas those recorded in Numbers occupy about 38 years. Read in this connection Ps. 95:10 and 1 Cor. 10. From Sinai to Kadesh-Barnea are found four general murmurings. The first was at Taberah, 11:3, and the events of today's lesson which occurred at Kibroth, 11:34. The other two were at Hazeroth, 12:15, 16, and Kadesh, 13:26. This book is full of impressive warnings about worldliness.

Moses Was Human.

I. Complaint and Controversy, vv. 10-15. Moses was great but he was human. No man is faultless, and in this lesson we have another incident illustrating the weakness of Moses. Yet despite all this we find inserted in the very next chapter God's estimate of his character, 12:3. Moses had been subjected to a terrible strain, the details of his leadership, the constant murmuring of the people under this load he gave way, just as he had previously yielded to impulse, Ex. 2:12, and as he did subsequently, Ch. 20:10-13. The Israelites are a striking illustration of the natural discontent of the human heart. Any affliction, and we forget God's marvelous works on our behalf. His wonderful goodness. That God was displeased is indicated by verse 10, but that did not imply that Moses, too, was to lose his temper, to resort to murmuring, and to accuse God of being responsible for the burden or that he would not help to share the load, v. 11. God placed great honor upon Moses by calling him to this task of leadership, and now he complains, and doubts for a moment God's sustaining grace, 2 Cor. 12:9; Phil. 4:13. The language here used, vv. 12-14, is wonderfully suggestive. The utter weakness of the Israelites, the promised goal, the hunger of soul and body, the sorrows of affliction are all graphically set before us. Moses' own weakness is revealed (v. 13) by his words, "where should I have flesh to give?" He seems to forget absolutely God's dealings with Israel before they reached Sinai (Ex. 16), as though God expected any such thing from him. The height of his petulance and bitterness is reached when he exclaims, "kill me I pray thee . . . and let me not see my wretchedness," v. 15.

Burden Distributed.

II. Comfort and Counsel, vv. 16-18, 24, 25. Moses had been warned not to bear the entire burden of leadership by his father-in-law, Jethro, Ex. 18:17, 18. Now that he is unwilling to take the full honor of undivided leadership, God most graciously grants his request and appoints others to share the burden and responsibility. There was no more power, however, but more machinery. God distributed the burden and revealed the fact that Moses' power was in proportion to his burden. Human nature always looks for the arm of flesh upon which to rely, but such a reliance usually brings a curse not a blessing upon those who seek it, Jer. 17:5. God dealt in mercy with Moses. Notice how gently he passes by this exhibition of infirmity and notwithstanding this lapse, bears testimony to his faithfulness (12:7). Yet he is impartial in chronicling his faults and thereby giving us an incidental and thereby giving us the truth.

What a suggestion in the words "I will come down and talk with thee," yet that is the privilege of the believer in Christ, John 14:16, 17 and 16:13. God calls a "tent meeting," v. 16 R. V., but before he meets them they must sanctify themselves, for so only is one prepared to meet God, Ex. 13:10, 15, 22. These people had been lusting for the food of Egypt even as today many who have professed to accept Christ are forever longing for the pleasures of time and sense. They forget the bitterness of past slavery in the privations of the present, entirely forgetful of the goal of luxury and freedom, Rom. 10:28, 2 Cor. 4:17. God granted their request, v. 18, to their sorrow, v. 20. The whole trouble was then "rejected the Lord," v. 20 R. V. The granting of material prosperity tends to leanness of soul, Ps. 106:15. It frequently happens that God does not answer our prayers because he knows that to answer them actually and literally would spell disaster in our lives.

Conclusion. This lesson brings Moses very near to us. Such a remarkable man as he is he sometimes seems to be far removed from our actual experiences in life. Yet as we consider him faltering for a moment beneath his staggering, crushing burden of responsibility, with strength and courage gone, we share our sympathy with him and he seems to enter into the actualities of our daily life.

God reveals himself as one who understands perfectly, one who knows exactly all that his servant felt, and one who in tender compassion had not a word of rebuke.

Ranked at the Very Top

DAVID RANKIN was a big farmer and he knew his business. He owned the largest corn farm in the world, about 35,000 acres down in Missouri. He devoted his life to the pleasant study and practice of right farming, and he succeeded mightily, for he made $4,000,000 in the business of farming. David Rankin said: "The manure spreader is the most efficient money-maker on the place."

It's warm praise to be ranked above all other farm machines, but the spreader deserves it. Soils rebel when crop after crop is taken from them, without return of fertilizer. Return every bit of manure to the soil. The IHC manure spreader will save you much disagreeable hard labor, will spread evenly, and will make one ton go as far as two tons spread by hand.

I H C Manure Spreaders are built to suit you, to do best work for the buyer in every case, to convince him that he has made the wisest purchase. Every detail in the construction has a purpose, for which it was made after thorough tests and experiment. They have the maximum of strength and endurance.

You will find all styles and sizes in the IHC spreader line. They will cover the ground with a light or heavy coat, as you choose, but always evenly, up hill or down. There are high and low machines, with steel frames, endless or reverse aprons, but always giving best possible service. Tractive power is assured by position of the rear wheels well under the box, carrying nearly three-fourths of the load.
