

THROUGHOUT COUNTY

ed Webster Ross of Shanksville and Miss Verda Beeghly of Friedens were married November 21, by the Rev. A. J. Beeghly.

H. L. Sellers has sold the Confluence house at Confluence to Joseph Torney. Mr. Sellers has been proprietor of the hotel for some years and is widely known in the community.

With the opening of the new slope of the Atlantic Coal Co., at Blackfield, and that of W. A. Merrill & Co., things should be booming in that section in the near future. All the old mines are working overtime.

Alderman James Moore, one of the best known residents of the northern part of the county, died at his home in Windber Nov. 21. For a time he was proprietor of the Mountain House at Scalp Level. His wife and two children survive.

An investigation is being made into the destruction by fire of two large barns in Addison township several days ago. One barn was owned by John McClintock and the other by Andrew Coughnour. A number of colts, the season's grain and other things burned. The loss is about $6,000.

Right now more than 40,000 persons in Pennsylvania are suffering from tuberculosis—10,000 die every year. Consumptives, through their sputum, scatter everywhere billions upon billions of bacilli (germs). Most people have breathed into their lungs some of these germs.

A temporary injunction has been issued by Judge Ruppel restraining the Jenner-Quemahoning Coal Company and Reinhard Maize, Ben H. Matthews, Frank Snyder, Blair Goss and John Heffron from interfering with the business of the Tri-County Express Co. at Jerome.

John Barnhart, who died at Jenners Nov. 19, was buried at Boswell on 21st inst. The decedent was section boss on the B. & O. railroad. His wife and the following named children survive him: Mrs. Croyle of Central City, Howard, William, Merle, and Harry. He was fifty-four years old.

The rededication of the Grace Lutheran Church at Rummel took place Nov. 21, when the sermon was preached by the Rev. H. S. Rhoads, pastor of the Moxham Lutheran Church, Johnstown. The sum of $814 was raised during the day and $648 was raised previously, making a total of $1,462. The cost of the improvements to the church was $1,415.

The suit of Chas. H. Rose against James Conn, instituted by L. C. Colborn and Chas. W. Walker is an echo of a forced sale. The plaintiff avers that a writ was issued from the Somerset Court at the instance of James Conn against Levi Rose and Zach. Pyle, and under authority of which a lot of personal property was sold. The plaintiff avers that the property belonged to him and not to Rose and Pyle.

Letters of administration have been granted in the estate of Mrs. George F. Baer, deceased at Reading. She was the wife of the late president of the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad Company. The estate will be settled by Mrs. Baer's five daughters, Marion Baer Appel, Helen Baer Cox, Mary Baer Heister, Emily Baer Knapp, Nellie O. Baer Smith. Mrs. Baer made no will. The personality is valued at $450,000. The real estate includes the Philadelphia home of the Baers, valued at $50,000. There are relatives in this county.

W. F. Coleman, the man who made a daring dash from a Pennsylvania railroad train at Gallitzin two weeks ago while Sheriff Hochard was bringing him from New York City, is safely back of the bars in the county jail. He traveled to Altoona in an automobile after making his escape, and went direct to Pittsburgh, where he had been living at a boardinghouse. Burns detectives found him and notified the sheriff here, who brought him to Somerset county. Coleman is charged with obtaining money from the Windber Citizens' National Bank under false pretense.

The will of Sarah J. Shaulis, of Somerset, who died recently has been probated by Register Bert F. Landis. The testatrix appointed Harvey Wright of Irwin as executor and directs him to pay her debts as soon as convenient. He is also directed to convert all of her property into cash, and from it to pay the following bequests: To Martha Wright $150; to Adeline Fitt $50; to Mary Weigle, $150; to Ora Phillips $50; to Catherine Madden $50; to George Moore $50; to Jordan M. Wright, $1. The money remaining is to be invested and the interest is to go to support her husband, Abraham Shaulis.

