TEACHING BOYS TO SAVE

A certain father has devised a rather novel plan to develop resisting power in his boys. Knowing the value of self-control, especially in money matters, he gives each boy a weekly allowance, with the stipulation that it must be carried in the pocket during the week, and only half of it spent. One boy receives 20 cents each week. If he produces a dime at the week-end, he gets another 20 cts; if he does not he gets only a dime. The other boy receives a dime and must produce a nickel to get another dime.

There is thus a constant opportunity to spend, but a constant incentive to save—to resist. It may be that the reward spurs them on, but the fact remains that this father is developing resisting power in his boys that will stand them in good stead in after years.

Think before you act is a good motto, but a lot of people think and then fail to act.
