COURT NEWS.

MONDAY.

The third week of civil court opened this morning at 10 o'clock, Judge W. H. Ruppel, presiding. The first case taken up was the $20,000 of Charles Landman, of Somerset twp., against the Quemahoning Branch railroad, a subsidiary of the B. & O. The railroad condemned a right-of-way across Landman's farm near the local station on Pleasant street. Viewers some time ago awarded Landman $13,000.

The following cases were continued: Leonard B. Miller vs. George L. Dodson, assumpsit; John L. Kendall vs. Andrew Horchner, trespass; White Oak Light, Heat & Power Co., vs. Borough of Benson, assumpsit; Chauncey Dickey, George F. Kimmel, and Jacob C. Deitz, county poor directors, vs. Henry F. Barron, former poor board treasurer and his bondsmen, Harry L. Sipe and J. A. Berkey, assumpsit.

Settlements were announced in the following cases: George Simko vs. I. S. Stevannus, appeal by defendant.

Three defendants pleaded guilty in Judge Ruppel's court this morning and were paroled as follows: Frank Moon, of Confluence, charged with resisting Constable Alvin Burnworth; Frank Deitrich, of Windber, charged with procuring merchandise from the Eureka Stores by false pretense; James White of Hooversville, charged with stealing two bottles of beer from a B. & O. freight car.

The parole of these prisoners reduced the number of inmates of the county to eight the lowest number in many years.

TUESDAY.

Late Tuesday afternoon a jury in civil court rendered a verdict of $8,800 for the plaintiff in the damage suit of Charles Landman, of Somerset, in his damage suit against the Somerset & Cambria R. R., a subsidiary of the B. & O. The railroad condemned a right-of-way over Landman's farm just north of its Somerset yards. Viewers awarded Landman $14,850 damages and the railroad company appealed to court. A motion for a new trial was filed this morning by an attorneys for the railroad, and it is probable that an appeal will be taken to the Supreme Court. Witnesses testified that the Landman property was damaged from $2,500 to $13,000.

Results of Vaccination.

The Kansas experiment station has received reports of the result of vaccinating 32,000 hogs against cholera. In herds infected before vaccination 70 per cent of the hogs survived. In herds not infected before vaccination 99 per cent survived. This shows very clearly that the time to use the cholera serum is before the disease hits the herd.

The losses from swine disease this year promise to be much less than that, but there is a good deal of it scattered over the corn belt and all precautions should be taken. Serum is available now in nearly all important swine-producing states, and those who own hogs should take advantage of it.

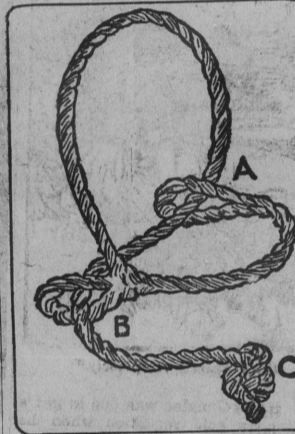

HALTER IS VERY CONVENIENT

One Shown in Illustration is Adjustable and It May Be Fitted to Pony or Large Horse.

A halter that will fit a small pony or a large horse is a useful thing to have in the stables. The one illustrated here is made from a single length of rope.

A loop (A) is spliced at one end, and fourteen inches from this a second going around the nose of the animal, and the larger loop made by passing the end of the rope through A and B goes over the top of the head behind the ears. A pull on the knot at C will tighten the halter.

SUMMER CARE OF THE PIGS

One May See Pretty Good Profit in Feeding at Present High Price of Feed and Pork.

Many farmers think that they cannot afford to feed the pigs liberally during the summer season. The pigs are allowed to shift for themselves in many instances, and, of course, do not make much growth, but one may see a pretty good profit in feeding at the present high prices of both feed and pork.

The hogs will just about live on the pasture they can gather from the field, and what grain is given them goes to growth, and any one who has tried it has found that only a moderate ration fed to the shoats on pasture will make a good growth throughout the season.

Early spring pigs of any breed can be made to average a pound of gain a day by the time they are eight or ten months old, and a large part of this can be made on pasture.

DAIRY

CARE OF THE DAIRY HEIFER

Object Should Be to Keep Young Animals in Growing Condition Without Becoming Too Fat.

(By C. H. ECKLES, Missouri College of Agriculture.)

Little difficulty is encountered in raising calves from the time of weaning until ready to come into milk. If the young animals are on pasture, no further attention is necessary, since grass furnishes the best and usually the cheapest growth.

The winter ration should consist of all the roughness the animal will consume, and a small amount of grain in addition. The object should be to keep the young animals in a growing condition without becoming excessively fat. The liberal use of roughness is desirable, since it is usually the cheapest feed at hand, and, further, it is generally believed by experienced breeders that the consumption of large amounts of roughness while young helps to develop the organs of digestion to the maximum, which is desirable when the cow comes into milk.

The roughness should by all means consist of some legume, as clover, alfalfa or cowpea hay, on account of the palatability and high protein and ash content of this class of feeds. Corn silage is also well adapted for part of the ration, but should always be combined with some leguminous hay or with a ration of grain that supplies ample material for growth, such as wheat, bran or oats.

SWISS ARE FOND OF CHEESE

Zermatt, Cut With Hatchet, Is Considered Most Important on All Ceremonious Occasions.

In Switzerland every one seems to be born with a taste for cheese, and the harder the cheese the better they like it.

Zermatt cheese is so hard that it has to be cut with a hatchet, but its use is considered most important and necessary on all ceremonious occasions.

The rank of a Swiss family is often known by the age of its cheese, and the more respect or affection that a guest inspires the harder is the cheese that is served in his honor. These are families where the cheese, in the larder dates back several hundred years and is so valuable that it is only served on great occasions such as baptisms, weddings and funerals. On the birth of an heir a cheese is made and named, and it is not cut until the wedding of the new arrival.
