ED. B. BARNETT, of Somerset Borough, candidate for the office of Recorder of Deeds, is a man who impresses his personality at once upon those whom he meets. If one's penmanship is an index to character then Mr. Barnett's chirography would be a passport to the fact that he is the right kind of a man. He has qualities of which more will be said later.

ED. B. BARNETT

LESTER G. WAGNER, of Somerset, candidate for the office of sheriff, polled in the last election over 1800 votes and was a close second in the run. If he gets but two-thirds as many this time, he will be the winner. He is a man of sincerity and integrity, one about whom there is no fooling, but withal a man who is pleasant in his manner.

Insects and Flowers.

Experiments on showy flowers like the poppy tend to show that insects are not always attracted to flowers by the brightly colored petals, but rather by the perception—doubtless by means of smell—that there is honey or pollen. In these experiments the unopened flower bud is enclosed in a gauze net so as to protect it from insects, and when it expands the petals are carefully removed without touching the remaining parts with the fingers (for bees avoid a flower if the smell of human fingers is left on it), and the petal-less flowers receive practically as many insect visits as untouched flowers do.

Overstocked.

Madge is the oldest of a family of girls has evidently heard and taken to heart the disappointment of her parents over the excessive femininity allotted by the generous fates to the family quiver.

When recently the fifth little daughter was born Madge was playing in the garden with one of her sisters and as a neighbor considered, was decidedly rough with the child.

"Madge, don't treat your little sister so," remonstrated the neighbor. "You might kill her."

"Well, if I did," was the cool response, "there's plenty more in the house."—Philadelphia Ledger.
