

THROUGHOUT THE COUNTY

Congressman Hopwood is preparing a bill to erect a public building at Somerset, which will be introduced in the House in a few days.

Paul R. Lenhart, of Larimer, has been appointed passenger and freight agent for the Pennsylvania Railroad Company at Cairnbrook, this county, and C. E. Fox, of Dunlo, the Pennsylvania agent there, has been transferred to Larimer.

Andrew J. Zorn, a native of Berlin, died Jan. 24, at his home in Valparaiso, Ind. in his 89th year. He was a member of the Christian Church, of the G. A. R. and a Knight Templar of the Masonic order. He is survived by his wife who was formerly Miss Rose Huston, of Somerset.

Arrangements are being made for the dedication of the fine new hall of the Stoyestown Lodge of Odd Fellows to be held on the evening of February 16. Following the dedication ceremonies a banquet will be held. Speeches and music will be on the program, which has not yet been completed.

A contract has been awarded for the construction of a stretch of railroad directly through New Central City to Lochrie's mine, on the George B. Manges place. A passenger station is to be erected near the junction of Sunshine and Central avenues. Trains will be making regular stops at that point by the early part of next spring it is said.

A passenger coach was taken to Cairnbrook last week which is being converted into a passenger station, displacing the improvised station erected there some months ago. A large box car is also being fitted up for a freight station. The increasing business of the P. R. R. at that point will probably soon have a large new station.

Misses Verna and Ruth Snably, of Holsopple, last week started for Palestine, Texas where they will spend some time with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Israel Snably. The Misses Snably will stop off in Pittsburgh, St. Louis, Houston and Galveston, to visit friends and relatives. They intend to be gone several months. Miss Verna Snably is a seamstress and her sister is Assistant Postmaster at Holsopple.

Attorney Ross R. Scott has instituted suit against Landlord W. K. Walker of Stoyestown, in behalf of the Johnstown Liquor Company, demanding $333.31, which the plaintiff alleges is due for liquors sold to the defendant. The itemized statement filed in connection with the Bill of Particulars shows nineteen sales made by the plaintiff to the defendant from March 27, 1913, and credits are allowed on the claim for all but the amount stated above.

That Somerset county agriculturists have made a nice profit in last year's crops and that big things are expected for 1916 is evidenced by the fact that scores of farmers are having their barns enlarged. Since the first of the week R. G. Hostetler, Milford contractor and builder, closed contracts for the building of additions to the barns of I. P. Walker and H. L. Countryman in Brothersvalley township, and M. A. Walker, and W. E. Bittner in Milford township. Mr. Hostetler says he had other work in sight and that he will be kept busy building new barns and additions to old ones until late in the summer.

MUST SCREEN MEATS.

State Authorities Determined to Enforce Provisions of the Law. Vigorous action on the part of the State Livestock Sanitary Board in enforcing the meat hygiene law, passed by the last legislature to prevent prospective purchasers from handling steaks and cuts and making it mandatory on butchers to screen their products from flies, will follow a test case in Altoona.

The court there upheld the act, and a fine of $25 was imposed on a butcher who had been warned at a time when there was a typhoid epidemic in the city, to screen the meats. With this as a basis, immediate action in prosecuting other dealers who refuse to obey the law will be taken.

TURNKEY ATTENDS TO PRISONERS' WOUNDS

Fixes Up Noses and Ears and Is Called "Doctor."

Grand Rapids, Mich.—About a hundred human noses and perhaps twice that many human ears have been patched up by Turnkey Stephen Hale at police headquarters during his tenure of office. It is quite a record when you consider that Hale's education along medical lines is nil. The nearest Turnkey Hale ever has been to a regular college where they teach men to become doctors was down at Ann Arbor years ago when he visited the campus. At that time friends pointed out to the turnkey the place where they turn out physicians every year and give them the right to write M. D. after their names.

Every big city has its fights at night. Grand Rapids has its share of brawls, and the rules of fighting among a certain class seem to cling pretty close to the catch-as-catch-can style. So not infrequently the victims of these fights reach police headquarters with a bit of a nose or the lobe of an ear missing. Hale doesn't count gouged faces and ugly scratches.

A long time ago Hale's talent for the work he now does was discovered with the arrival at headquarters of a vicious character whose ears and nose showed some one had got the better of him. He wouldn't have the city physician attend him. Hale's heart was touched by the man's suffering nevertheless, so after awhile he pulled him forth and practiced the art of healing. The victim didn't feel nearly as bad as he looked the following morning with his head bandaged up, and after that the turnkey was dubbed "Dr. Hale."

Little Wife Spanks Him.
Sunbury, Pa.—"Sure, I spanked him, judge, but I'll be good in the future," declared Mrs. John Helm of Herndon to Judge Moser in the Northumberland county court here when she had her 230 pound husband in court on a desertion charge. The wife weighs ninety pounds. At the court's suggestion the pair agreed to "give and take," and the husband was discharged from custody.

Has an Old Cowbell.
Conyers, Ga.—H. C. Penn has in his possession a cowbell found by him in Ben Carr bottoms in the year 1856. The bell is of brass and, unlike most small bells now, is made of one solid piece of metal.

For eyes to last a lifetime

All the winter day you look forward to the evening, to serving supper, to seeing the family gathered in the sitting room—father reading, the young ones getting their lessons done, you yourself sewing—all surrounded by a soft flood of light from the beaming lamp on the center table.

That same lamp is important, for upon the light it casts depends the good eyesight of your family. To avoid any possibility of eye strain and the headaches and nervousness that follow, make certain that each room—sitting room, parlor, kitchen—is lighted by Rayo Lamps.

And to get the very best results, fill them with Rayolight Oil. Rayo Lamps are mechanically perfect—they never flicker nor smell, but they do throw a flood of soft, mellow light—a light that is ideal for reading, sewing or playing. And the Rayo is a beautiful lamp—special designs for special rooms—but every Rayo Lamp can be easily and quickly cleaned.

Of course, Atlantic Rayolight Oil does best in Rayo Lamps, but it will improve the light of any lamp. Really the best for heating, lighting and domestic uses. It burns without smell or smoke, and it burns economically.

As a result of our widely advertised request, thousands of careful housewives tell us that Atlantic Rayolight Oil is the very best thing they know for polishing windows and mirrors, brightening faded carpets, restoring linoleums, etc. Naturally, for this kind of work, it is important to get the very finest grade of kerosene—so be certain to ask your dealer for by name. It costs no more than the unknown, untried kind.
