INTERESTING MINOR EVENTS

By Telegraph and Cable Roll in the Important and the Inconsequential, but to Each Is Given Its Proper Space.

War Bulletins

A small German force crossed the frontier into Nairobi, a British East Africa Protectorate, raiding the natives' cattle.

A Copenhagen correspondent cables that Dr. von Botmann-Hollweg, the German Imperial Chancellor and Herr von Jagor, the minister of war, accompanied the Kaiser to Aix-la-Chapelle and will remain at army headquarters throughout the war.

The German fleet in the Baltic, according to a report, captured sixteen Russian sailing ships and one Russian steamer.

The London newspapers are gradually enlarging their daily issues as fear of a paper famine recedes.

The German occupation of Brussels was officially announced. The entry into the former Belgian capital followed the taking of Louvain, where the Belgian staff had its headquarters.

Germany, it now is certain, has in spite of vagrant reports here and there of reverses, gained ground slowly, painfully but continuously until the main body of her combined army is across the River Meuse.

Notwithstanding assurances that Germany is provided with plenty of coal, it is reported that women are being employed in the collieries in the provinces of the Rhine and Westphalia.

There are rumors that German Vice-Consul Godeke, at Aha, Finland, and his three brothers were condemned to death and executed at St. Petersburg, on a charge of having tried to procure ten Finnish pilots for German warships.

The tactical scheme of the German War Office according to latest advice is, as has been suspected, the capture of the Ardennes of the Moselle and the Meuse to pierce the center and separate the French from the English and Belgians.

Dispatches from Brussels say the seat of government has been moved to Antwerp, as German cavalry is approaching the former capital.

Sporting

Out of the rumble of excitement of the closely bunched first National League four round the beating hoofs of the Cubs. Experts concede O'Day one of the best balanced teams in league. His pitchers have shown signs of return to life, and poor pitching has been one of the chief weaknesses of the Chicago's.

Ray Caldwell, the strayed pitcher of the New York Americans, is out in the bitter cold. Manager Frank Chance has suspended him indefinitely. President James A. Gilmore declares the Federal League will have nothing to do with the unruly pitcher.

From St. Louis comes the story that Fielder Jones is to receive $50,000 for three years' service with the Mound City Federals.

Shouldn't be surprised if part of the credit for the spurt of the Boston Braves was due to Stallings having Evers as a lieutenant and that Stallings himself would say so. Stallings is an able handler of men, and Evers has no superior as a general in the thick of a game.

Foreign

Father Francis Xavier Wernz, head of the Order of Jesuits, died in Rome ten minutes after death of the Pope.

Joseph Caillaux, former premier of France, whose wife was recently acquitted of the murder of M. Calmette, editor of the Figaro is serving as a lieutenant in the French Army.

The entente between Norway and Sweden is considered an effective bar against attack. There is, however, a strong belief in Sweden that an opportunity may come, with the territorial readjustments after the war, for Sweden to regain her former Finnish provinces.

STYLE HINTS FOR CLEVER PLANNERS.

New Blouses Worn Over Skirts—Velvet and Lace—Junior Fashions.

New York, August, 20.

All fashionable New York is supposed to be far afield at this time of the year, yet any cool day one can see scores of well known women taking advantage of the opportunity that their favorite shops offer in August to pick up desirable left overs in modish hats and dresses at prices that add considerably to their attractiveness, provided one's friends are not in the secret. Nor is shopping at this season confined to left overs, for early showings are made of advanced models marked at exceptionally reasonable figures in order to push particular styles into vogue.

BARGAIN TIMES.

The time to purchase made up clothes to advantage is either in advance of the season, when styles hang in the balance, or very late when the selection is limited by a depleted stock, which yet shows among the drift, many articles sure to be smartly worn later. This sort of buying requires judgment and taste, and the woman deficient in these, would better pay more and buy later when styles have crystallized into generally accepted forms, and when by following people who purchase with judgment, she can be sure of making no costly mistakes. A limited wardrobe selected with reference to personality and environment, varied by means of smart small accessories: hats, girdles, collars, yests and the like, will turn anyone out attractively, while a host of fussy, unsuitable clothes will make anyone appear dowdy.

Distinction in dress means simplicity and adaptability to the time and place, it is not so much a question of means as of the judicious expenditure of time and money. Everyone has her limitations and the unsuccessful by a gowned woman never goes beyond them.

NEW BLOUSES.

New "tops", "extra waists" or "blouses" as they are indifferently termed, show the trend toward basque lines, in the tailored class. Satin is the preferred material, black satin leading, with white a close second just now. Later we shall see these produced in colors to tone with the material of the suit, it is predicted.

