How to Kill Poison Ivy and Wild Honeysuckle.

"Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty" in the government of nature as well as the government of man, and vegetation which pesters the farmer may be eliminated by stick ingeverlastingly at it. A Montgomery county man who has troubles of his own with wild honeysuckle and poison ivy appealed to the Division of Economic Zoology at Harrisburg about it, and State Economic Zoologist H. A. Surface advised him as follows:

"To kill roots and vines of poison ivy, one of the best methods is to wait until growth starts, and then pour on a strong solution of sulphate of iron (greenstone), or kerosene oil. It may need a pound or more of green vitriol to a gallon, but it should be used strong enough to kill the leaves. When they start again pour it on again. Soak the leaves and roots with it. If one should keep it up, and as soon as they start growth give them another treatment, he will be able to kill them out. Of course, the sulphate of iron should not be dissolved in a metal vessel, nor kept in metal, as it will destroy it.

"I got rid of wild honeysuckle on my own premises by mowing the ground, plowing it, and putting it into cultivation. I had a strip of this along a fence row, which by cultivating has been completely cleaned up. If they are where they cannot be cultivated I should use the strong sulphate of iron solution, or should sprinkle them with oil of any kind when they are in leaf, or put straw or leaves upon them and burn them. Almost any kind of obnoxious plant on vine can be destroyed by keeping at it during the growing season, and not letting it get much of a start. It cannot live long without green leaves to act as both its lungs and stomach. Kill the leaves frequently and you will keep ahead of it.

TRULY WORD OF GOD

Inspiration of Bible Can Never Be Doubted by One Who Has Read It.

THE Bible was never so thoroughly studied as during the last half century, and it never had so many readers as today. The amount of writing that is being done on the Bible at this time is astonishing, and this fact is significant of the vitality of its teaching.

But there are writers that analyze the Bible as one might analyze a house—by taking it to pieces, and referring each several part to its origin. "These pine boards," they would say, "came from Oregon; this flooring is oak from Missouri; these nails are of wire, machine made, from Wisconsin; this plaster was made from Illinois limestone, and is surface-coated with calcined gypsum from Iowa; this furniture is mahogany from the West Indies, originally freighted in American vessels; these are wool rugs, of European weave, and from Scotch sheep." Similarly, they would analyze and refer to its "original source" every piece of brick-a-brac, every personal ornament, and every token of affection.

The one important fact about a house, and the fact lost sight of in such analysis, is that it is a home. Here a young man brought his bride, and they began life together; here everything was consecrated by the sacredness of affection and is eloquent with devotion; here children were born and joy abounded; here the angel of death entered and tears of sorrow flowed; here hope burned, flickered, and revived; here faith was tried, fidelity proved, and love tested. The analysis of the house is comparatively unimportant. This was a home, and that is the significant fact.

Bible a Spiritual Home. The Bible likewise is both a house and a home. Many writers busy themselves analyzing only the house, performing their work with such real zeal that onlookers are apt to overestimate its importance. The writers seem to forget, or fail to discern, that the Bible is a spiritual home, a place where hearts learn to love, where spiritual children are born, reared and trained to live as one family.

There are writers and teachers also who go to the opposite extreme, who simply reiterate the old things in the old way, who read into the Bible much medieval theology and keep on dealing with questions which have lost their vitality, who catch no new vision, and feel no thrill of new meanings and applications.

Volumes have been written about the inspiration of the Bible, but one need not spend a moment arguing that the Bible is inspired. Read it! Does not the voice of God speak to your soul through it? There can be no revelation to him who has not "ears to hear." The very atmosphere may be vibrant with voices of God without revealing anything to deaf ears. I was walking one day with a friend who, as we walked, inquired about the song of a bird. I described the sound as best I could, and then asked: "Can you not hear it?" "No," he replied. "Where? The bird is not singing now, is it?" But the bird was singing near us in ecstatic strain. The revelation of God's voice comes, like the song of a bird, not by description or argument, but by hearing. Christ was ever saying to the multitude: "He that hath ears to hear, let him hear." Two men look at a painting of one of the great masters, or at a landscape when nature has on her garments of glory. One remains stolid and unmoved, while the other is thrilled and uplifted. Argument is unavailing for the stolid man. Great paintings or landscapes are not things to be argued about or even described. They must be seen. There is no revelation of beauty except for the soul that can discern beauty. The Bible has beauty for eyes that can see, music for ears that can hear, and wealth of revelation for souls that can discern and appreciate.

