

Fashions and Fads.

Coats, skirts and gowns have much fur trimming.

Blouses are flat and have the dropped shoulder line.

Mustards and yellow are colors not used for street suits.

Separate wraps for street wear are three-quarter length.

Purple and yellow are the most fashionable colors for dyed fur.

Fur, lace net or plaid taffeta trim the separate blouses of chiffon.

The frocks of serge are brightened by sashes of Roman striped ribbon.

Skirts are widened by all manner of drapery, tunics, flounces and ruffles.

Gowns and wraps are adorned with fringe of beads, silk or metal thread.

Some low-necked evening gowns are outlined with flaring frills of tulle or lace.

Afternoon frocks are inclined to be very short, with draped pinnies, short tunics and many pinked or scalloped ruches.

A few coat suits are cut collarless, and some are cut quite low in the back. Stocks are worn with the collarless coats.

Children's coats are charming with their trimming touches—girldes of bright ribbon and corded shirring and fur and braid.

Among the new frocks is one showing a knee-length tunic, which hangs in deep points as if cut from a square piece of cloth.

Furs are not only dyed in two colors, but two kinds of fur are used for sets. If harmoniously combined, the effect is most artistic.

Smart suits have the modified blouse coat; also popular is the coat that is a combination of an eton jacket and cutaway back.

The Statement of This Hyndman Resident will Interest our Readers.

Our neighboring town Hyndman, points the way in the words of one of its most respected residents:

Mrs. D. F. Bartholamew, Water street, Hyndman, Pa., says: I was in poor health and suffered greatly from pains in my back and sides. I had chills and was often dizzy. Reading a great deal about Doan's Kidney Pills, I began using them. They brought prompt relief and I continued using them, I steadily improved. I have recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to many other people and I have never known a case where they have failed to prove of benefit. Doan's Kidney Pills made a complete and permanent cure in my case and I have had no need of a kidney medicine during the past several years. I willingly confirm my former endorsement of Doan's Kidney Pills, as I know that they are deserving of all the praise given them.

Machinery Saves Bulgaria's Crops.

The French vice-consul at Bourgas, Bulgaria, reports that notwithstanding the conscription for the war of all men between the ages of eighteen and forty-six, this year's crops in Bulgaria have been planted about as usual, the average sown to wheat, for instance, being within five to ten per cent, of last year. This surprising condition, he says, is due to the introduction of agricultural machinery on a more extended scale than formerly, brought about by the necessities of the case.

No More School Slates.

Remember the old school slates, bound in red fannel to prevent the noise of slate rattling that used to be so unbearable, until manufacturers found how to muffle them? Stores selling school supplies used to carry great stocks of them, for it was a rare day in a room that did not see a slate or two broken; but where are they all now? Since the boards of health decided that they were insanitary and decreed against them, the whole tribe has disappeared.

MRS. EATON FREED

JURY ACQUITS HER OF CHARGE OF POISONING HER HUSBAND, THE REAR ADMIRAL.

BACK IN THE OLD HOME

Jury Out Over Nine Hours—Learned Much in Prison, She Says, and Wants to Make Everybody Happy.

Rockland, Mass., Oct. 31.—Mrs. Jennie May Eaton, who was found guilty of the murder of her husband, Rear Admiral Joseph G. Eaton, at Plymouth, was brought to her home in Assinippi in an automobile.

Her daughter Dorothy met her in Plymouth and on the two reaching the house there was a happy reunion. The first person to greet Mrs. Eaton when she opened the front door of her home was her daughter, Mrs. June Keyes, who arrived a short time before the widow put in an appearance. Next Mrs. Eaton greeted her mother, Mrs. Harrison.

After considering the evidence for nine hours and twenty-five minutes the jury reported at 5.10 o'clock a. m. in the courthouse at Plymouth. The spectators arose to their feet and were restrained from making a demonstration only by a sharp order from Sheriff Porter.

Mrs. Eaton smiled joyfully as she heard the verdict. She had sat up in a private room at the court house until 2 o'clock a. m. Then she was permitted to go to the Judge's lobby, where she slept on a cot until awakened at 4.30 and summoned to the court room.

After the foreman had announced the verdict Chief Justice Allen warned the jurors to keep secret the proceedings in the jury room.

Nearly two hundred persons, some of whom had remained all night, were present to hear the verdict. Among them were a few women.

After Mrs. Eaton had left the court room the jurors, through their foreman, asked to meet her. The permission was granted and they formed a semi-circle in the corridor.

Mrs. Eaton came out from the Judge's lobby and thanked them individually. As she did so she burst into tears for the first time since her trial started.

Mrs. Eaton's trial commenced October 14. The Government sought to show that Mrs. Eaton poisoned her husband by placing arsenic in his beverages and his medicine and that she was jealous of his attention to other women.

Mrs. Eaton's counsel contended that the Admiral's death was due to self-administered drugs, but did not attempt to show whether the alleged overdose was taken intentionally or by accident.

Her chief counsel, Mr. Morse, said: "It was Mrs. Eaton's appearance on the stand, an unusual event in any capital case and a remarkable one where a woman was on trial for her life, which decided the defendant's innocence in the minds of the jurors. The verdict frees an innocent woman, but leaves as a mystery the end of the Admiral, her husband."

STYLES HIT COTTON MILLS

Fall River Concerns Report Losses During the Year—Elimination of Heavy Underwear Cause.

Fall River, Mass., Oct. 31.—At the annual meeting of the Parker and Hargraves Cotton Mills, respectively, both of them reported losses during the year. They had suffered more than the average fine goods concerns, it was explained, because of their preponderance of narrow looms.

The change in styles of women's clothes, eliminating voluminous underwear, had caused a great decline in demand for the styles of goods made formerly by the fine goods mills, and forced them to turn to other styles.