In general effect all models are well described as "Satin Jerseys", only the fitting is half tight, not close as in the real Jersey waist. Cross wrinkles are produced by puckering the underarm seams and those at the side front, but the front is straight and flat, and closes with self, covered ball buttons. The length is well down over the hips, where there is a finish of a flat or wrinkled sash or girle. These waists are, of course, worn over the skirt and give a much more impressive line, than the blouses to which we have become accustomed. Sleeves are set on the underwaist whether they are of satin, net or chiffon and the outer arm holes are in many instances cut nearly to the waist line.

LACE IN WAISTS AND SKIRTS.

Diaphanous skirts are worn with velvet or satin waists, and filmy tops of lace, tulle, net or chiffon accompany skirts of substantial texture. These will continue to be worn smartly as the season advances, for all ceremonious occasions. Velvet capes are the tip of the mode for wear with any and all costumes, and all signs point to the coming season as a marked velvet one.

FALL SCHOOL OUTFITS.

Mothers everywhere are planning the school outfits that will be needed next month. The children's wardrobes are apt to be a bit dilapidated after the summer's wear, and the youngsters grow so fast that even the best preserved garments need renovations.

Happily this is not a difficult task this year when combinations rule the mode for juniors as well as for adults. Whether plain solid colors, stripes, checks, or plaids are needed nothing gives greater satisfaction for washable frocks that must stand hard wear than the Renfrew Devonshire cloth that is guaranteed tub and sun proof. Closely resembling linen in texture, but without its liability to muss this fabric comes in most up-to-date patterns and colors, and because of its firmness of weave, garments made of it hold their shape as well as color after repeated visits to the laundry.

Long coats of substantial woolen fabrics or of galfine warmly lined are already being sold for fall wear. These have the prevailing "Redingote" lines and most of them show the dropped waist line, set off at the hips with a belt, sash or girle.

Buttons are an important feature on these garments, as indeed they are on nearly all types for the coming season. Jet buttons and bead embroideries done on the dress material are to be extremely smart.

Don't Be In The Eleventh Hour Class.

Do you belong to the Eleventh Hour? Do you pant through the station gates a moment before the train leaves? Keep your engagements and transact your business with the lash of Father Time snapping behind you? If you do, perhaps you pride yourself on belonging to the Eleventh Hour brigade and talk knowingly of how much better you work "under pressure." Don't be deceived.

You are perfectly aware that the chauffeur who runs his car at break-neck speed, slams on the brake when he wants to stop and who always takes the hills on high gear, "just to show what the engine can do," has little consideration for the continued efficiency of his machine. The finest motor ever built is but a fraction as complicated as the human engine.

So it behooves everyone to bear in mind that the wear and tear of working under strain and continually driving business on high gear, cannot be continued without risk.

Fortunately employers and employees are coming to realize that a certain degree of relaxation increases efficiency. However, there are thousands of business men who drive themselves relentlessly with an indifference which they would never permit an employe to display in handling the least costly equipment. They never force that proves so successful as a motive power, when exhausted results in complete break down.

A reasonable degree of deliberation and the exercise of forethought may save you much mental and physical strain without the least impairment of efficiency.

King of French Thieves.

Franchomme, who bears the title in Paris of "King of Thieves," has been condemned to three years in prison. He is the hero of 70 thefts, his prey for the most part having been Parisian jewelers. M. Franchomme has been employing his spare time while in prison writing his "memoirs," in which he boasts of his marvelous dexterity. Le Cri de Paris quotes a passage from these memoirs, which are soon to be published: "My thefts, my swindles, will figure into the thousands. Paris is truly the city par excellence in his adventures, having at hand an inexhaustible spring of stratagems. I have employed in this city a supernatural intelligence and no end of novel inventions to obtain money. I have turned the same tricks in Paris and London and Brussels, but in Paris I did more of them, until at last the Parisians could no more allow themselves to be taken in."

Miss Erma Catharine Lohr, and Charles Nevin Long, both of Stoyestown, were married at Stoyestown, by Rev. J. S. English, pastor of the Stoyestown Lutheran church.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

Accounting for Courage. "I think," she said, hesitatingly and with downcast eyes, "that you'd better speak to papa."

"Of course!" he replied promptly. "That's easy. The only thing that troubled me was the interview with you."

"You're not afraid of papa?" she said, inquiringly, opening her eyes in astonishment.

"Afraid!" he exclaimed. "Why should I be?"

"Really, I don't know," she answered, "but it's usual, you know."

"Oh, I suppose so," he answered in the off-hand way of the man of the world. "With inexperienced men there would be nothing surprising in it, but I have taken the precaution to lend him money, which is still unpaid."

Then it was that the beautiful girl realized that she had caught a genuine financier for a husband.—Stray Stories.