Mr. William Burnworth and family of Confluence, spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Ford and also visited with other friends and relatives in Meyersdale.

DEATHS IN THE COUNTY.

LOUIS CUSTER,

Louis Custer, of near Jerome, died suddenly on the Custer farm on Nov. 19, aged 60 years. His death was due to a complication of diseases. He was a native of Somerset county and was engaged in farming all of his life. He is survived by his widow, two sons, David of Jerome and Samuel of Conemaugh; a brother, Hiram of Johnstown; two sisters, Mrs. Barbara Teeter, of the State of New York; and Mrs. Lavina Emeigh of Conemaugh; with two half brothers, Daniel Custer and Mahlon Custer and a half sister, Miss Ellen Custer all of Scalp Level. The funeral took place on Sunday afternoon from the Mennonite Church at Thomas's Mills. The services were conducted by Rev. Blough.

JEREMIAH SPIGLER.

Jeremiah Spigler, who had been a resident of Johnstown for some 20 years, died of a complication of diseases at his home Thursday in his 88th year. He had been ill for about ten weeks. The deceased was born in Somerset County in October, 1848, and was married here some 40 years ago to Miss Eva Holsopple, sister of Edmund Holsopple, a veteran of the Civil war. Jeremiah Spigler was for a number of years a section foreman on the Somerset & Cambria Branch of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad. His wife and four children survive.

CHARLES E. BAUM,

General agent of the Pittsburgh, Westmoreland & Somerset Railroad Company, died recently at his residence in Somerset. Mr. Baum who is 45 years of age went to Somerset about eight years ago from Buffalo, N. Y. to work for the company and a year or two afterwards was placed in charge of the property. Six months ago his health began to fail and for two months preceding his death he was confined to the house. He was highly respected by the public in general. A wife and one son, Charles Baum survives.

MRS. JAMES C. WATKINS.

Mrs. Lena Elizabeth Watkins, wife of James C. Watkins of Holsopple, died recently at Hotchkiss, Va., after an illness of seven years and following an operation for cancer of the stomach. Mrs. Watkins, who was thirty-five years of age, is survived by a daughter her father and four brothers, all residing at Wharton, Va.

DAVID MILLER.

David Miller, aged 87 years, died Thursday morning in the Somerset County Almshouse. His remains were buried Saturday morning at 10 o'clock in the cemetery at Husband.

MINE PILLARS SHOULD BE LEFT FOR SUPPORT.

During the course of an address at the recent dedication of the new School of Mines Building at Pennsylvania State College, H. M. Chance, mining engineer of Philadelphia, undertook to defend the leaving of coal as pillars to support roofs in mines, because, he says, coal as a nominal value of but 10 to 15 cents per cubic yard and no labor value, because no labor has been expended upon it.

He says that this use of the coal valuable material available to support the roofs and saves the whole labor cost of building supports of other materials.

MAY INSPECT GOODS ON STORE SHELVES.

Conferences will be held at the department of agriculture this week in regard to the course to be pursued under the opinion given to Dairy and Food Commissioner James Foust by Deputy Attorney General W. M. Hardest that all goods sold on the shelves of Pennsylvania stores are subject to state inspection. The opinion gives the state authority, in spite of labeling of goods in accordance with the National food and drugs act, the right of inspection and may also prosecute if the goods are not in accord with the state law.

THE MARY R. YEAGER WILL PROBATED.

The will of the late Mary R. Yeager, of Meyersdale Borough was probated one day last week. The testatrix directs that her debts be paid as soon as convenient after which her estate is to be equally divided among her three children, Edwin J. Dunlap, Annie A. Dunlap and Mary L. Yeager. Decedent's personal property and a lot of ground near the Salsbury railroad are to be sold immediately, but her two lots on the north side of Broadway, in Meyersdale Borough, are not to be sold for ten years, unless it should develop to be very advantageous for the heirs named above in which event the executor is to make the sale.
