A prominent young Windber lady, perhaps unknowingly, is violating the game laws by keeping a young pheasant that became attached to her chickens.

The Rev. Dr. King of Somerset, a retired minister of the Reformed church, sustained serious injuries to his spine when he fell from an apple tree on the Edmund Glessner farm near Somerset. He was taken home in Dr. J. R. Hemminger's automobile and is confined to his bed. Dr. King is 77 years old and a veteran of the Civil war.

Amos Claar, managing editor of the Era for the Windber Publishing company, has resigned his position, to become active in pushing the Ever-Full patents for Ford cars. His resignation is effective Sept. 1, but the company directors have asked him to remain until Sept. 16, when it is expected his successor will arrive. About 30 newspaper men and printers have applied for Claar's place. It is said the company has about closed with a Mr. Moore of Pittsburg, but it is not certain whether he can come before Sept. 16, if at all. Mr. Claar has suffered from too close attention to routine and the Ever-Full field operations will give him more opportunity for outdoor work.

Although she lives three miles nearer Rockwood than Somerset, Theodosia Bruner, under the law, may attend the Somerset high school, according to an opinion handed down at Somerset by Judge William H. Ruppel. She is a daughter of Ross O. Bruner of Milford township. The Bruner home is four miles distant from Rockwood and seven miles from Somerset. Bruner sent the girl there to school because, he said, it was more convenient on account of transportation and for the further reason that Somerset has a first Class high school, while Rockwood's is second class. The Milford township school district refused to pay her tuition under the school code and the Somerset authorities brought suit to recover $47.34, for which amount the court orders judgment to be entered against the township.

The Somerset borough school authorities recently instituted legal proceedings against the school authorities of Milford township to recover $47.34 alleged to be due for the tuition of Theodosia Bruner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ross O. Bruner. After she had finished the course of study in the Milford township schools Miss Bruner made application for admission in the Somerset schools, which she attended last winter. The School Directors of Milford township contended that the young lady should have attended school at Rockwood, which is three or four miles nearer to her home than Somerset. Judge Ruppel held otherwise and directed that judgment be entered in favor of plaintiff.

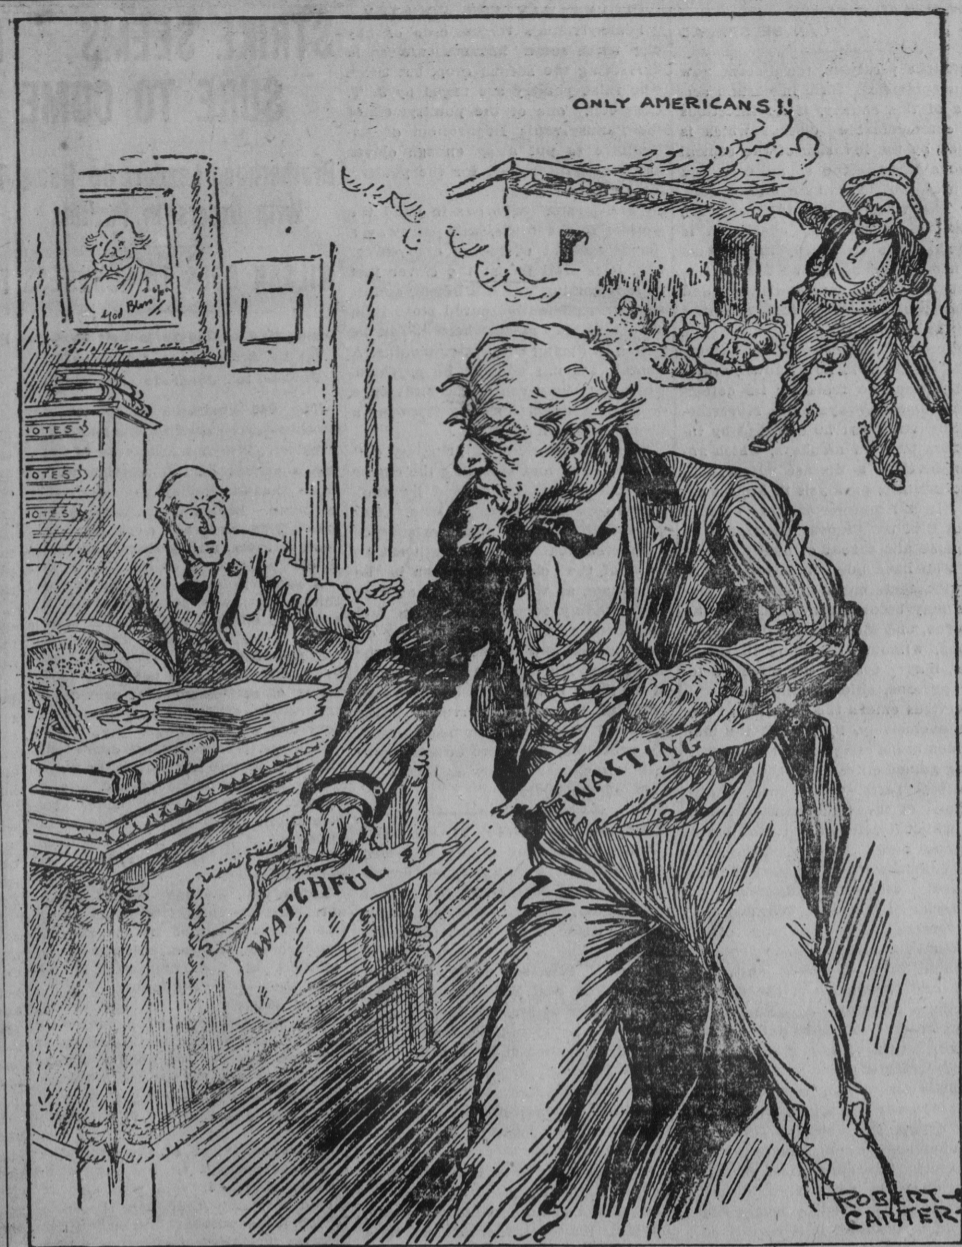

Two foreign born women left the court house Tuesday afternoon crying with joy because Judge Ruppel had paroled their wayward sons, John Leonard and Mike Votory, both under 15 years of age. The lads were charged with entering the company store at McDonaldton and carrying away a lot of goods, including two revolvers. According to statements testified to by witnesses John and Mike are very clever little rascals and succeeded for quite a time in baffling the store employes. It seems that the lads usually visited the company store about closing up time and when the clerks were busily engaged managed to conceal themselves in two empty barrels. After the store door was locked for the night they proceeded to help themselves to whatever there was on the shelves that pleased their fancy and left the building through a second-floor window. Judge Ruppel decided to parole the lads on the promise that they would refrain from stealing hereafter.

Henry B. Phillips, son of Commissioners' Clerk and Mrs. Lawrence M. Phillips, was officially notified Saturday to report at the State Forest Academy at Mt. Alto, Franklin county on September 11, he having been one of ten young men who successfully passed the competitive examinations for admission to the academy. The course covers three years.
