acteristic of any one breed of fowls," says Profesor Dryden. "The trap-nest has demonstrated this. There is no particular shape or type that indicates good laying qualities, so far, at any rate, as our present knowledge goes. "The only certain method of separating the good layers from the poor is to use the trap-nest and keep a daily record of eggs laid. It is not always the fault of the feed and care that they don't do better. It is the misfortune of the hen herself very often; she couldn't lay if she wanted to.

"It requires considerable time to keep a trap-nest record of a flock of hens. Not every farmer has the time, but if a few farmers in every county would trap-nest a flock of hens, in a few years all the farmers of the county would very likely have stock that were from heavy-laying, trap-nested fowls. Where it is possible for a farmer to devote a little time to it each day he will be well repaid for the labor.

"The Oregon experiment station is trap-nesting a large flock each year and it is doing the best it can to furnish the farmers of that state with stock from good layers, with the object of increasing the egg yield in the state. It is desirable, of course, to keep a full year's record for each hen, but if that is not possible, a record for a part of the year would be valuable. For instance, a record of the Weaver.

Closer Fowls Are Confined, If Allowed Sufficient Room for Exercise, Better They Are.

A goose that is being fattened for market should never be permitted to swim in the water or to wander any distance. The closer they are confined, as long as they have a pen for sufficient exercise, the better table poultry they make. To keep them clean while being fattened, cover the floor of the building in which they stay at night with a thick covering of straw. Remove this in the morning with a pitchfork, either into the air or sunlight where it will day. when the time comes for selling them, the geese should be confined in a limited space, provided with a building for shelter only, plenty of water to drink, and be fed all they will eat of a dry mash made of one-half cornmeal, one-fourth bran and middlings, the balance of ground oats.

This is best mixed with boiled milk, buttermilk, sour milk or skim milk, which, when thoroughly cooked, can be mixed into the meals to make the dry mash, and fed in boxes or troughs once or twice of day. In addition to this, a small amount of green food, the best of rye, clover or grass, may be provided with good results.

ADJUSTING SCHOOLS TO FARM

Opinion Advanced That Country Boys and Girls Should Be Taught Rural Subjects.

Advocating that the boys and girls stay on the farm and at the same time teaching city subjects in the rural schools is contradictory. If the boys and girls are taught one thing they cannot be expected to desire to do something else even if so advised.

Boys and girls in thirty-four schools by and girs in thirty four schools in Wright county, Iowa, were asked what they desired to do. Of the 164 boys, 157 desired to leave the farm and 163 of the 174 girls desired to do likewise. But after agriculture and home economics had been taught for home economics had been taught for three years the same question was asked in the same schools. This time 162 of the 174 boys desired to stay on the farm and 161 of the 178 girls. This changing of an almost unanimous desire to stay on the farm seems almost miraculous. Yet it was done through making a change in the course of study writes W C Palmer. course of study, writes W. C. Palmer in the Breeders' Gazette.

Boys and girls will desire to do the things they have been taught how to do. Their interest is developed in the do. Their interest is detailed. Agriculture things they are taught. Agriculture things are the things and home economics are the that boys and girls are most interest-ed in to begin with. They live in a great agriculture and home economics

ILLS IN TRAIN OF AVIATION

Sudden Ascent to High Altitudes, and as Sudden Descent, Frequently Brings on Sickness.

M. Berget, a French aeronaut, after speaking of the conditions of the atmosphere in general, brings out some points on aviator's sickness. Aeroplanes sometimes reach altitudes Aeroplanes sometimes reach altitudes of ten thousand feet in an hour, and here the effects on the ear such as humming or cracking noise are about the same as in a balloon, but the effect on the respiratory organs is different. The pilot is sooner out of breath and he feels a special kind of uneasiness. During the descent, the heart beats are of greater amplitude, but without accelerating. A quicker descent in a sailing flight at a speed of 1,000 or 1,200 feet a minute or even more, causes a feeling of a special kind, or uneasiness, accompanied with humming in the ears. Burning in the face is also felt and a severe in the face is also felt and a severe headache, also the great tendency to sleep which has been before observed. The movements of the body are sluggish and unskillful. These symptoms continue for some time after the landing, and the tension in the arteries is noticed to be higher than the normal.

Hello Nation.

Hello! We are the greatest tele phone users in the world. The daily phone users in the world. The daily average of talks over the telephone last year was over 26,000,000. There are 70,000 places, towns, cities and hamlets from which telephone meshamlets from which telephone messages may be sent, says Leslie's Weekly. This is 5,000 more than the number of our post offices, 10,000 more than the number of our railroad stations and three times the number of telegraph offices in the country. There are nearly 7,500,000 telephone stations in the Bell system—an increase last year of over 800,000. These are the facts reported by the American Telegraph & Telephone company in reference to the Bell business. It earned last year nearly $43,000,000. Will it be believed that the majority of its shares are owned by women and less than seven per cent. by brokers?

Progress of Cremation.

Cremation Society of England, which has just been published, states that there were 1,134 cremations in Grea Britain in 1912, compared with 1,023 in 1911. A list is given of the well known persons who were cremated during the year, including the Bishop of Truro and Rev. Charles Voysey. There are 13 crematories in this country, of which five are municipal. Sumparior maries are given of the progress of cremation abroad. Some "Short Reasons for Cremation" are appended, in which the plea is advanced that it "removes the possibility of being buried alive."—Dundee Advertiser.
