would be as follows: Cornmeal, one part; bran, two parts, with butter-milk three to four pounds for each pound of grain mixture.

Corn and buttermilk afford a very good ration for fattening hogs For growing pigs it might be of advantage to make a slop of shorts and butter-milk and feed corn on the ear besides.

Wheatbran is Good Feed for Young-sters to Begin On—Give Abun-dance of Pasture if Possible.

A good flockmaster holds that for young lambs wheatbran is most excellent to begin with, and after they become stronger the bran should be mixed with corn meal in equal quarters. He says that oat meal, or oats when they can eat it, should be added to balance the ration, for oats is nearly a balanced food itself. After growing a little they will shell their growing a little they will shell their growing a little they will shell their grown corn, if given to them on the cob. The lambs that are to be raised on the farm should not be forced so fast. They need plenty of food, but the grain ration should be small and no corn should be used. They should be given plenty of exercise and an abundance of good pasture if possible.

Corn tends to fatten and will produce uncertain breeders of short season. Wheat bran and oats are probably the two safest materials of food that can be used. When the grass becomes stronger and good in the spirits, grain feeding is not needed for those lambs that are to remain on the farm, and only the corn will remain as the dry feed ration for the market lambs.

The grass is better than any other nitrogenous food.

Five Weeks Old.

To an inquiry Prof. W. H. Pew of the Iowa Agricultural college gives the following suggestions on feeding buttermilk to hogs:

Buttermilk when free from water, used for washing the butter, makes excellent feed for hogs. The great trouble as we find it, coming from the creamerles is that it is hard to determine how much excess water is contained in it. At the present price for feeds, I think you will be very safe in paying 20 cents per 100 pounds for buttermilk that is free from excess of water.

In regard to the way it is feed, I may say that for sows that are nursing young pigs, it should be fed in very small quantities, if at all, and I would suggest diluting it. Better results would be had if the buttermilk is not put into the ration until the pigs are at least four or five weeks old. It is particularly good for growing pigs, as well as fattening hogs. The show farrows at this college are always fed and finished on corn and buttermilk.

A good ration for the sows that are
