Mrs. Salina Matthews, 85 years old, became very ill Tuesday morning while waiting in the B. & O. station at Stoyestown, and while being taken to her home in an automobile, expired. Mrs. Matthews seemed to be in good health when she left her home in Jenners that morning to visit relatives in Virginia. She was accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. H. H. Ling. Soon after arriving at the depot, Mrs. Matthews took sick and lay down on a bench there. H. H. Ling was called who came with an auto. She was then in a helpless condition and unable to talk. CORNERSTONE IS LAID.

The corner stone of the Evangelical mile north of Lavansville, was placed with appropriate ceremonies Sunday last at 2:30 p. m. While there are no records extant to fix the date of the organization of the Samuels church and the erection of the first house of worship on the site, present members estimate that the date runs back at least 120 years. The church was incorporated by the Somerset County Court in 1846, and it is thought that the second church building erected on the site was built about 63 years ago. This building was recently torn down and a foundation for a new building, 40 by 50 feet in size, has been laid. The new edifice will be of brick and cost about $5,000.

W. H. Deeter, the county committee man for this borough has added to his help the following: Postmaster Naugle, John Weimer, Amon Poorbaugh, and Simon Bittner. Arrangements are being made for a rousing meeting of these titans of this place and of Summit township jointly here in Meyersdale on Saturday afternoon.

WOMAN'S SUFFRAGE MEETING

State Officer of Association Gives Very Interesting Talk Tues. Eve.

A GOOD SIZE AUDIENCE.

Last Monday evening, Mrs. E. E. Kiernan, of Somerset, chairman of the Eighth Division of the Woman's Suffrage Party of Pennsylvania, gave a most interesting as well as instructive address in the lecture room of the Meyersdale Methodist Episcopal church. Mrs. W. S. Livengood, the president of the organization in town, being unable to attend the meeting, Mrs. F. B. Black, the vice president, presided.

Mrs. Kiernan's mission was to urge the people to make the most of their opportunities during the next six months.

As every one is aware the Woman's Suffrage Amendment to the Constitution of the state of Pennsylvania has already been passed upon by the State Legislature twice, and now it remains for the voters by their ballots on November next to decide whether or not, the Constitution shall be amended so as to give women equal suffrage with men. Mrs. Kiernan urged that we do our utmost in the coming six months to put the facts before the people; for most fair minded persons need only to have the facts put before them, and they see that it is only right and proper for women to have the ballot.

Among other important things that Mrs. Kiernan said, was that so many people insist that the ballot will take women out of the home. She said this statement is not true, for about ten minutes twice a year is really all that a woman must be out of her home to exercise the right of franchise. But at the same time a woman may often neglect her home far more by staying in it all the time than by going out of it. Conditions are constantly changing and various temptations are continually being thrown around our children and young people, and the mother who does not go out and keep in touch with the influences that are being brought to bear upon the life of that boy or girl is neglecting that child and she is neglecting him far more than if she were not staying home all the time. Then again women have more leisure than men and therefore more time to investigate.

It is the duty of the women, who do not have to enter the industrial world to come to the rescue of the eight million sisters who do. It is positively selfish for them not to do it. And how is this possible without the ballot. The moral standard of women is generally higher than that of men, and therefore they would raise the moral standard of the ballot. Where they have the ballot they aid very largely in protecting the girls from the White Slave Traffic. Seventy-five per cent of the fifty thousand girls who enter that life of shame are forced into it unwillingly. In states where women vote laws are passed to fine persons who rent buildings for immoral purposes. In eight of our states at the present time a man no matter how worthless he is can will away minor children or unborn child without the mother's consent.

In California, one year after they obtained the ballot they had equal guardianship. The only people who do not have the ballot are idiots, criminals, children and women, and why should women be thus classed. Women are given the most important work in the world that of raising and caring for children, then why should she not have a voice in the making of the laws for the protecting of those children. Not until woman suffrage prevailed in Illinois was better conditions for the babies and children brought about. Before that all petitions were ignored by the lawmaking bodies.

There is a gradual moral evolution after women have the ballot. Definite plans were laid for a thorough campaign. The next meeting for Meyersdale will be held in the Municipal building on Friday evening, May 14, at 7 p. m. Everybody invited.

BERLIN COMMENCEMENT

On last Sunday evening the baccalaureate sermon to the Berlin High School graduates was preached in the Reformed church by Rev. H. B. Burkholder and the edifice was crowded by friends. The class colors of crimson and white were used effectively in the decorations, besides potted plants and cut flowers.

On Tuesday evening the Opera house was crowded to hear the presentation of Tennyson's classic, "The Princess." This took the place of the regular commencement exercises and was a pleasing innovation. The graduates were assisted by other members of the high school in the drills and choruses prettily interspersed with the play. Each did his and her part exceedingly well and won much commendation. The two principal parts were taken by Emma Deeter as Princess Ida and William Werner as Prince.

After the play, the diplomas were given to the following graduates of the year 1915: Clarence Clinton Cable, Jay Coughenour, Irene June Deeter, Emma Leora Deeter, Marian Elizabeth Groff, Walter Aaron Johnson, Jacob Speicher Lowry, Hazel Beatrice Musser, Robert Leroy Miller, Salome Leeleen Robley, Edna Viola Ross, John Garman Smith, William Luther Werner.

On Wednesday evening a delightful alumni reunion was held in the new school building. An excellent program was given a very enjoyable supper served.

MAY NAME CHERRY AFTER THE GOVERNOR

The society of country women, "Die Hausfrauen" met this month, Wednesday, May 5th, at the home of Mrs. Missouri Walker near Pine Hill. Mrs. Walker, who is the widow of Norman Walker, lives on the home farm with her three children, two sons and a daughter.

The popular idea of our boys to leave the farm and rush to town will not hold here, as the eldest son who entire charge of the home farm with just arrived at manhood has taken a view of making it his home for life.

How charming the idea of the home farm following down through the family. What memories for each successive generation to treasure! The trees now great and productive, grandfather planted when a young man. The flowers and shrubs brought with loving care from her old home or received as gifts from dear friends! Truly these are jewels of memory!

In conformity with this idea and in accordance with it, the subject of this meeting was "Tree-planting." The Governor's proclamation for Arbor Day was read, a message of much power and fitness.

An original and practical idea was given the society when Mrs. Walter Boose, secretary of Die Hausfrauen, presented each member with a seedling cherry tree she had raised from the Big Tree.

The Big Cherry tree on the old Boose farm is a well known tree in this section. It spread a very king of trees in the open field, apart from the rest of the orchard, and its history as follows: Many years ago the elder Boose noticed a little cherry tree growing along the old rail fence in the field, and according to the way of these older people, to whom a tree of any kind was precious and quite contrary to the modern way of heaving and cutting down everything that looks like a tree growing
