

Worth Careful Thought

Do you read the label to know whether your baking powder is made from cream of tartar or, on the other hand, from alum or phosphate?

Royal Baking Powder is made from cream of tartar, derived from grapes, and adds to the food only wholesome qualities.

Other baking powders contain alum or phosphate, both of mineral origin, and used as substitutes for cream of tartar because of their cheapness.

Never sacrifice quality and healthfulness for low price.

6 CANS CONDENSED MILK FOR 25c AT HABEL & PHILLIPS.

EVEN THE COWS LOYAL TO SOUTHAMPTON.

N. C. Qnagey, son of C. M. Gnagey left home last Monday morning for Kennell's Mill, Southampton township to fetch a cow and calf. After having traveled all day over hills and through valleys, he came to the place at supertime where the cow and the calf were. Early next morning with the calf on a sled and the cow tied behind it, he and the owner of the cow started on their journey; but alas! when about one-fourth of a mile from her old home, the cow got it in her head that she would not leave her home. With two horses hitched to the sled, the cow was forced to move, but she shook her head, balked and threw herself. After having loosed her and getting her up again they tried to drive her but had not got far before she again laid down in the middle of the road. Nearly all of the people in Kennell's Mill came out to see what the trouble and after holding a general council, it was decided that the cow and its calf should remain at Southampton.

Mr. Gnagey's father was to meet him next day on the pike and the son not reaching the pike in time, the father not knowing which way to go continued on the straight road to Frostburg. After the son reached the pike, he with Sherlock Holmes' sagacity saw tracks of a horse that had "Never-slips" on and came to the conclusion that his father had passed by. There being no phones near by, he decided to travel on towards home.

In the meantime a gentleman from Meyersdale came along and inquired into the trouble. On getting the story in brief, the gentleman put the gad to his horses and overtook Mr. Gnagey near Frostburg. The father disgusted turned around and made for home too.

The younger Mr. Gnagey was told that there are plenty of pretty girls in Southampton, but he says if they are afraid to leave home like the cow was, it might take three days and three nights to get them out of that township, and then they might not stay after being induced to go elsewhere, presumably to Summit township.
