Governor Martin G. Brumbaugh is the first governor within the memory of any of the residents of the State Capital to marry during his term of office and Mrs. Brumbaugh will be the first bride to assume the duties of first lady of the state in the mansion of the Governors on the river front. Every governor in the last half century and more, according to the older residents of Harrisburg, has been a benedict when he took the oath of office with the exception of Edwin S. Stuart the State's first bachelor governor in almost a century and Dr. Brumbaugh, who was a widower when he began his term.

PLANTING TREES SAVES TAXES.
A Correspondent from New Jersey writes to the Department of Agriculture as follows: "I am informed that under a law of your state it is possible to secure a reduction of taxes by planting fruit trees along the public highway of farms in the state."

Zoologist H. A. Surface in answering the letter says: "There is a law in our State by which a reduction of taxes of two dollars is allowed every person who plants four more trees along a highway and gives them proper attention. These may be fruit trees or shade trees, or any kind. The provision is for rebating taxes at the rate of fifty cents per tree from one to four trees, not above that amount. When persons have planted fruit trees the citizens do not seem to take advantage of the provision of the law. You may be interested in knowing that the act further requires that the Township Supervisor is to keep a book in which to record these trees and know that they have proper care."
