The High School pupils are wearing long faces when they think that the grades have only one more week to endure the hardships of study. We all wish we were in the grades when we think about this part of it.

The Seniors are at work preparing for commencement, when the largest class in the High School will receive their diplomas.

PARENT-TEACHERS' MEETING.

We must learn to conserve our natural resources and we must train our people to a greater efficiency.

In the days when the apprentice system was in vogue, a boy began at the beginning and learned all there was of a business. In these days of machinery, a boy gets a place and gets used to doing one certain little thing connected with a certain machine and gets expert in that, perhaps. But he gets no higher.

Some of the high schools and colleges are providing for the training of pupils along the line of the work they expect to follow, but what of the boy or girl who never reaches the high school, as figures prove that nine-tenths do not. Our grammar schools all seem tended to fit the pupil to enter high school but about nine out of every ten drop out before the high school or at least before graduation; many of necessity as wage earners and what have we given them to make them efficient wage earners or to enable them to increase their earning capacity as the years pass?

And where do they go and what do they do? Into the back street districts to do what they can and many of them changing jobs four or five times in a single year.

The cause of Germany's wonderful success in this war as well as in times of peace, is due not so much to the fact of her preparedness along military lines, as to the fact that every man is a trained man; every man has a working knowledge of some trade or work so when war is called out another can take his place. One out of every ten Germans, is a chemist and though we have had the same opportunities to develop along that line we have been content getting rich from our natural products; selling our coal and wasting thousands of tons of coal tar while the Germans were utilizing theirs in the manufacture of dyes which we paid them for making.

The cry has gone up all over the land for preparedness. Do you know what it costs to build a battle ship which in a few years is out of date and thrown on the junk heap? Do you know that 7-10ths of all the revenue of this country was spent on battle ships and preparation for war before this last outcry and only $3,000,000 spent by the gov't in preparing her girls and boys to fight the battles of life. A bill is now before Congress asking that money be provided for vocational training and all interested persons should use their influence to have it passed.

The senior banner was awarded to Miss Mayme Platt's room and the Junior banner to Miss Frieda Daberkov's room.

SPEICHER—HOOVER On April 21 at Phillipsburg, Centre county, N. G. Speicher, cashier of the First National Bank of Stoyestown and Miss Ruth C. Hoover, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. GIRLS RAISE MONEY IN UNIQUE MANNER.

A very unique party was held at the home of Mrs. J. M. Black of Front street last Thursday night by the members of her Sunday School class. Some time ago, each member of the class decided to earn a dollar in her own original way and present it as an Easter offering, and the party was held so each young lady might relate her experience in earning the money.

Some of the girls sold horse radish, parsnips, candy and hats; pressed clothes and scrubbed, while one clever young lady recited her experience in the following verses:
I am one of a class of twenty-three and such a wonderful class you never did see.
Of our dear teacher, we are all so proud,
Let's give her three cheers, good and loud.
She has such a fertile and agile mind
For making money a way will find.
So we all promised by Easter Day
We'd have earned a dollar to give away

To our dear church we love so well,
So now I will my story tell
Of how I made that dollar:
You all know that I clerk in a store
Where there's work to be done and work galore,
And when spring over winter holds
its sway,
The winter goods must be put away
In a stock room up a flight of stairs
I carried sweaters and underwear,
And when I felt I was "almost in"
I thought of Mrs. Black,
And by the inspiration of that name,
I forgot my aches and pains,
And straightway finished my task.
So I gave that dollar on that glorious
Easter Day

And know that it some little good will do along life's way,
And if you would get the most joy
out of life,
Give and give cheerfully, your little mite.

ARE YOUR EYES SICK

Few people have perfect eyes and fewer still have two eyes alike, this condition is called Anisometropice—A condition which is as inharmonious as two Violin Players out of tune. Fortunately it is possible to string both Violins so as to be in perfect harmony. So with the eyes that, are not seeing together perfectly—I will cause the days of light to be lengthened or shortened as your defective eye requires.
Properly fitted glasses will do this.

Driving It Home

Let us drive home to you the fact that no washwoman can wash clothes in as sanitary a manner as that in which the work is done at our laundry.

We use much more water, change the water many more times, use purer and more costly soap, and keep all the clothes in constant motion during the entire process.

It's simply a matter of having proper facilities.
