There are not lacking at the fair the usual extras in the way of side shows and interesting little booths where one gets something for something and more often nothing for nothing, the latter generally being a nickel or a dime. A big Ferris wheel takes the votaries of pleasure amidst sky and is a rival to the aeroplane. A large carnival company with a great variety of attractions shows in the afternoon and in the evening.

In the town during the day the streets are fairly packed with autos and in the evening the younger people hold high revelry in the way of confetti salutations and the blowing of horns and the beating of drums that ought to arouse some of the latent of the place into action. All in all the fair is a great success and you are missing it, my readers, if you are not one of us to attend.

The premium list will be given in our next issue.

ALFALFA SEED PEST DANGEROUS
 Harvesting Severely Infested Crops, Cleaning Fence and Ditch Banks, and Winter Cultivation, Are Methods Recommended.

The alfalfa seed destroyer, known as the chalcis fly, does its destructive work in clover or alfalfa seeds, from the gulf coast to the northern limits of the United States, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture's specialist, who has personally seen the widespread devastation of this pest. By harvesting severely infested crops, by cleaning fence lines and ditch banks, and by winter cultivation, the grower of alfalfa seed may help to control this insect. A new Farmers' Bulletin (No. 838) entitled "The Chalcis Fly in Alfalfa Seed," gives the details of these methods of control, and may be had free of charge on application to the department.

The chalcis fly under the microscope is a formidable looking insect, but when seen in the field it is frequently confused with the gnat. These pests may be seen in great numbers flying over alfalfa seed shocks and swarming over the sickle bar when the alfalfa is being cut. The eggs are so small as to be invisible to the naked eye, and are deposited through the soft, green pods directly into the soft seeds when the pods are about half grown. Immediately upon becoming a fly the insect eats its way out through the shells of the infested seeds, then through the green pods. Large portions of the seeds are hollowed out in this manner when they are still green and growing.

The infested seeds, which still contain the living larvae of the insect, may be recognized by their abnormal shape and usually by the dull brown color. Some of the infested seeds, however, retain their natural color, but they always lack the glossy appearance of normal seeds. The extent to which alfalfa seed is damaged by the fly is not generally apparent, owing to the minuteness of the insect and because its destructive work is accomplished within the growing seeds. The alfalfa seed grower can only estimate the percentage of his crop destroyed by opening a large number of the seed pods and observing the infested seeds.

Cake Hints.
 A good pinch of salt improves any cake.
 Half water, instead of milk, makes a lighter cake.
 If your cake rises in a mountain in the middle the reason is your dough was too thick.
 If it goes down in the middle your dough was too rich, too much sugar.
 The cause of large holes in cakes is too much baking powder.
 To sprinkle flour in greased pans prevents cake from sticking.
 A pan of water in the bottom of the oven keeps the bottom of a cake from burning.
 A paper over the tin keeps the top from burning.

Household Hints.
 The odor of fresh paint may be removed from a room by simply standing a pail of water in an inconspicuous place. The water should be renewed every three or four hours.
 White marks on a polished table caused by hot dishes or water may be removed by rubbing camphorated oil well into the wood.

A Time Saver.
 Before laundering undergarments run with ribbon, catch one end of the ribbon to a piece of narrow tape, then pull out the ribbon and let the tape remain run through the heading until after the garment is washed and ironed.

To clean steel knives, cut a potato in halves, dip it in brick dust and then rub on the metal. The tuber affords just enough moisture to give results.

Lemon juice and salt applied to copper will remove dirt like magic. Afterward the copper should be polished with a soft dry cloth.

Health Notes.
 The greatest care should be taken of the teeth. Equal parts of castile soap, powdered orris root and precipitated chalk make a good and inexpensive tooth powder.

Nail biting can be cured by will power alone in older people, as it comes from nervousness. With children dip the ends of the fingers in quinine or a little extract of quassia.

Extreme temperatures should be avoided in the bath. The extremely cold bath often is a shock to the system. Sixty degrees Fahrenheit is a good temperature for the bath, both summer and winter.

You can make a shade for the gas in a sickroom by using an ordinary asbestos stove mat with a ring in it. Twist a piece of wire around the burner, leaving the upper end free and bend into a hoop shade; then hang the mat to this.

Eat slowly and taste your food well, and it will slide down and give more nourishment than food eaten quickly. Never eat when tired or overexhausted, but lie down, even if only for a few minutes, before dining.

Using Ashes.
 Even ashes may be effectively used, but they must be ashes of wood only. Sifted over a lawn they make an excellent fertilizer protecting the roots of the grass and sweetening the soil. This should be done in the late autumn and the ashes should be damp to prevent their being scattered by the wind.

Many women delight in making patchwork quilts, and those who do will be glad to know that many attractive quilts have been designed from patterns found in oilcloth.
