SOCIAL HAPPENINGS

SHOWER FOR BRIDE-TO-BE.
 Artistically and delightfully appointed was the "shower" given at the Leonard home on Salisbury street Saturday afternoon by Miss Katherine Louise Leonard in honor of Miss Edna M. Payne, whose marriage to Frank H. Price of Van Lear, Ken. will be an event of the coming summer.

Easter baskets with their usual accompaniment of colored eggs and rabbits, figured prominently in the decorations of the dining room where a delicious luncheon was served during the early part of the evening. Gifts to adorn her person were given the bride-to-be and they were many and beautiful. About fifteen guests were present, including Miss Nell R. Leonard of Altoona, a sister of the hostess and Miss Florence Maust of Salisbury.

GAVE BIRTHDAY SURPRISE FOR MRS. A. E. SHOEMAKER.
 On Monday evening over a half hundred of the friends of Mrs. A. E. Shoemaker, of Front and Beachy streets. It was the occasion of her 66th birthday. Refreshments were served and the evening was most delightfully enjoyed by the genial hostess and all present. Mrs. Shoemaker was the recipient of a number of valuable presents, among which was a fine carpet.

NEARBY COUNTIES.
 Postmaster Miller of Indian Creek had quite a scare on Monday afternoon when $60 he had been counting mysteriously disappeared. The police of Conneltsville and vicinity were notified to detain three negroes who were suspected but before they were captured the postmaster had found the money in a pigeon hole where he had carefully placed it.

ARE YOUR EYES SICK

Few people have perfect eyes and fewer still have two eyes alike, this condition is called Anisometropice--A condition which is as inharmonious as two Violin Players out of tune. Fortunately it is possible to string both Violins so as to be in perfect harmony. So with the eyes that, are not seeing together perfectly--I will cause the days of light to be lengthened or shortened as your defective eye requires.
 Properly fitted glasses will do this.
