MILLER & COLLINS

The former has been an invalid for several years.

On Tuesday some reputed Winnipeg, Canada fur dealers were going around in Meyersdale selling furs in a somewhat classy car. They had visited only a few of the homes of the more well-to-do when they were arrested and brought to an accounting before Burgess Gress for violating a borough ordinance for selling without a license. They were fined $25 and ordered to desist. They then left for Maryland.

Joe Swearman of Keystone, surcharged with alcohol, on Saturday evening about six o'clock, happened along on Large st. and entered the home of Frank Wildsman. The lady of the house defended herself against the insults of the man with a broomstick which she used very effectively. The drunken man was then completely subdued and went out and lay down on the pavement. Officer Bittner later gathered him up and took him to the lockup for undisturbed repose.