Bible Ever Practical. It is alleged that the Bible is impractical. Those who find the Bible impracticable are those who find it interfering with their selfish desires. If you put the Bible into the hand of the thief when he is caught with stolen goods, he will say: "It is an impracticable book. If I follow this book I must restore the products of my theft and possibly go to prison." That is precisely the practical thing required if homes are to be safe and society secure. Put the Bible into the hands of those who have stolen and grafted from the government, and they will tell you that it is not practical, that if they follow this book they must disgorge millions. The people think that such disgorging is the one thing that needs doing. Put the Bible into the hands of the great trusts, which control the necessities of life, and they will at once say that it is not practical, that if they follow this book they must stop exploiting the people, and squeeze the water out of dividend-bearing stocks. The people think that just these things must be done before society can come to a fair living basis, to say nothing of a condition of peace and contentment. The practical nature of the Bible lies in the fact that it requires men at the command of God to do precisely what must be done before the wronged and oppressed can come into their own, and every man receive a square deal from his fellows.—Craig S. Thoms, in The Standard.

STATES IN GRIP OF BLIZZARD

Chio, Indiana and the West Suffer From Severe Snowstorm

ALL TRAFFIC DEMORALIZED

Indianapolis Schools Close and Many Points Are Stormbound—Hurricane-Like Wind Rocks Cars and Endangers Lives.

Columbus, O.—Trains stalled at numerous points throughout the state, traffic abandoned in some instances, train arrivals ranging from three to seven hours' late and street car and inter-urban traffic seriously impeded where trolley traffic had not been abandoned were results of the most severe snowstorm that has swept this State this winter. Eight inches of snow has been added to the supply which already covered the ground, making a total at many points of from 12 to 20 inches.

Huge drifts stalled two Toledo and Ohio Central trains at Ridgway, and one near Bellefontaine. A Pennsylvania train eastbound left Richmond, Ind., but was unable to get through, and was returned to Richmond.

Traffic on the Pennsylvania Line between Dayton and Richmond, Ind., was abandoned because of traffic conditions throughout the Miami Valley. A passenger train on the same line was stalled near West Manchester, a few miles from Dayton.

Indianapolis, Ind.—Indianapolis and practically all of Indiana are storm-bound following one of the worst blizzards of the winter. The street car service here is demoralized. Throughout the city the snow, which has been driven by a wind reaching a velocity of 60 miles an hour, lies in drifts from three to five feet deep.

Many of the schools here and in other places in the State had to close, as only a few pupils braved the storm to reach the buildings.

A Big Four passenger train was snow-bound near Lebanon and two Monon trains were tied up near Lafayette. Only one interurban line was operating. Electric trams have been canceled.

Reports from further West, including Kansas, Missouri and Texas show similar conditions with trains stalled by snow and compelled to stop by hurricane-like winds rocking cars with such force as to endanger the lives of occupants.

Rebels Blow Up Train.

Mexico City.—A patista rebels blew up a troop train which was piloting an Oceanic Railway passenger train from here to the coast. No passengers were injured. The train returned to Mexico City the line being blocked by the wreckage of the pilot train. The troop train was filled with federalists.

Mine Fatalities Show Improvement.

Altoona, Pa.—During 1913, according to the report of Inspector Joseph Williams, five persons were killed and 57 injured at the mines of the ten bituminous district, which includes Blair, Cambria and Clearfield counties and embraces 58 mines. The number of persons employed inside was 5,918 and outside 857. Inspector Williams says this is a favorable improvement over last year.

Former New York Legislator Dies.

New York.—Samuel H. Everett, formerly a state assemblyman, died of general debility at his home in Brooklyn. Everett was aged 74 years and was a cousin of Edward Everett Hale. Everett's ancestors were among the first settlers on Long Island and landed there in 1746.

Attempted Bribery in Murder Case.

Chicago Ill.—An exciting charge of attempted bribery in connection with the trial for murder of William Cheney Ellis, the Cincinnati leather merchant, who killed his wife last October in a hotel here, was made by Ellis' counsel, George Remus. Remus asserted that he had been offered $1,000 if he would arrange with his client to enter a plea of guilty.

JAPS ALLEGED BRIBERS

Naval Scandals Will Prove More Extensive Than at First Reported. Tokyo.—Three Japanese contractors, furnishing supplies to the navy, were arrested on charges of bribery. The arrest indicate that the naval scandals brought to light through the relations of a naval attaché in Berlin with a German contracting firm, will prove more extensive than was at first suspected. The discussion of the subject led to a serious commotion in the House of Representatives.

Opposed to Canal Toll Exemption.

Washington, D. C.—Colonel George W. Goethals governor of the Panama canal zone, explained to the House Appropriation Committee his estimate of $23,700,000 for next year on the canal and for the maintenance of the zone government. He again voiced his opposition to free canal tolls for coastwise American shipping when he told Chairman Adamson, of the House Interstate Commerce Committee, that the canal should be run on a business basis with favors to none.
