RECEPTION ROOM HOTEL PARLOR.

We would ask you to not let our remarkable offer conflict in your mind with other such offers that have been made at Drug Stores and other such places by men who were not responsible nor established anywhere nor do they claim to be; as to ourselves, we are located and established both. We guarantee our work and glasses both for 5 years in writing and as to the responsibility of our guarantee we will give bankable references to those desiring same. These glasses we are advertising are the kind that usually sell at most optical establishments at $5.00 and in some cases even more. This is the first time to our knowledge that such an offer has been made by responsible people who will stand back of their work and who cannot be branded as fakirs as some have. We will make these prices THIS VISIT ONLY and no more. Call and see us and we will explain how these prices can be made. You are not obliged to buy glasses and all EXAMINATIONS ABSOLUTELY FREE.

Humorous Author and Lecturer To Be Heard at the Chautauqua

JOHN KENDRICK BANGS.

ONE of the most popular lecturers of the present day as well as a noted humorous writer and editor is John Kendrick Bangs, who will be heard here on the seventh afternoon of the Chautauqua. He has been in turn editor of Literature, Harper's Weekly and the Metropolitan Magazine and was at one time managing editor of Life. His humorous writings include more than fifty volumes of prose and verse.
"More Salubrities," the title of Mr. Bangs' lecture at the Chautauqua, is a continuation of his notable platform effort "Salubrities I Have Met," which is a lively running talk about more or less famous men and women met by the lecturer in the course of his career. "More Salubrities" is as delightfully humorous as his former masterpiece and introduces new characters and new incidents.
