Don't Forget the Dates

Thursday, Friday and Saturday

AUGUST 3, 4 and 5

Colonial Hotel

Office Hours--8:30 A. M. to 8:00 P. M.

If your time is limited, come early and avoid the rush.
RECEPTION ROOM HOTEL PARLOR.

We would ask you to not let our remarkable offer conflict in your mind with other such offers that have been made at Drug Stores and other such places by men who were not responsible nor established anywhere nor do they claim to be; as to ourselves, we are located and established both. We guarantee our work and glasses both for 5 years in writing and as to the responsibility of our guarantee we will give bankable references to those desiring same. These glasses we are advertising are the kind that usually sell at most optical establishments at $5.00 and in some cases even more. This is the first time to our knowledge that such an offer has been made by responsible people who will stand back of their work and who cannot be branded as fakirs as some have. We will make these prices THIS VISIT ONLY and no more. Call and see us and we will explain how these prices can be made. You are not obliged to buy glasses and all EXAMINATIONS ABSOLUTELY FREE.

FOUR STENOGRAPHERS PURCHASE OLD INN.

The Johnstown Tribune says: Ye Olde Inn, one of Somerset County's old landmarks, is again obtaining the reputation that it formerly owned. The hostelry has changed hands, and the new management, four Pittsburgh stenographers, have made the popular old Inn what it used to be.

For some time the inn, which stands directly at the junction of the Johnstown road, and the Lincoln Highway, has been carelessly managed. At last it was closed for some months. Then the four present owners who are Miss Adah Mann, Miss M. Gangulish, Miss Anna Beatty, and Mrs. Estelle Martin, chanced by on an automobile trip.

Seeing the old Inn closed and deserted, and struck by its excellent location, they became curious, and investigated. They found that their joint finances would be sufficient to purchase it. They did so, and brought Mrs. J. A. Smith, of Peotia, Ill., a sister of Miss Mann, here to manage the place, while they continued working at their desks in the Smoky City.

Immediately the Inn and the 19 acres of ground surrounding it became a center of activity. Workmen were busy cleaning up. The old building was thoroughly renovated, and new wicker furniture was placed throughout. Then the young ladies began to boost their new venture.

The Inn is once more popular with autoists. Parties that formerly drove on to Stoyestown for dinner stop at Ye Olde Inn. On several occasions, in the few weeks that the Inn has been in operation under the new management, parties of Johnstown, and others from Pittsburg, Braddock, and points along the Lincoln Highway, have had specially arranged dinner parties at the Inn. The inviting porch is usually found thronged, and at times dozens of autos are parked in the grounds.

Wheat is being cut throughout the State and shortly the Department of Agriculture will receive many questions about the moth in the wheat which is known as the Angoumois grain moth. The Crop Pest Inspectors of the Bureau of Zoology have been instructed to hold public meetings in infested territory and to instruct farmers how to control this pest in the bins by fumigating with carbon bisulphide. The Department of Agriculture, also has a circulation on the subject which can be had for the asking.

COURT NEWS.

Prothonotary Jonas M. Cook has received three opinions from Judge Albert W. Johnson, of Union county, in cases which were tried by the visiting jurist several months ago.

In one of the decrees Judge Johnson reduced a $9,547 verdict Joseph Wadsworth secured against the Manufacturer's Water Company to $6,000 stating that unless the plaintiff accepts the latter amount a new trial will be granted. Wadsworth sued to recover for land condemned by the water company during the construction of the Quemahoning dam.

In the case of Minnie E. Naylor executrix of the estate of S. Anice Cryan, against L. H. Lower in which a jury rendered a verdict for the defendant a new trial is refused.

A new trial is also refused in the case of Geo. L. Dobson against Elizabeth and William Stephens. A jury awarded the plaintiff $151.

Judge Ruppel last week handed down an opinion refusing a new trial in the case of Newton A. Mostoller against the township of Somerset. A jury awarded the plaintiff a verdict of $1,000 damages to his farm in Somerset township, alleged to have been caused by a fire originating from sparks from a steam traction engine used in repairing public roads.

The borough of Boswell's anti-peddling ordinance, which is one of the most stringent in this section of the state, received a knock-out blow Saturday when Judge William H. Ruppel handed down an opinion in the quarter sessions court reversing the conviction of P. P. Lambert of Stoyestown, and set aside a $25 fine imposed on the defendant. The court holds that the ordinance was passed by the municipality in contravention of the interstate commerce law. The ordinance requires an agent to take out a license which costs from $1 to $59 per day. On January 21, 1916, Lambert, acting as the agent of a firm in Portland, Mich., canvassed the town and sold toilet articles by taking orders from samples. Even this method of disposing of merchandise is covered by the ordinance. He had the goods shipped in bulk to Stoyestown, this county, and later delivered the same to his customers and this, the court holds, was interstate trade. Lambert was arrested and Burgess Charles H. Pimlott fined him $25, although the borough code authorizes a penalty as high as $50. The defendant paid the fine under protest and appealed to court.

INFECTED PIECE OF NATURE

Little Talks on Health and Hygiene by Samuel G. Dixon.

Our streams once undefiled by man ran from the mountains to the sea in all of Nature's purity. They ran through our valleys and meadows in all their pristine beauty and offered to all animate nature that which would innocently quench the thirst of man and beast and help them live. Today it is not so. Man, relentlessly, regardless of his brother down stream, now throws his waste and that of domestic animals into the waters flowing near his home.

In that with which Nature has endowed much of our territory more richly than many other countries, we now find lurking poison has been hidden, in some cases only to be seen by the aid of the microscope.

Now is the season when we travel through the country to be happy and lay up energy and strength for the toll of the coming winter. Alas! The want of intelligence and care makes us deaf to the teaching of preventive medicine and we quench our thirst at the stream we run across regardless of its purity, and often the sparkling tumbler of water is only to be compared with the draught of the deadly hemlock. The parched lips have been moistened and the thirst satisfied but the day of judgment too often comes bringing the development of typhoid fever which in years past we could only compare with some of the plagues that ravaged our ancient cities.

Those of us who collect, tabulate, and have ever before us the statistics that show the suffering and sorrow that still continue from typhoid fever, beg you to awaken to that which causes so much distress. By proper care it can be avoided.

Never drink out of an unknown surface stream. When traveling see that pure water is carried along as well as food, otherwise the harvest of sickness and death will follow and defeat the object of summer vacations.
