PIANO CONTEST
There are two important changes to be made this week in the Player-Piano Contest at the Women's Store. First—All subscriptions to the COMMERCIAL will entitle to $1.50 in Special Service Check. This still gives 15,000 votes on each subscription, and will count in the awarding of silverware and gold watch awards. Each contestant should hand in from ten to twenty new subscriptions during the remaining weeks of the contest. Second—NO TRADE BOOKS WILL BE RECOGNIZED UNTIL THEY ARE PAID FOR. The organizer who has been with us the past week absolutely forbids the issuing or signing of trade books until they are paid for. That means that contestants may take out trade books before they are paid for, but they will be taken out UNSIGNED and will not be recognized as good for the purchase of merchandise until they are signed and will not be signed until they are paid for. It is very important that each contestant sees to it that the book is paid for promptly in order that the person who purchases the book will be able to use it at the store. Again—NO TRADE BOOK IS GOOD UNTIL IT IS PAID FOR. Only thirty two more working days for the contest; five weeks and the contest will be over and some one the proud possessor of the PLAYER-PIANO and other grand prizes. Every contestant should be especially busy in the sale of Trade Books during the remaining short time of the contest—each trade book counts as 80,000 votes and will be good to purchase merchandise here even after the contest closes. The book is just the same as cash to us, either in purchasing power or on the payment of accounts. The weekly prize this week goes to Club 157. The monthly gold watch award goes to member of Club 33. The following is the standing of the contestants at the close of the fifth month ending April 31st:
