While no official announcement has been made by the Miners' Union that the Hooversville strike is off, it is freely admitted by those acquainted with the circumstances and present conditions that the strike is practically ended and that the prospects are good for the speedy recovery of business in this formerly lively mining town. Operators have been practically resumed at Mine Nos. 1, 2, 4, and 5. About 125 men are now at work and the number is being increased daily. There has been no interference and it is believed that normal conditions will prevail in a short time. Of about 700 men who went out only about 65 remain in Hooversville. Most of these have been held there by property interests and are apparently only awaiting official notice from the union giving them permission to resume work! Members of the Union deny that the strike is about over, however.

In many sections of the State the ground that was intended to have been sown to oats has been turned to barley and buckwheat.

Sheep raisers in many sections of the State are holding their wool and manding forty cents a pound for wools.

FOURTH CLASS POSTMASTER EXAMINATION

The United State Civil Service Commission announces that on the July 22, 1916 an examination will be held at Meyersdale, as a result of which it is expected to make certification to fill a contemplated vacancy in the position of fourth class postmaster at Garrett and other vacancies as they may occur at that office, unless it shall be decided in the interests of the service to fill the vacancy by reinstatement. The compensation of the postmaster at this office was $1999 for the last fiscal year.

Age limit, 21 years and over, on date of the examination, with the exception that in a State where women are declared by statute to be of full age for all purposes at 18 years, women 18 years of age on the date of the examination will be admitted.

Applicants must reside within the territory supplied by the post office for which the examination is announced.

The examination is open to all citizens of the United States who can comply with the requirements.

Application forms and full information concerning the requirements of the examination can be secured from the postmaster at Garrett or from the U. S. Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C.

Application should be properly executed and filed with the commission in Washington at least 7 days before the date of the examination, otherwise it may be impracticable to examine the applicants.

CHAUTAQUA READER WILL ILLUSTRATE HER PROGRAM WITH SKETCHES

MISS EVELYN BARGETT.

MISS EVELYN BARGETT, who appears on the sixth day of the Chautauqua, is both a cartoonist and reader and cleverly combines the two in her splendid entertainments. Beginning to draw as a small child, she later pursued her studies in the Chicago Art Institute. She is not only a cartoonist with the ability to describe her drawings in an entertaining way, but she ranks as a real artist in dramatic reading and interpretation. One of the features of her program will be a twenty minute cutting from "The Littlest Rebel," given without pictures.

KEystone PARAGRAPHS

A posse of Uniontown citizens, after an all-day search of the weeded sections surrounding Uniontown, failed to find any trace of the assailant of Leo Britt, aged nine, whose mutilated body was found on the outskirts of Uniontown Tuesday morning. Finger marks around the neck indicated he had been strangled. A railroad train crew found the body lying in weeds. A razor, covered with blood, was found near the body. The police learned that the boy was seen last in company of a tall negro.

Rossiter, five miles south of Punxsutawney, was periled by a fire which caused $40,000 damage. Volunteer firemen of Rossiter armed only with buckets could not check the flames and the fire department from Punxsutawney was summoned. Little Sandy creek, which runs through the town, was dammed and water pumped onto the flames which were extinguished after two hours' hard work.

AMERICA MUST ENACT IDEALS

President Makes Patriotic Address to Ad Men's Assn. PUTS COUNTRY ABOVE SELF

Mr. Wilson Tells Ad Men It Is One Thing to Have Fine Principles—and Quite Another to Make Them Work.

President Wilson told 10,000 persons at Independence square in Philadelphia that America has arrived at a crisis where we "should be ready in every point of policy and of action to vindicate at whatever cost the principles of liberty, of justice and of humanity to which we have been devoted from the first."

He defined what he termed his "personal code of governmental principles" and declared that he is ready to fight for that code "no matter what the cost."

"America is at a point," he said, "where it is more than ever necessary that she should understand her own ideals not only but be ready to put them into action at any cost."

He made no direct reference to the Mexican situation.

"America is at a point," said the president, "where it is more than ever necessary that she should understand her own ideals not only but be ready to put them into action at any cost."

"It is one thing to entertain fine principles and another thing to make them work."

"I am not interested, and I beg that you will believe me when I say that I never have been interested, in fighting for myself, but I am immensely interested in fighting for the things that I do believe in."

"In the first place I believe, and I summon you to show you believe in the same thing, that it is the duty of every American in everything that he does, in his business and out of it, to think first not of himself nor of any interest which he may be called upon to sacrifice, but of the country which he serves. America first means nothing until you translate it in what you do."

"And I believe that America should be ready in every point of policy and of action to vindicate at whatever cost the principles of liberty, of justice and of humanity to which we have been devoted from the first."

"I believe that, at whatever cost, America should be just to other peoples and treat other peoples as she demands that they should treat her. She has a right to demand that they treat her with justice and respect and she has a right to insist that they treat her in that fashion; but she cannot, with dignity or self-respect, insist upon that unless she is willing to act in the same fashion toward them."

Hans Tauscher Acquitted.

Captain Hans Tauscher was acquitted in New York of the charge of having conspired with Captain Horst von Papen, Wolf von Igel and Horst von Goltz to blow up the Welland canal in Canada. The jury reached a decision within an hour.
