SUBMARINE COMMERCE
 Germany has again led the world a pace in that she has escaped the English blockade by a new and novel way by the use of a submarine merchantman which carried a cargo of a thousand tons, principally of dyestuffs and mail. The landing in this country was made up the Chesapeake Bay to Baltimore. The time required to cross owing to detours to escape pursuing warships was fifteen days. The speed of the draft on the surface of the waves was twelve knots an hour and only five knots when submerged.

While this trip will pay very well because of exceedingly high priced material it cannot be as yet regarded as figuring seriously for the grosser commodities in maritime matters. The success of this enterprise demonstrates that Germany can have communication with the rest of the world in spite of England's strict blockade. The commander Captain Paul Koentig will live long in song and story and his exploit equals those in "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea," always thought to be a figment of the brain never to be realized in actual life.

PATRIOTISM GONE MAD.
 At Clearfield on Saturday a 19-year-old pretty girl made a spectacle of herself by kissing all the soldiers on two train sections and all but sixty men on the third section composing the entire Sixth regiment of Pennsylvania. She was only deterred from completing the osculatory job by the train leaving. Just imagine the germs transmitted even if it were by means of a pretty mouth! She may be a very patriotic young lady but to say the least a very silly one. The novelty of it must have been pleasing to the boys but we can hardly believe that all permitted it. In times of real war one can imagine such enthusiasm for the defenders of one's country but hardly under the existing conditions in the United States.

 Soon to Have Lights.
 The brackets have arrived for the street lights and Chief Electrician Staub is busy this week placing them on the poles. The contract for the lights was let several months ago but the light company has been unable to obtain the brackets until the present time, owing to the Westinghouse Co. being too busy manufacturing ammunition for the allies. Mr. Staub expects to have the work completed the latter part of the week.

B. & O. Station Robbed.
 The Baltimore & Ohio R. R. station here was robbed by several unknown men last Thursday night. The safe which contained money orders, railroad tickets, mileage books and about twelve dollars in money etc., was carried away by the men. They also broke open the money drawer and took its contents. The thieves entered the station by prying a window open with a claw bar. An automobile was seen going through the subway early Friday morning at a very great speed, coming from the direction of the station, and it is the belief that the safe was hauled out into the country for a great distance in the auto and then broken open. Railroad detectives have been working on the case since the robbery, but thus far have been unable to find any clue to the thieves.

Home from the Hospital.
 George Werner went to Cumberland early Sunday morning and returned on No. 15 with his brother, Robert who had been a patient at the Western Maryland Hospital at Cumberland for the past few weeks. He was injured about a month ago at the slope where he had been employed. Mr. Werner and another man were moving the cutting machine to another part of the mine when Mr. Werner's leg was caught in the machine and injured badly. At present he is unable to walk but it is hoped that he will speedily recover.
